WANT NEW LAWS CRIPPEN CASE JUMP IN COTTON

The Barbers' Convention Outlines Needed Reforms

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—A clean towel and wash rag for each patron, the elimination of the sponge, carrier of loathsome germs, and the enactment of laws to bring about these reforms are among the demands made at the gathering of the National League of Barbers which opened a three-day convention here today. Delegates numbering over 200 are in attendance. The organization is composed of master barbers, owners of shops who are pledged to carry their demands to their various state legislatures and secure national legislation effecting their business.

FUNERALS

GOLTHWAIT.—The funeral of the late Elizabeth Waters Goltswait took place from the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons, where services were held, Rev. John Burns officiated. Burial was in the Hudson cemetery, Hudson, Mass. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons had charge.

McKEE.—The funeral of Andrew McKee, who died at Roxbury on August 26, took place Sunday morning from the residence, 12 Washington place, Roxbury. Rev. Irvine Innes officiated. Services were held at 1 o'clock at the grave in the Edson cemetery here. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. Burial was under the direction of Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck.

DEATHS

HALL.—Mrs. Almira A. Hall died on Saturday at her home in Concord, N. H., aged 61 years. Besides her husband, she leaves three brothers and three sisters, A. J. Gustin of Stowe, A. F. Gustin of South Lancaster, A. P. Gustin of this city, Mrs. G. W. Rand of Dracut, and Mrs. M. A. Fox and Mrs. John S. Dennett of this city.

GEORGE.—The many friends of Miss Alice M. George will be pained to learn of her death at the Lowell General hospital Saturday night after a short illness. Miss George was well known in Lowell, having conducted a boarding house in Kirk street until last spring. She leaves her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Menjah George of Bennington, Smith of Watum, N. H., and Mrs. Emma Holt of Framingham, N. H., and three brothers, Henry A. George of Bennington, N. H., Edward E. of Andover, N. H., and Alonzo C. of Granville, N. Y.

LITTLE.—Florence R. Little, daughter of James and Annie Little, died yesterday morning at the Lowell General hospital, aged 10 months and 10 days. The body was removed to the home of her parents, 32 Waugh street.

DAY.—Samuel Day, one of Dracut's oldest residents, died Sunday afternoon at his home, 418 Mammoth road, Dracut, aged 83 years, 5 months and 25 days. He leaves one son, Charles, E. Day, and a daughter, Mrs. George Head. The body was taken to the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & sons.

DOYLE.—Cornelius F. Doyle, aged 32 years, a well known young resident of St. Patrick's parish, died early this morning at his home, 33 Clark street. He is survived by his parents, John and Ann Doyle, four sisters, Misses Catherine A., Margaret E., Mary D. Doyle, and Mrs. William Kiernan, and two brothers, James L. and John J. Doyle. He was a native of Lowell and was educated in St. Patrick's parochial school. After graduating from this institution he entered the employ of Edward J. Cryan, who conducts a store in Dutton street, and remained there quite a few years. He then engaged in the wholesale confectionery business for himself and was most successful from the start. He was a young man who made friends of everyone with whom he came in contact, being possessed of a disposition that attracted people to him. His family has the sympathy of their many acquaintances and friends in their sad bereavement.

THE VATICAN'S NOTE

PARIS, Aug. 29.—A special to the Figaro from San Sebastian quotes Garcia Prieto, the Spanish minister of foreign affairs, as saying that the Vatican's note which will be formally considered by the cabinet at Madrid on Sept. 4 does not insist upon the government's withdrawal of the Tadlock bill as a condition precedent to the resumption of negotiations.

The bill prohibits the creation of further religious establishments until the revision of the concordat has been completed or a definite law on the subject has been passed.

Doctor and His Typist Arraigned on Charge of Murder

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Doth Hawley Crippen, the American doctor, and Ethel Clara Leneve, his typist, were accused of the murder of Belle Elmore, the former's wife, in the formal charge read to them in the Bow street police court today.

Miss Leneve was charged also with harboring and maintaining Crippen after the crime and while knowing that he committed it.

During the proceedings Inspector Dew who brought the prisoners back from Canada, introduced evidence to show that Crippen contemplated suicide while at sea following his flight from this country. Crippen was quoted as declaring that his companion knew nothing of the trouble in which he was involved and Miss Leneve was said to have protested her innocence. There was special interest in the character of the formal charge as the warrant for the arrest of the fugitives had merely laid at their door responsibility for the death of an unknown woman whose body was found in the cellar of the Crippen home at Hilldrop Crescent. The fact that both were today accused of the murder of Belle Elmore, the actress, wife of the doctor, leads to the supposition that the mutilated body has been identified to the satisfaction of the authorities. It also suggests that the police believe they have more evidence concerning Miss Leneve's connection with the tragedy than they have made known heretofore. Today's proceedings consisted of the introduction of evidence against the accused at the conclusion of which they were remanded until Sept. 6 without having pleaded or made any comment in reply to the charge against them.

Few persons, except those connected with the case, were admitted to the police court although a crowd assembled in the neighborhood in the hope of catching sight of the prisoners. Crippen and Miss Leneve stood together in the dock. He wore a gray frock suit while his companion was dressed in a tailor-made suit of blue.

Arthur Newton, the solicitor engaged by friends of his client, appeared for Crippen, and J. H. Welfare, retained by the girl's father, represented her. Prosecutor Travis Humphreys had charge of the case for the crown and after introducing evidence in justification of the arrests, asked that the prisoners be remanded for eight days. The prosecutor explained that the government's evidence against the typist pointed to her only as being an accessory after the fact. He said that he proposed at this time to offer only formal evidence in support of the accusation of the authorities in arresting and holding the accused a week, hence the prosecution would be ready to proceed with the case.

Inspector Dew briefly described the arrests on board the steamer Montrose as the vessel approached Quebec. As he took Crippen into custody the latter said: "I am not sorry. My anxiety has been too much."

Dew said that he told Crippen that he must put him in handcuffs, "as you have written that you intended jumping overboard."

To this Crippen replied:

"I will not do that. My anxiety has been awful."

Explaining his position that his prisoner had threatened suicide the detective presented to the court a business card on one side of which were the words: "P. Robinson & Co., Michigan. Presented by John E. Robinson."

This card was found among Crippen's effects and on the back of it apparently in the doctor's handwriting was the following:

"I cannot stand the horror I go through every night any longer and as I see nothing bright ahead and my journey is coming to an end, I have made up my mind to jump overboard tonight. I know I have spoiled your lives but some day you may learn to forgive me. My last words are of love." Dew also introduced a torn piece of a card on which Crippen had written this question:

"Shall we wait until tonight about 10 or 12? If not what time?"

Asking after Miss Leneve, Crippen said to the inspector:

"I will do all I can for her. It is only fair to say that she knows nothing about it. I never told her anything."

The witness said that in conversing with Captain Kendall of the Montrose, Miss Leneve remarked that she had not seen a newspaper since she left London and referring to the murder mystery added:

"I know nothing about it."

The inspector said the woman said, "I assure you I know nothing about it. I intended to write my sister when I got to Quebec."

When the warrant was read on ship-board Miss Leneve wept and, becoming greatly agitated, fainted. Dew concluded his testimony by repeating a conversation which he had with Crippen while the latter was exercising on the deck of the steamer Megantic during the return to Liverpool on Aug. 24.

Crippen said:

"I want to ask a favor of you, but I will leave it until Friday."

Friday was the day preceding the arrival of the vessel at Liverpool.

The inspector replied:

"As well now as Friday."

Crippen then said:

"When you took me off the ship (at Quebec) I did not see Miss Leneve. I do not know how things will go. They may go all right; they may go all wrong. I may never see her again and I want to ask you to let me see her. I won't speak to her. She has been my only comfort for the last three years."

Crippen was allowed to see his companion.

At this point Solicitor Newton questioned the witness and drew out the statement that his client had throughout been perfectly calm and collected and had given no trouble to those who had him in custody. The lawyers for the defense have reserved further cross examination until Sept. 8 until such date they consented that the prisoners be remanded without having pleaded. Neither Newton or Welfare made any comment as to the charge or evidence.

On leaving the dock Crippen stood back to allow Miss Leneve to pass out before him.

MANY OFFENDERS

Were Arraigned in Police Court This Morning

William Hart, who hails from the northern part of Vermont, came to this city recently and very quickly got acquainted with Patrick McNamara, who frequents the South common, and when Patrick got through with him he was minus $15 and a large pipe. McNamara had not been at a bribe long before Patrolman William Bumps placed him under arrest.

When the case was called in court this morning Hart recited the manner in which he met McNamara and what transpired during the short time they were together. Hart admitted that he had been drinking and walked to the South common to rest himself. While there he met McNamara and as both men felt rather dry Hart volunteered to produce the coin if McNamara would get the wet goods. The money was passed and the whiskey was procured with the result that Hart became drowsy and lay down on the grass to have a sleep. When he awoke he found that $15 and some small change and a pipe and case which he had in his pocket were missing. He did not know who took the money, but McNamara was the last person he remembered being with and the pipe which was found on McNamara's person was identified by Hart as belonging to him.

Two young men who were on the common were called as witnesses and testified that they saw McNamara take the money and pipe out of Hart's pocket.

McNamara's defense was a general denial. Inasmuch as the defendant had previously been convicted of breaking and entering and larceny, very little credence was given to his story, and he was found guilty and sentenced to six months in jail.

Hart, who was charged with being drunk, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $5.

Stepped on His Face

George Donnelly was charged with assault and battery on Patrick Brennan on the South common. Both men were inmates of the city farm and from the testimony offered in court this morning there had been previous trouble at the farm which culminated in this assault.

Donnelly was found guilty and a fine of $15 was imposed.

Milkman Fined $50

Joseph Chenelle, a milkman, pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with having adulterated milk in his possession and a fine of $50 was imposed.

Placed on Probation

John Patenaude was charged with threatening his wife, but after hearing the case the court decided to turn the matter over to the probation officer.

Admitted Stealing Tools

Constantinos Manolopoulos pleaded guilty to the larceny of two planes, a gauge, two saws, a wrench, a square and a pair of overalls, all of the value of $10.30, the property of Leroy Dunn. The tools and overalls were stolen on July 1st, it is alleged, from a building which was under the course of construction at the corner of Market and Hanover street, where Dunn was employed.

The complainant left his tools in the building when he quit work on the night of June 30 and where he got ready to start work the following morning found that the tools were missing.

The matter was reported to the police and Saturday night Sergt. McCleughrey placed Manolopoulos under arrest. Later two of the planes and a gauge were recovered.

The defendant is 17 years of age, has no relatives in this city and has spent the greater part of the past few months in traveling between this city, Nashua and Manchester.

The court decided to defer sentence until tomorrow in order that the police

Price Now Highest Since the Civil War

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Sensational as the fluctuations in the cotton market have been previously during the progress of the bull campaign which started last winter, they faded into insignificance when compared with the big jump in the price of August contracts this morning. Closing on Saturday at 16.82 after having sold at 16.07 on Friday morning, the first sale of August this morning was at 16.95 and inside of half an hour the shorts were trying to buy at 19 cents a pound or an advance of 218 points ($10.90) per bale over Saturday's closing and at the highest figure reached since the Civil war.

may look into the past history of the young man.

Disturbing the Peace

John and Felix Boeln and Emilie Danunowski were charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace. The trio Saturday night were in Spring street, singing and shouting and raising a racket. It is said. Patrolman Sheridan was notified of the disturbance and he sent the three men to the police station. The men admitted that they were drunk and had got into a fight. They were found guilty and each was fined $10 for disturbing the peace and $2 additional for drunkenness.

Doctor Prescribed Whiskey?

John E. Bulmer pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. He said that he was being persecuted by the police and could prove that the officers were hounding him. He admitted that he had been drinking whiskey and emulsion for his lungs by advice of a physician. Inasmuch as Bulmer left the state farm at Bridgewater but two weeks ago, the court decided to send him back to that institution.

Man Without a Home

Patrick Potter, who, according to Patrolman Dennet has no home, and has been sleeping in barns, and on the dunps in Centralville, admitted that he was drunk when arrested. He was sentenced to the state farm, but the effect of the court did not please Patrick, so he entered an appeal.

Court Was Lenient

The fact that Thomas J. Sheehan has a wife and children dependent upon him was responsible for his being dealt with in a lenient manner by Judge Hadley when he appeared in court this morning charged with being drunk. Sheehan promised to do better in the future and with that understanding he was given a suspended sentence of four months in jail and placed on probation for one year.

Will Be Surrendered

Andrew Langlois pleaded guilty to being drunk, but owing to the fact that he is on probation from the superior court the case was continued until tomorrow morning in order that Probation Officer Ramsey may surrender the man.

Sunday Drunks

Peter Rino, through an interpreter, denied that he was drunk when arrested by Patrolman Reagan. The latter said he met Rino staggering through Summer street near the corner of South street and the latter admitted he had had about 10 or 12 drinks but that was not enough to make him drunk. Deputy Downey saw the defendant when he was brought to the police station yesterday and testified that Rino was drunk. Rino was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Fred Johnson, August Sullivan and Jennie Bett, Sunday drunks, were each fined $5.

Drunken Offenders

Michael J. McAndrews, charged with being drunk, was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

John Leonard was sentenced to three months in jail, and William B. Clark received a sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, but appealed and was held under $200 bonds for the superior court.

Daniel Casey, George J. Keefe, Amador Lacombe, William B. Cunningham and Michael Gilday, charged with being drunk, pleaded guilty and fines of $5 each were imposed.

Five first offenders were fined $2 each, and 10 simple drunks were released before the opening of the court.

Was 88 Years Old

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—P. B. Warner, father of Gov. Fred Warner, former speaker of the Michigan house of representatives and a member of the constitutional convention of 1867, died at his home in Farmington today. He was 88 years old.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Belovonet made a sensational airplane flight above Paris today. He twice circled above the Eiffel tower at a height of 2153 feet.

PERSONALS

Hector O'Hair, clerk at the A. E. O'Hair furniture company, is in Bermuda. The voyage to the island was uneventful according to a card received by a friend of his in this city and he declared that the voyage was the best ever. Before returning to this city Hector will visit other places of interest.

John J. Pinder, messenger at the police station, has resumed his duties after a very pleasant vacation of two weeks during which time he visited, New York, Niagara Falls and the middle west. Mr. Pinder was a delegate to the Knights of Equity convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, and when the convention came to a close he joined his wife at Salem, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Pinder then went to Albany and then went to New York City where they spent three days. After taking in the sights at the metropolis and Coney Island, Mr. and Mrs. Pinder returned home.

Mrs. C. H. Foye of Pine street, Mrs. James Foye of Stevens street, Mrs. John Foye of Burlington avenue and Miss Margaret Foye of the Bon Marche have taken a cottage at Hampton beach for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William McGeary of Webster, Mass., are the guests of Town Clerk John J. Brennan of Dracut. Mr. McGeary is an uncle of Mr. Brennan.

The Misses Willette, the well known dressmakers of Bridge street, are registered at Salisbury beach for the coming week.

Adelbert Abbott, manager of the G. H. Wood jewelry store on Central street, accompanied his wife, is enjoying the scenes and pleasures along the north shore. Before returning to this city they will visit Montreal.

The Misses Hannah and Grace Cummings, Mary Cox, Mary Tobin and Nellie Ward spent Sunday with friends in Peabody.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregoire, milliners, have returned from a very enjoyable trip to Montreal, Quebec city, St. Anne de Beupre, and other points of interest in Canada.

Miss Mary Tobin of North Chelmsford returned Saturday after spending two weeks at Old Orchard, Me.

Mr. Emile Byron of this city left this morning to attend the Eucharistic convention at Montreal as a delegate from St. Louis' parish.

Mrs. Clarence E. Cunningham of Durant street with her son, Clarence, Jr., are spending their vacation in the White mountains.

Guests at Summer Hotel Had Narrow Escape

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., Aug. 29.—Summer boarders at the Goose Rock house at Cape Porpoise were obliged to flee for their lives, leaving most of their personal effects behind them, when the house took fire early last evening.

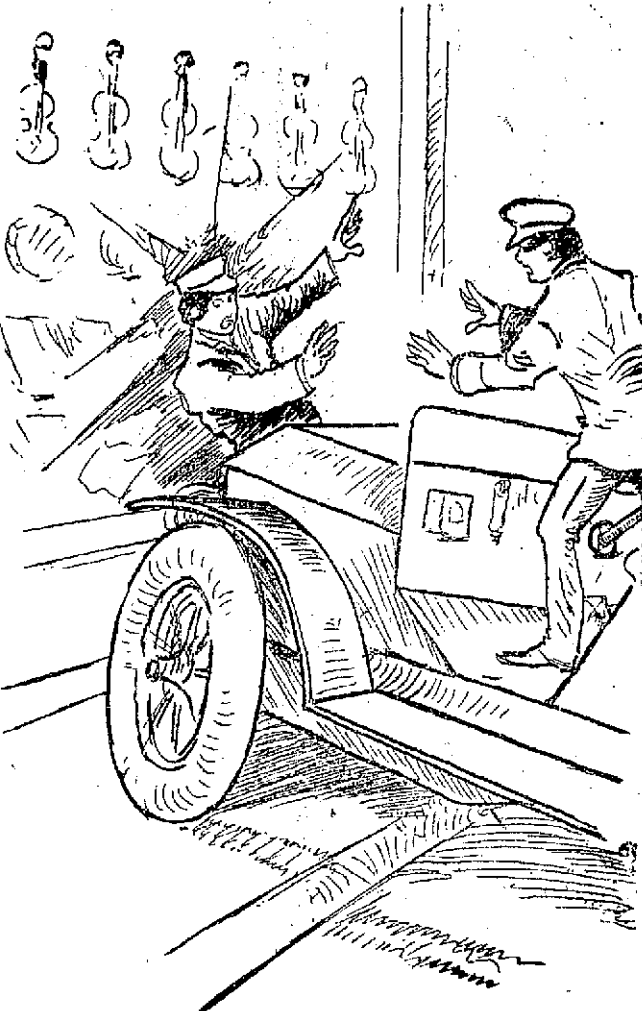

The blaze started in a blind attic and had got under such good headway before it was discovered that the guests, many of whom were in the dining room or on the piazzas, had no opportunity to go to their rooms for their valuables and clothing.

Lack of fire fighting apparatus of sufficient power to cope with the situation resulted in the spread of the flames, with the result that not only the hotel building itself but also a large barn, a cottage on the estate, ice houses, bowling alleys and other buildings were destroyed, with a total loss that probably will exceed $30,000.

The property was owned by Ivory Emmons and was insured to about two-thirds of its value. In addition to the loss on the buildings and furnishings, the guests' loss will also reach a considerable figure.

There had been a fire in the fireplace all day yesterday, and it is supposed that the fire caught around the chimney as a result.

Mrs. Cynthia Emmons, the aged mother of the proprietor, was overcome by the excitement incident to the fire and had to be treated by a physician.

Burglar Arrested in Boston Had Made Many Breaks

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—A man, to whom the police believe may be traced a number of the robberies reported by lodging house keepers in the South End lately and who kept about him what are asserted to be memoranda of the thefts he committed, was arrested by officers of Station 5 last night after an encounter with the keeper of a lodging house at 91 Waltham street, and a pursuit through the streets.

At the East Dedham street station the prisoner gave his name as Samuel Small, 22, but the name Robert A. Burtaro, 11 Somerset street, was found on a memorandum book in his pocket.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Small called at 91 Waltham street and engaged a room of Miss Marie Barber, the landlady. Not long after Miss Barber surprised him in an attempt to force the trunk of another of her lodgers. Although she seized the man, he broke away and ran to the street.

Attracted by Miss Barber's outcry, Edmund Smith of 30 Upton street, who was passing, gave chase. He was joined by Special Officer Clifford and Patrolman Nealey of Station 5, and the three cornered Small in a doorway some distance from the starting point of his flight.

To Lieut. Crowley, at the station house, Small stated that he had served in the United States army; that he had deserted, was subsequently captured, and had been pardoned after serving four months of a term of one year in the naval prison. Charles D. Woodward and Edmund Simmonds, lodgers at the Waltham street house, called at the station house to recover property they said had been stolen from their rooms at the house. This consisted of a $2 bill of Woodward's and a gold ring and silver watch belonging to Simmonds.

Small also admitted that earlier in the day he had entered the house at 43 Milford street and taken a watch and a camera valued at $25. These were recovered later from a storekeeper on Harrison avenue.

In a pocket memorandum book that Small carried was found a record supposed to be of breaks he had made lately, a list of pawn tickets, and the price paid in each case. For Aug. 24, there was mention of a list of articles stolen from the house at 52 Chandler street. An entry, under date of Aug. 23, recorded entering the premises occupied by Ella A. Sheehan, at 298 Columbus avenue, and the theft of several articles of value.

During the evening other lodging house keepers called at the East Dedham street station and identified Small as the man who had engaged rooms with them and subsequently disappeared with valuable property.

AUTO DAMAGED

Man Injured in Accident at Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 29.—Through the breaking of the steering gear, a large automobile driven by C. E. Fitzpatrick of Boston left the highway at Greeley park late yesterday afternoon, crashed into a tree and landed on the sidewalk in front of the park. Carl Larson, a motorcyclist from Skaneateles, who was traveling the same way, rode his cycle at the same time into the rear wheel of the automobile.

Larson was hurled from his cycle and seriously injured. He was taken to the Emergency hospital and attended by Dr. B. C. Boran. Walter Fitzpatrick, brother of the man operating the automobile, was thrown from his seat but sustained only a few bruises.

The Fitzpatrick brothers were returning from Bretton Woods, where they had passed their vacation and expected to reach Boston last night in time to dine with a sister who has just returned to this country after a year's trip abroad. They had had trouble with their steering gear, and according to their story had driven carefully all the 125 miles.

Reaching the end of the car line on Concord street they saw a car approaching and turned to the right to avoid it. The wheels caught in the car track and the forward part of the car swerved in the gravel dressing in such a manner that they headed for the tree.

The automobile struck the tree, so that the mudguards, fenders and bumpers were torn off. When the wheels struck the slight elevation of the sidewalk both front ones collapsed. It was at this time that Larson's motorcycle struck the automobile.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Will be Completed in the Fall

The people of Billerica street having become a bit tired of waiting for the new bridge made known their feelings of unrest in the matter to City Civil Engineer Bowers, and Mr. Bowers took the matter up with the railroad. He addressed a communication to the company's engineer and received the following reply:

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26, 1910.

Mr. George Bowers, Civil Engineer, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Replying to yours of the 25th inst., regarding progress on Billerica street bridge plans, I beg to state that the plans for the superstructure are in the hands of the bridge committee and will be completed and the plans for the approach and the masonry are nearly completed and the specification is now being manifested. We shall ask for bids in a few days.

There is no doubt but what the work will be completed early this fall.

Yours truly,

J. P. Snow, Chief Engineer.

And Smashed Plate Glass Window on Central Street

A big automobile of the touring type crashed through one of the large plate glass windows in the musical instrument store of Samuel Kershaw at 119 Central street early this morning. The smashing of the glass could be heard for several hundred yards away and those who were in the vicinity, thinking that a burglar had made a break into one of the jewelry stores in the street, rushed to the scene.

The accident was due either to the lack of knowledge of the operation of the machine or the carelessness of Willis DeMay of Lawrence, who was in charge of the auto.

DeMay was cut about the head and face by the falling glass. Both head lamps on the machine were smashed and the radiator was badly dented.

The women were frightened and screamed, and that, with the crash of the glass, brought a large crowd to the spot.

All four of the party were taken into Peavey's lunch, where DeMay found an opportunity to have his wounds dressed. They were not of a serious nature.

Later, the party went on its way.

POSTAL BANKS

To Be Installed by Nov. 1

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The trustees of the postal savings bank system—the secretary of the treasury, the postmaster-general and the attorney-general—are arranging to install between 25 and 50 banks in as many sections of the country by Nov. 1.

The service at first will necessarily be limited, as congress appropriated only $100,000 to inaugurate the whole system. Out of this sum the preliminary expenses, such as providing forms, stamps and instructions, must be paid. There will be little left for any other purpose.

The trustees believe, however, that a few banks can be financed out of the sum and these will be installed purely as experiments. As soon as it is determined how much additional help will be needed in the various post-offices and how great will be the cost of operating, congress will be asked for more money.

In the course of time the system will be self-sustaining. Only 3 per cent. interest will be paid on deposits and the banks and trust companies, acting as depositories for the funds collected by the government, will be required under the law to pay 2 1/2 per cent. interest. The quarter of 1 per cent. will represent the only profit the government will make and this will go entirely toward maintenance and reserves.

Instead of establishing the first 25 or 50 banks in the 25 or 50 largest cities of the country, the trustees will probably pick out 25 or 50 sections of the country where industrial conditions are varied. This will be done for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the new banking system and of determining the response which may be expected on the part of the different classes served.

An improvement in the continental system of issuing pass books to depositors will be made by the government. Instead of the book as provided by the private banks, a card will be fastened to the depositor showing by perforation the amount of money deposited.

This card will be a duplicate of a similar one perforated at the same time and kept in the postoffice, the latter to furnish an absolute record of the funds deposited. Should a card be lost by the depositor, a duplicate may be obtained upon application to the office issuing the original.

These cards will be non-transferable and non-negotiable. They cannot be traded in or passed along as legal tender. They must be held by the person making the deposit and presented by that person when it is desired to withdraw any or all of the funds deposited.

A machine will be used to punch the deposit cards. This means that the record will be mechanically accurate, and since both the depositor's card and that held by the government are punched simultaneously, no discrepancy can exist.

The committee of postal experts meets daily to perfect the new system. They expect to be able to lay most of the details before Postmaster-General Hitchcock upon his return to Washington next month. He will, in turn, call an early meeting of the trustees to approve the preliminary work.

CHOLERA CASES

Husband and Wife Are Dead

SPANDAU, Prussia, Aug. 29.—The death of a woman and the illness of her husband and a male attendant at the hospital, all suspected cholera cases, has caused the health administration of Prussia to take stringent precautions against the spread of the infection. Although the disease has not been established bacteriologically as cholera, all of the hospital attendants where the woman died have been placed in quarantine, as have 16 families in a tenement building where the family lived. The powder factory where the husband was employed has been disinfecting and his fellow workmen placed under observation.

A strong police line thrown about the neighborhood prevents the approach to the tenement.

WOMAN HELD UP IS SERIOUSLY ILL

Alleged That She Had Pearls in Her Hat

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—According to customs officials, Mrs. L. Reynolds Adriaance of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., prominent and wealthy, will be summoned to appear at the customs house today to show cause why she should not be arrested on a charge of smuggling a $6000 pearl necklace.

Mrs. Adriaance, who arrived yesterday on the liner Battle, failed, according to customs inspectors, to mention in her declaration of dutiable goods the necklace, which was found after a search of her person, hidden in her hat.

Mrs. Adriaance first submitted a carefully prepared declaration with unusual attention to details, and paid $150 in duty, but the customs men were not satisfied.

While Mr. Adriaance, who had come here to meet her, protested indignantly, Mrs. Adriaance and her 18 year old daughter Helen were taken to their cabin and searched by women inspectors, who found only a gold mesh purse which Mrs. Adriaance finally admitted, the officials say, was purchased in Switzerland.

This ended the ordeal temporarily, but while pacing on the pier, waiting for her trunks, Mrs. Adriaance, it is said, took a slip of paper from her purse, tore it into bits and threw them away.

They were collected by government agents, however, and when patched to gather gave evidence warranting another search. Mrs. Adriaance then admitted, they say, that she had a pearl necklace, which was found concealed in her hat.

The lining had been ripped out and beneath the silk was a curved tubing in which were more than 60 pearls.

Government agents said last night that Mrs. Adriaance was not detained on a charge of smuggling, because yesterday was Sunday, when bail cannot be accepted. The well known standing of the Adriaances is relied upon to insure Mrs. Adriaance's appearance when desired.

The pearls, it is said, were bought in Florence, Italy, and the treasury department had private advices from representatives in Europe to the effect that Mrs. Adriaance had bought jewelry abroad.

Should a case be made out against her she is liable to a fine of $5000.

Ex-Senator Davis' Condition is Critical

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A despatch from Wheeling, W. Va., to the Post says:

Henry G. Davis, former United States senator and candidate for vice president on the democratic ticket with Parker in 1904, is lying at Elkins, W. Va., seriously ill and the gravest fears are expressed at his condition. Henry G. Davis is father-in-law to United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins, senior senator from West Virginia.

At his home at Elkins several days ago Mr. Davis fell down a flight of steps. At the time of the accident it was thought that he had only been bruised, but because he had been ailing for a considerable length of time the accident is more serious than at first thought. Members of the immediate family are in attendance at the bedside.

EDWARD THAYER DEAD

HINGHAM, Aug. 29.—Edward Thayer, widely known in insurance and Masonic circles, died in his home in this town today, aged 62 years. He had been ill only a week. Mr. Thayer was treasurer of the Hingham Mutual Fire Insurance company and was master of Old Colony lodge of Masons. He is survived by a widow and one son.

MORON'S LEADER RETURNS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Joseph Smith, president of the Mormon church, was a returning traveler today on the Vandalia from Antwerp and Dover. President Smith went abroad early in July for rest and recreation.

MAN USED KNIFE ALL MUST WALK

In Dispute Over Change in Restaurant

Peter F. Cote, while trying to defend Arthur Champagne, proprietor of a restaurant at the corner of Moody and Cabot streets, from the attack of an infuriated customer early yesterday morning, received a knife wound in the right arm. The wound was a deep one and the injured man was taken to the Lowell hospital, where it was found necessary to take several stitches in order to close the incision.

Costas Pantanos was later arrested, charged with doing the stabbing, and was booked at the police station for drunkenness and assault with a knife.

The man under arrest is 35 years of age, a mill operative and resides in Hall street.

About 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning a man alleged to be Pantanos entered the restaurant and ordered food, paying for it with what is said to have been a $2 bill. He was given change for $1 and that started the trouble. Pantanos claimed that he had tendered the man behind the counter a $2 bill, while on the other hand the restaurant man said that it was a $1 bill which had been handed him.

Pantanos showed fight and started to "wipe" out the place, but Champagne and one of his employees succeeded in ejecting the man from the place.

About an hour later Pantanos entered the place and found Champagne in conversation with Cote. Drawing a knife, Pantanos made a rush at Champagne and attempted to stab him. Cote intervened and got the knife instead, the blade entering his right arm.

Pantanos then ran out of the place, but was later arrested by Patrolman Lamoureux and sent to the police station.

The ambulance was summoned and Cote was removed to the Lowell hospital, where several stitches were taken in the arm. He was later able to go to his home.

Pantanos was arraigned in court this morning on complaints charging him with drunkenness and assault with a knife. Through his counsel, J. Stuart Murphy, a plea of not guilty was entered and the hearing of the case was continued till Thursday.

IN HARD LUCK

Lowell Shut Out by Lynn on Saturday

Over 200 loyal rooters from Lowell went to Lynn Saturday and saw Lowell lose a game through the umpire, M. O'Brien. Of course Lynn rooters will say "When you lose, blame it on the umpire," but here was a case when the umpire was really at fault.

The disappointment of defeat, however, was more than made up for by the knowledge of the fact that by reason of Fall River losing a double-header we stepped into the first division, where we hope to remain until the season closes.

It was hard luck for Lowell all through but the Lowell fans who saw the game know what happened and don't blame the team for losing.

Here's what O'Brien did to Lowell: Blakely was on second and Plitz on first. Pitcher Buzick made motion as if to pitch and then wheeled around and after feinting to throw to second turned suddenly and threw to the plate. This turn sent Blakely back to second hence he was not prepared to run on Cooney's bunt as per signal. Cooney bunted and Blakely was caught off third. It was a balk but O'Brien wouldn't allow it. It was Lowell's chance to score.

Lynn scored two runs in the third inning, one of which was due to a miff of an error by Tenney, and the other to Coulter's fly which went into right field blenchers for a two-bagger and which on an ordinary ground would have been a cinch for Fluharty.

Both teams played snappy ball, both pitchers compelling their fielders to do a lot of hard work. Lowell hit Buzick late in the Boston Americans, hard but into the hands of the fielders.

DIAMOND NOTES

At Worcester today.

Only two weeks more of N. E. baseball.

And when we were up, we were up.

And when we were down we were down.

But now we're in the middle.

And O'Brien wears a frown.

Buzick Balked, O'Brien Overlooked it, and we lost the game at Lynn.

At last things are coming our way.

We lose and yet we advance to Division 1.

Just one year ago we were decorating the last place in the standing.

Buzick thought he had struck the big league prematurely when Fluharty threw him out of the field Saturday.

Buzick hit a line drive to right field and Fluharty fielded the ball quickly and by a perfect throw nailed Buzick at first.

Brockton will play here Wednesday and Lynn Saturday. The Lowell Americans and Saturday Club will play for a purse of $100 prior to the league game.

Over three hundred Lowell fans including many ladies attended the game at Lynn Saturday.

We won five out of the last seven games.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Saturday's results in the Stony Brook league were:

Crescents 8, North Chelmsford 2.

Pawtucket Blues 8, West Chelmsford 6.

PRESIDENT'S CUP

T. F. KELLY QUALIFIES AS ONE OF THE CONTESTANTS

PERSONALS

The friends of Jack Manchester, the popular localist at Willow Dale, will hold a testimonial dance for his benefit at Willow Dale tomorrow evening.

Mrs. C. K. Bunker of 11 Mechanic street, Manchester, N. H., gave a birthday party Friday evening at her home in honor of the 17th anniversary of her niece, Miss Bessie Towell, of this city, who is visiting her. Miss Towell received a number of gifts that proved pleasant reminders of the day. There were present about 14, including relatives and neighbors. Mrs. Bunker was assisted by Mrs. Martin C. Rowell of Lowell, mother of Miss Towell, by her sister, Mrs. Edward C. Gould, and by Mrs. Thomas Slattery and Mrs. Robert McGregor.

Dr. Schuyler R. Waller will spend the next two weeks camping in the Adirondack mountains.

Seventeen members of the High Street Congregational church went to the Congregational church, there to hear Rev. Charles W. Huntington, D. D., formerly pastor of High street church. Dr. Huntington has been in the east on a vacation, but starts today for Toledo, Ohio, where he is now located.

Miss Sarah McGill of Chestnut square, and her sister, Mary, will spend the next two weeks in New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Finnerty and son of Pleasant street, Mr. Frank Finnerty of the Belvidere Drug store, and Loretta Kelley of Madison street, are camping at Island Pond for the next two weeks.

William Murphy and George Stone leave for the Sherbrooke fair today.

William C. Stimson of Haverhill, formerly of this city, visited his parents and friends Sunday.

Miss May Reane and Mrs. Elizabeth Dolan have returned from a three weeks' pleasant vacation at Nantasket beach. They also visited friends in Portland, Me., before their return.

Miss Lillian Shumay, soprano soloist at the Premier scenic temple.

WILL THIS TROTTER BE FIRST STALLION TO GO UNDER TWO MINUTE MARK?

THE HARVESTER

Geers drove the five-year-old stallion a mile in 2:02 over a track that was slow, establishing a record for stallions. Later at the Empire track Geers drove The Harvester a mile in 2:03. This wonderful flight of speed was made without a prompter to spur him on and without a visible move on the part of Geers to drive the horse faster than he chose to trot on his courage. It convinced every horseman on the quarter stretch that The Harvester is a two minute trotter. The performance was the fastest ever made by a trotter over the Empire track. The Harvester was bought as a three-year-old at Madison Square Garden for $3,000. No one but Geers has ever driven him in public or private. He has been campaigned three years and has lost but one race. L. V. Harkness of this city bred him at the Walnut Hill stud, in Kentucky. He is one of the handsomest, as well as the fastest of trotting stallions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Will The Harvester, the great five-year-old trotting stallion owned by August Bluhm of Milwaukee, go under the two minute mark before the season is over? This is the main topic of conversation among the harness horsemen at present. Since the 1910 campaign opened The Harvester has been improving right along. Recently at Buffalo Ed.

Portsmouth, N. H., was visiting her home over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Burns and son, James, of 155 Pleasant street, will spend the next two weeks at Newfound lake at Hebron, N. H.

Miss Florence A. Colby of East Billerica and Swampscott is visiting Mrs. Jessie Trull of North Tewksbury for a few days.

Miss Sarah Coker of 531 Merrimack street is spending her vacation with her cousin, Mrs. Fred Underwood of Oil City, Pa.

Mrs. William E. Hollingsworth, of upper Middlesex street and Mrs. Geo. W. Perrin of Grove street have returned from Beverly, where they spent the week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ritchie.

Miss Margery McMaster of Rolfe street will spend the remainder of her vacation at South Weymouth, where she will be the guest of Miss Jessie Trueworthy of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ames of 258 Westford street are on a six weeks' visit to Prince Edward Island, the former home of Mrs. Ames.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Potter of 284 Beacon street will spend the next two weeks at Sunapee lake, N. H.

"BILL" MCKINNON

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 29.—The terms of the match between Frank Mantell, the Pawtucket middleweight who recently returned from California, and Bill McKinnon of Boston, which is to be decided at the Coliseum at Lake Massabesic on Labor day afternoon, were announced this morning. The boys will spar 15 rounds at 155 pounds for the middleweight championship of New England. A decision must be given at the finish.

CHAMBERLAIN IS HELD

He Will be Charged With Murder In Court Today

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Donald MacKenzie, 42 years old, a hostler employed at the sales stable of John D. Packard & Sons, 29 Brighton avenue, Allston, was found unconscious in a pool of blood on the second floor of the stable about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. He died in the police ambulance on the way to the City hospital about an hour later.

William Chamberlain, another hostler, who is married and lives at 7 Essex street, Cambridge, is held at station 14, in Brighton. According to Chief Inspector Dugan, application for instant charging Chamberlain with murder will be made in the Brighton court.

MacKenzie was found by Herman A. Packard, one of the stable proprietors, who was roused from bed by one of his employees, William Hines, who told him that he had better make an investigation, as there had been trouble between MacKenzie and Chamberlain the night before.

Mr. Packard went upstairs in the stable, and on the second floor where the horses are stalled he came upon the hostler lying on his side and moaning. MacKenzie's clothes were covered with blood. On the back of his head was a wound which appeared to have been caused by some sharp instrument.

MacKenzie lay in the middle of the floor and from the appearances of the blood he had reeled in a complete circle before falling to the floor.

Mr. Packard secured a blanket, which he placed under the man's head, and then ran down to the office and notified station 14 by telephone. Sergt. Mullen and Patrolman Turner soon reached the stable in the ambulance and while Turner gave his attention to the injured man the sergeant went into the basement and found Chamberlain at work. Mullen took him upstairs where MacKenzie lay and Chamberlain said that was the first he had seen of him since the night previous and that he knew nothing about how the thing happened.

Patrolmen Turner and Acora took MacKenzie to the hospital and Sergt. Mullen took Chamberlain to the station.

It is said that MacKenzie and Chamberlain had a violent quarrel Saturday evening. Both men sleep at the stable, Chamberlain having a room in a corner off the hayloft and MacKenzie occupying a small cot in the stable office on the first floor.

Mr. Packard's house, 31 Brighton avenue, is directly in front of the sales stable, and Miss Emily Davis, his housekeeper, said she heard the men quarrelling Saturday, and it sounded to her as if blows were struck.

The trouble grew to such proportions that the police were notified, and Patrolmen Gorman and Turner went to the stable. They separated the two men and sent them to their respective sleeping places in the stable. This was about 9 o'clock. At 11:45 Gorman, who patrols that section, called at the stable to make sure that the trouble had stopped, and he found everything quiet as far as external appearances went.

William Hines, who sleeps in another stable belonging to the Packards about 15 yards distant, heard a tap on his door about 5:30 Sunday morning. He got up and found Chamberlain, who said: "That fellow has been drinking again and is lying on the floor in the barn. We had another row last night."

Chamberlain appeared to be nervous, but said nothing to Hines about any blows being struck.

Hines did not think much of the incident, as Chamberlain and MacKenzie had been known to quarrel at times. He went over and reported the matter to Mr. Packard, however.

Chamberlain stoutly maintained his innocence and on the way to the station said: "I never laid hands on him. I never touched him. He's a good fellow and I'm a good fellow. I'd give him the shirt off my back and he'd give me his. The first I saw of him after last night was when I was taken up there just now."

The police searched for the implement supposed to have been used in dealing the blow to MacKenzie, but failed to find any. A pitchfork was found in a corner about 15 feet from the place where the hostler was lying and the prongs bore clots of blood. This, however, had been used by one of the other stablemen during the morning to clean up the straw from the horses' beds and in this way it might have come in contact with the pool of blood.

In the harness room Sergt. Mullen found a towel covered with bloodstains and a cake of soap on an adjacent shelf also had blood upon it.

There were no signs of blood on the floor of the stable either leading to or from the spot where MacKenzie was found unconscious.

Directly overhead in the ceiling is a square opening through which hay is dropped to the horses and at first Mr. Packard was inclined to believe that MacKenzie might have fallen through this opening, but the nature of the wound and the condition of the hayloft near the opening did not bear out this theory, according to the police.

NARROW ESCAPE

COUPLE AWAKE TO FIND THE HOUSE IN FLAMES

MILLERS FALLS, Aug. 29.—Fire today destroyed a house and contents owned by Mrs. L. Stevens Clark, situated on the corner of Prospect and Forest streets, in this village, about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. Clark first awoke and found the rear part of the house on fire. Both he and his wife had a narrow escape, only saving the apparel they had on.

An alarm was sounded and when the hose companies arrived the house was enveloped in flames.

A barn in which there were four tons of hay was saved. There was no live stock in the barn.

The loss was about $3,000. Partial insurance was carried.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Passed Through This City On Way to Dublin, N. H.

He is to Spend a Few Days With Secretary MacVeagh—He Was Accompanied by Mrs. Taft

William H. Taft, president of the United States, passed through Lowell Saturday afternoon in an automobile, but it is doubtful if more than a dozen people recognized the chief executive of the United States as he whizzed through the streets. There were two cars in the party and the only things about the cars which might attract attention were the plates bearing the letters "U. S. S." (United States Service.)

A representative of The Sun learned that the president was on his way from Beverly to Dublin, N. H., to visit Secretary Franklin S. MacVeagh, of the president's cabinet, and was expected to pass through Merrimack square Saturday afternoon, but there was a chance that the party might take another route. The news was not made public and therefore despite the fact that the square was well filled with people very few recognized the president's party when it passed through.

It was just 3:25 o'clock when the president's official car, with President Taft and Mrs. Taft, Capt. Butts, military aid to the president, and the chauffeur passed through, while another automobile which accompanied the president was filled with either newspapermen or friends of the president.

The first intimation that The Sun reporter had of the approach of the president was when a rather novel automobile whistle was heard coming from the direction of East Merrimack street. A glance in that direction showed the huge front of the machine and a few seconds later the big car with its passengers, the male members of whom were attired in the regulation light brown military attire, devoid of stripes, entered the square.

The machine did not stop, but the chauffeur seemed to be in doubt as to which direction to take and was apparently about to bring his machine to a stop when one of the members of the party ruled him and pointed straight ahead, whereupon the chauffeur removed his foot from the pedal and the big car bounded through Merrimack street and was soon lost to view

Spoke at Frontier Celebration At Cheyenne

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 27.—Theodore Roosevelt delivered the following address here today:

"When, at the close of my hunting trip in Africa, I reached the borders of civilization, the first invitation I accepted was this, to visit the capital of Wyoming on the day when the people of the frontier came together to commemorate their achievements. I was glad it was so, because I have a peculiar feeling for the men and women of what used to be called the 'Far West,' and especially for those of the cattle country. For a number of years I lived on a ranch on the Little Missouri, sharing war and peace, good fortune and bad fortune, with my neighbors; working on the round-up, serving as delegate from the Little Missouri round-up district to the Montana Stock-growers' association, and even at times acting as deputy sheriff at my end of the country. I count those years as among the most valuable of my life, because nothing breeds such community of feeling as to work with one's fellowmen at their life tasks, and to learn to know their feelings by actually sharing them. The man of the west, throughout the successive stages of western growth, has always been one of the two or three most typical figures—indeed, I am tempted to say, the most typical figure—in American life, and no man can really understand our country and appreciate what it really is and what it promises unless he has the fullest and closest sympathy with the ideals and aspirations of the west. The prime reason for this is to be found in the fact that the westerner is so good an American. He is an American first and foremost; for this is the great lesson, friends, that all of us need to learn and to keep, the lesson that it is unimportant whether a man lives north or south, east or west, provided he is genuinely in good faith an American, that he feels every part of the United States as his own, and that he is honestly desirous to uphold the interests of all other Americans in whatever sections of the country they may dwell.

"A hundred years ago, when men spoke of the west they meant the country between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi. Fifty years ago the white man's west took in Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas, and then skipped across to California and Oregon. The country of the great plains and the Rockies, the country in which you, whom I am now addressing, lead your lives and do your work, has grown up within my own lifetime. I myself saw and took part in the closing years of the pioneer period, and it was my great privilege to work side by side with the pioneers—the ranchmen, the miners, the cow-punchers, the mule-skinner, the bull-whacker, who actually opened up the country. I have seen the herds and flocks of the cattlemen and sheepmen supplant the game; I have seen the fortunate movement by which the small farm has tended gradually to take the place of the great unfenced ranch. I now travel in every comfort on railways across lands which when I first rode across them, were still the home of the bison and the buffalo, and I find cities where one can obtain not merely comfort, but luxury, in the places where thirty years ago there was not a building beyond a log hut or a dole house. The men who did this work were engaged in the final stages of conquering the continent; and it was their privilege to do one of the great works of all time, to do their part in the performance of an epic feat in the history of the progress of mankind.

"I have used the word progress. The west stands for growth, for progress. So must the whole American people stand. A great democracy must be progressive or it will soon cease to be either great or democratic; no nation, no state, no party, can stand still. It must either go forward or go backward. Therefore I greet you, men of the west, and I stand for progress as all men must stand who are progressive.

"The pioneers and their immediate successors won victory only by proving that they possessed the great, masterful qualities which lie at the foundation of national greatness. There are certain well-meaning men of intellectual cultivation, but lacking mental and moral robustness, who complain continually that they find American life, and especially the life of those American communities emerging from the pioneer stage, crude and without genius or beauty. Genius is a fine thing for a nation, but character is a still finer thing, and though beauty is good, strength is an even greater good.

"The men who have made this great republic of the west what it is, and especially the men who have turned it into a continental commonwealth, have possessed in the highest degree the great virile virtues of strength, courage, energy and undaunted and unswerving resolution. Their typical leaders—of whom Abraham Lincoln, though the most exceptional, was the most typical—have possessed keen intelligence, and a character not merely strong but lofty, a character exalted by the fact that great power was accompanied by a high and fine determination to use this great power for the common good, for the advancement of mankind. The pioneer days are over, save in a few places, and the more complex life of today calls for a greater variety of good qualities than were needed on the frontier. There is need at present to encourage the development of new abilities which can be brought to high perfection only by a kind of training in pioneer times; but these new qualities can only supplement, and never supplant, the old, homely virtues; the need for the special and distinctive pioneer virtues is as great as ever. In other words, as our civilization grows older and more complex, while it is true that we need to develop men whose lives are devoted wholly to the pursuit of special objects, it is yet also true that we need a greater and not a less development of the fundamental frontier virtues. These virtues include the power of self-help, together with the power of joining with others for mutual help, and what is especially important, the feeling of comradeship, of social good-fellowship. Any man who had the good fortune to live among the old frontier conditions must, in looking back, realize how vital was this feeling of general comradeship and social fellowship. There were good men and bad men in the new communities just as in the old communities, and the conditions on the frontier were such that the qualities of the good and bad alike were rather more strikingly manifest than in older communities; but among the men who tried to lead hardworking, decent lives, there was a feeling of genuine democracy, which represented an approach to the American ideal which we certainly should do everything in our power to preserve. We did not try to say that men were equal when they were not equal, but we did our best to secure something like an equality of opportunity and an equality of reward for good service; and moreover, each man expected to be received and, on the whole, was received, wherever he went, on the footing that his merits warranted.

"Now, so far as possible these qualities and the conditions that bring about these qualities should be kept in the great states which are growing out of the old frontier communities. We need to strive for the general social betterment of the people, as a whole, and yet to encourage individual liberty and set high reward on individual initiative up to the point where they become detrimental to the general welfare. In continually and earnestly striving for this betterment of social and economic conditions in our complex industrial civilization, we should work in the old frontier spirit of rugged strength and courage, and yet with the old frontier spirit of brotherly comradeship and goodwill. I do not mean that we should refrain from hating wrong; on the contrary, I would preach fiery wrath against wrong. But I would preach such wrath against the wrong-doer; save in those cases where his wrong-doing really is due to evil moral attributes on his part, and not to a wrong or false system, of which he is almost as much the victim as the beneficiary. Sometimes a wrong represents the deliberate wickedness of the wrong-doer, in which case the remedy is to punish him; but sometimes it represents the effects of a false social system, in which case the right course is to alter what is false in the system. Both principles need to be kept in view as guides to our conduct, and it is necessary sometimes to work in accordance with one and sometimes in accordance with the other.

"Before ending I wish to say a word on something which I believe should especially interest all men who live in the open country, and especially all men who during the past thirty years have lived and worked on ranches, or have done their livelihood in the wilder parts of our land, on the great plains or among the mountains. The phase of our national life in which the stockman, the mining prospector, the frontier farmer and their associates were the chief characters, was not only a very important, but also a very picturesque phase. Often such a phase passes without any great artist arising to commemorate it. The old-time backwoodsman, for instance, the man of the back country who lived in the eastern forests through which the waters ran eastward to the Atlantic and westward to the Mississippi, passed away without any painter or sculptor arising who possessed at once both the keenness of vision to see what a vital and picturesque figure the backwoodsman was, and the genius adequately to present that figure. The artists who saw the picturesque of the backwoodsman lacked the genius adequately to commemorate it; while the artists of real ability unfortunately had their eyes turned towards Europe, and lacked the robust originality which the novelist Cooper showed—to see where their chance lay to do a great work. But in our generation, for our good fortune, a great artist arose who was capable of seeing and of recording the infinite picturesque of the life of the plains and the Rockies. Of course I speak of Frederick Remington. He was one of those Americans who by his achievements distinctly deserved well of America. He worked with pencil, with brush, with chisel; he was both a painter and a sculptor. His pictures and his few bronzes are equally good. When my own regiment, a typically western regiment recruited mainly from the men of the great plains and the mountains, was disbanded at Montauk Point, the officers and enlisted men joined in giving me Remington's bronze Bronco Buster; a gift which I thought peculiarly appropriate coming from such a body of men. In Remington's pictures all the most vivid and characteristic features of the western pioneer life which is just closing were set forth, and he has commemorated forever the men of the plains and the mountains as they actually were. The cowboy is his favorite type, but the mining prospector, the frontier farmer, the man who guides ox-wagon or mule team, the soldier, the Indian—all appear. Now I wish very much that these men themselves would in turn provide a monument for the great artist, the sum of whose activities represents such a feature of American achievement, and, above all, represents the commemoration of some of the most interesting figures that have ever appeared on the stage of American life. A statue should be raised to Remington by some really first-class artist. Here at Cheyenne in this gathering many hundreds of the men have come together who were themselves typical leaders in, and representatives of, the very life which Remington so portrayed that it will always live. I hope that these men will join together, arrange the appointment of a committee, and start to raise funds for the erection of such a statue.

DR. WESBROOK

TO ADDRESS THE NATIONAL CONSERVATION CONGRESS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 29.—One of the addresses to be delivered at the second national conservation congress in St. Paul, September 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, which will come closer to the home life of every American, is that of Dr. F. F. Wesbrook, dean of the Medical school of the University of Minnesota.

"Life and Health as National Assets" is the subject to be discussed by Dr. Wesbrook. No other phase of conservation furnishes a broader field for discussion according to the officers of the congress and much that will benefit mankind is expected to come from paper to be read by Dr. Wesbrook, an authority on national vitality.

To give an idea of the scope of the question to be discussed by Dr. Wesbrook it is pointed out that the report on "National Vitality, Its Wastes and Conservation," made to the national conservation commission by Irving Fisher, professor of political economy, Yale university showed:

Every day and every hour in the year about 3,000,000 persons die dangerously ill in the United States.

Fully half of this illness is preventable.

Three-fourths of tuberculosis, from which 150,000 Americans die annually, could be avoided.

If each life lost is appraised at only $1,700 and each year's average earnings for adults at only $700, the economic gain from preventing preventable disease, measured in dollars exceeds one and a half billions.

Professor Fisher's report said: "Eighteen experts in various diseases, as well as vital statisticians, have contributed data on the ratio of preventability of ninety different causes of death into which mortality may be classified. From these data it is found that 15 years at least could be added to the average human lifetime by applying the science of preventing disease. More than half of this additional life would come from the prevention of tuberculosis, typhoid and five other diseases, the prevention of which could be accomplished by purer air, water and milk. In Lawrence, Mass., after the installation of a pure water supply, the death rate from typhoid was reduced by 80 per cent. For every death thus saved from typhoid, two or three deaths are saved from other diseases."

Professor Fisher reported that the length of life is increasing wherever sanitary science and preventive medicine are applied. Statistics show that the average duration of life in India is less than 25 years; in Sweden, more than 50 years, and in Massachusetts 45 years and that in Europe it has doubled in three and one half centuries. In Massachusetts life is lengthening at the rate of 14 years per century, or about one half the rate of Germany.

COL. ROOSEVELT AS BOSS

The chief heavy attraction of the old world for several months of this year has now been transferred to the western world, and hence nobody need be astonished at earthquakes or any disturbance of that kind, for Theodore Roosevelt once again bestrides the land like a great colossus. Thankful should we be, indeed, if not like Nero of old he is liable to tip over this old world of ours and jar the music of the spheres.

There are two great imperial figures in the world's eye today, one the real emperor of a great people, the Kaiser, who says that he is a divinely selected ruler and that wholly regardless of what men say of him he goes on planning with God for the welfare, peace and prosperity of his people. The other is a man after the Kaiser's own heart, the uncrowned emperor of the United States, but yet a man who seems to feel the imperial power coursing in his veins when he tells the whole country about the things that "he" will or will not permit. He thus talks of himself as a man vested with sovereign authority whereas in reality at the present time he is a private citizen with no more right to dictate than is possessed by any other citizen however humble.

But some men assume powers that do not properly belong to them and seek high office in order to acquire the power to carry out their aims. That seems to be the possibility on which ex-President Roosevelt threatens to do certain things which at present he has not the power to do.

When approached upon whether he would be a candidate for president again in 1912, Col. Roosevelt is said to have made the statement that he would be a candidate only "if it be necessary to do so in order to carry out his policies." In his speeches on his present tour he is dealing in generalities and is specific on nothing political except the New York fight which, he says, is one against bossism. He promises to wage ruthless war on corrupt alliances between corrupt business interests and political bosses.

It seems that Col. Roosevelt thinks that there should be but one boss in the country and that he should be the one. Already he has assumed the role, and he strikes hard at the New York leaders who have attempted to repudiate his bossism and dictation. From the very nature of the man he is unable to subside into the quiescence of private life as did Harrison, Cleveland and the other illustrious ex-presidents who went back to private life without feeling that they were still under compulsion from a sort of divine inspiration to serve as the universal center of the nation. He has lined up with the progressives in New York and all probability he will later align with the bosses in the White House. All this would tend to strengthen his position as a possible candidate in 1912. His admirers claim he would sweep the country, but 1912 is some distance off as yet, and before it arrives the people of this country will be so sick of Roosevelt that they will heartily wish that he would take another prolonged vacation in Africa or go on a hunting expedition to the South Sea Islands.

TO UTILIZE SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN VACATION

The public playground idea has been greatly developed and popularized throughout the country. The tendency in most cities is to utilize all the public playgrounds, parks and buildings as never before, for the benefit of the whole people. In most cities the school buildings are held in idleness during the summer months. Why not have them opened for the benefit of the poor children who can get no vacation, and who are at a loss for some shady place in which they can escape the intense heat of the sun, enjoy the pure air, and a reasonable amount of amusement?

There is no reason whatever why some arrangement should not be made to open these buildings during vacation for occasional lectures, amusement features and some form of manual training in which the children would take the greatest delight.

A few days ago we spoke of the vast possibilities of making the commons more serviceable and more useful to the entire community. If in addition to what can be done in that direction the school buildings should also be opened during the two months of very hot weather we believe that a vast benefit would result to the poorer classes of the community and ultimately to the entire city.

Some slight expense might be entailed in providing a director at each school, but in most cases the janitor would serve the purpose very well, and the janitors are employed during the summer with little or nothing to do.

Why should they not be required to open up the schools, and allow the children of the district to come in, sit down and even enjoy themselves in some mild form of amusement? These school buildings will remain when the present generation is dead and gone, and it would not injure them in the least to allow the children to visit them several days a week during the hot weather.

With this as a beginning for the better utilization of the school buildings, we might eventually find it expedient to put in a system of shower baths for the benefit of the children, and thus enable them to cool off in the hot weather when most of them suffer from being compelled to remain about their homes in the congested districts.

It is all bosh this talk about Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston seeking the nomination for governor this fall. He has no reason to find fault with his present job which will hold him for several years yet. He is not the man to throw away a good thing for an uncertainty.

We would respectfully caution all pickpockets to keep away from Lowell so long as Martin Maher is on deck to keep track of them. He can distinguish a pickpocket as soon as he sees him in a crowd. He is also strong on locating various other descriptions of the genus crook.

One who is in a position to know is authorized to state that 3,000,000 bricks will be used in the construction of the five-story weave mill that is being built by the Massachusetts mills in East Merrimack street. The building will be roofed and the work outside and in will be pretty well along before the snow flies.

Listen to the plaint of one Mrs. Sarah Hunt Christopher, grass widow of New York, who is seeking a bona fide decree of divorce from the New York courts.

"I wish I could meet some big-hearted, clear-minded man, with brains, ambition and morals. But when I look at the God-forsaken, moth-eaten, bargain-counter remnants master-guerading around I feel like the farmer who, after gazing long at a camel in a circus, said: 'Well, there ain't no such animal!'"

In a certain family in West Philadelphia there are two servant girls. Each is named Bertha. One works in the kitchen, the other in the parlor.

The youthful son of the house has hit on a novel plan of identification. He suggests that the girls be known as upper and lower Bertha—Philadelphia Times.

She walked into a shoe store and said to the polite clerk: "You may show me a pair of walking boots, No. 4. I used to wear 3's, but I go in for solid comfort now."

The clerk tried the boots, but they would not go on.

"Strange," she murmured. "It must be rheumatism. Try 4's, B width. I know I can swim in them, but my feet are so tender."

While the clerk was getting them on she said:

"I used to have such a beautiful foot, not small, but such a good shape. I never had a small foot, but I wore 2½ size for years, until I walked so much and grew heavier."

Your foot is a peculiar shape; the instep is so high—that is why you require a large size," said the clerk who had no fear of Annas for his eyes.

"I've heard," she said, "that the Venus de Medecchey wears No. 5, and she is a model of true proportion."

"Exactly," said the clerk, growing red in the face as he pulled and tugged to get them on. He had never heard of "dee Medecchey," but he was up to a trick or two himself. "After all," he said, "these are too large. You'll find the 4's just right."

He was only gone a moment, but in that time he had erased a B from the inside of a pair of shoes and substituted a 4.

"There, I thought it was strange," she said, when they were on and paid for; "why, those are just as easy as my old ones. I believe I could just as well have 3's after all."

And the young man without a conscience went back to his duties with the air of one well satisfied with himself.

I have just read where another woman, formerly obscure outside of her own particular set, has heard of a wealthy man for breach of promise and the idea has occurred to me that you mustn't always sniff your nose and say, "Well, now isn't he the sly old fox?"

Suppose the man, Mr. Man, were left a million dollars tomorrow. Say, inside of 24 hours you'd have people that you have never heard of before in your life calling you up on the telephone and congratulating you.

And the girl, that one you've been trying to get out with for so long, but who seemed to prefer a man with the picture advertisement clothes—why

Valuable Advice to Sufferers From Skin Diseases.

Under no circumstances should medicated or plain soap or any preparation containing alcohol or water, be used by sufferers from eczema and similar skin troubles. These irritants aggravate the trouble and make it impossible to get the skin to heal. The new medical compound called Cadum is the best and surest remedy, as it contains neither water nor alcohol. When applied, it excludes the air and other irritating agents, stops the itching at once, and sets up the healing process immediately. Most wonderful cures are reported from all sections. Cadum is just as effective in the treatment of psoriasis, ringworm, pimples, blotches, rash, eczema, chafing, itching piles, rough, scaly skin, sore, acne, herpes, etc. 10c and 25c. All druggists.

you'd find that girl had always loved you and had only been waiting until she could get rid of "that other fool." You'd have lots of friends. But there would be other kinds. You'd remember the little girl who flirted with you during your week's vacation year before last? Well, she's ready about you in the paper and suddenly some shy lawyer would drop around to your office and tell you that the girl had expected to marry you. Well you could feel and fume and say it was all lies but the girl's got you dead to rights. You might as well come across fight and be branded from one end of the country to the other. ANN

Ann, how old is Ann? Tell me, tell me if you can. For, no matter how I quiz, I can't find how old she is.

Ann has such bewitching ways That she keeps me in a daze; Still, her age I'd like to know. At least, within a year or so.

Ann is such a pretty girl! She sets my senses in a whirl. Everything goes whir and whizz— I wish I knew how old she is!

Ann is dainty, Ann is sweet, Ann could make my joy complete; Still, I think that it is sage To attempt to learn her age.

But my efforts always fail, Inquiries do not avail. Folks won't tell me, if they can. When I ask: "How old is Ann?"

Never mind, she shall be mine, Even though she's twenty-nine. Or, if young, I'm not afraid. Ann shall not be an old maid! —Somerville Journal.

COL. ROOSEVELT

WILL HAVE HIS STRENUOUSITY TESTED

SAINT PAUL, Minn., Aug. 29.—The strenuousness of Theodore Roosevelt will be tested in Saint Paul, September 6, when he comes here to address the national conservation congress.

The speed laws are to be broken on the automobile trip from Minneapolis to Saint Paul and there will be a round of receptions, speeches, meals and rides that promise to test the metal of the great lion hunter.

When the colonel gets into Minneapolis from Fargo, N. D., on the morning of the 6th of September he will be met by the usual committee that greet distinguished visitors in every city. He will be taken to the hotel for breakfast, after which there is to be another informal reception. Then he will be placed in Louis Hill's 90 horse-power auto and it is planned that the lion hunter trip will be made in about 15 minutes. The machine can make it faster if Roosevelt doesn't mind.

There will be soldiers and police along the line between the two cities to warn drivers of other vehicles of the approach of the lion hunter.

When the colonel gets to Saint Paul, a city with which he is perfectly familiar and for which he often has spoken his admiration, he will be taken to his suite in the new St. Paul Hotel. Here, he has brushed off some of the dust that will meet some old friends. Then he goes to the auditorium to address the conservation congress. This will take more than an hour. Back to the hotel he goes and there'll be another reception. This time the Original Roosevelt club, a Saint Paul organization, will call at the hotel on horseback and in a rough rider uniform. They'll give the colonel the cowboy salutes.

Then comes luncheon. The afternoon program includes a trip to the state fair grounds on a western outskirts of Saint Paul; a speech before thousands in the grand city; another fast ride back to the city to the home of Frank Kellogg; the Roosevelt "gun feast," where the colonel will enjoy the rest of the day. The evening program includes a dinner given by Col. Brodie, an old Rough Rider and friend of the former president and possibly a banquet.

ON LOWER SCALE

JULY MOVEMENTS OF MEATS AND FOOD ANIMALS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Receipts of live stock during July at seven primary interior markets, 2,295,675 head, were on a lower scale than during the preceding month, though comparing favorably with like receipts during July, 1909 and 1908. The total, 2,295,675 head, were reported. Of the total, 1,003,499 head calves, 1,224,021 head cattle, 574,410 head sheep, and 15,078 head horses and mules. The increase in the commercial supply for the month of cattle and sheep is more than counterbalanced by the shortage in the arrival of hogs, the July figures for the current year falling about 18 per cent below the corresponding average for the preceding five year period. The loss is, however, compensated to some extent by the greater weight of the hogs brought to market. The seven months' arrivals of live stock totaled 19,262,431 head, compared with 21,770,036 head for the corresponding 1909, and 23,694,455 head for the corresponding 1908 periods, the loss being due almost entirely to the smaller number of hogs received at the principal packing centres. The shortage at all the seven markets exceeded 24 per cent when compared with the seven months' average for the five preceding years; in the case of Chicago, it runs as high as 30 per cent, and in the case of Kansas City not less than 25 per cent. Other noteworthy features of this year's commercial live stock movement are the increasing number of calves and the smaller average weight of cattle marketed. A similar decline may be noted in the monthly arrivals of live stock at the four leading Atlantic seaboard cities, the July total, 650,637 head, falling 21 per cent below the figure for the preceding month and comparing unfavorably with the corresponding 1909 and 1908 figures of 744,770 and 710,374 head. The loss appears heaviest in the case of hogs, though cattle and calves also show great diminution as compared with the figures for the preceding months and the corresponding figures of the two preceding years. The seven months' arrivals of leading food animals at these same cities totaled 4,615,887 head for the present year, compared with 5,201,830 and 5,516,095 head received during the seven months of 1909 and 1908. With the exception of calves, all classes of animals show losses, particularly heavy in the case of hogs. Inasmuch as the foreign shipments from these ports constituted but a small proportion of the animals received, the decline in the receipts of live animals is amply made up by the decreased receipts of dressed meats must have resulted in a smaller consumption of meat at the large city centres of the eastern seaboard.

The July shipments of packing house products from Chicago, 182,987,400 pounds, fell likewise below the June figures, which were the heaviest monthly shipments for the year. As compared with the average July shipments for the preceding five year period, a decline of 18 per cent is shown. The seven months' total, 1,156,941,375 pounds, is about 18 per cent below the corresponding five year average, the losses affecting all important items, including fresh beef, cured meats and lard. The quantity of canned meats shipped during the seven months of the present year constitutes but 40 per cent of the total reported for the same period in 1908, when the decline in the shipments of this article started.

The stocks of meat on the last day of the month at five principal packing centres, 181,329,822 pounds, decreased about 10 million pounds since the end of June and were one-third less than the average for the same date in the five preceding years.

The foreign trade in live animals and meat products show an even more unfavorable development. Thus cattle exports which for the seven months of 1906 were 338,711 head, valued at about 25½ million dollars, have fallen to 58,123 in number, valued at 4.8 million dollars. The seven months' exports of fresh beef declined from 156,127,219 pounds to 36,263,738 pounds; those of bacon, from 250,869,737 pounds to 69,263,326 pounds; those of ham and shoulders, from 113,873,737 pounds to 76,870,546 pounds; and those of lamb from 423,761,950 pounds to 218,403,300 pounds. The relative loss of the foreign market for our meat product may be realized from the fact that notwithstanding the large increase in prices, particularly during the last few years, the total value of the meat products declined from $121,175,563 in 1906 to $73,799,731 during the present year.

GRAND DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS

As one of the closing features of the season at Lakeview park the Boston & Northern Street railway company has arranged with Masten & Wells, designers of fire displays, to give a special exhibition next Tuesday evening. The exhibition unusual and spectacular, will be absolutely free.

"Leaping Frogs in Furious Flames" will be of such dazzling splendor as to thrill all. Every one has played leap frog, but never before have been seen so brilliant, sparkling, multi-colored fire displays of this kind.

One cannot but recall pleasant memories of his boyhood days when he watched antics. The frogs will be shown jumping over one another's backs amid a hailstorm of flames.

"Great Stunt in Flames" will be another feature. The "Explosion of the 1000 Mandarins" is the most brilliant piece ever produced. It represents the chariot of the sun, driven by the hand of Phatton. Mythological tales tell us that the world was consumed, and the whole world was consumed. The world will not be consumed, but the old time story will be depicted in a burst of blazing beauty.

After the shock of the "Sunburst" comes a placid grove of palms depicted in lines of fire, from which ascend great spraying showers of brilliant palms with striking effect. The tall palms, colored green, like the originals, are of commanding height and loom up in front of a background of verdant, fiery foliage, just like the great palms of the tropics. The palms are masterpieces of pyrotechnic ingenuity.

Most people like a lot of noise and in the "Explosion of the 1000 Mandarins" they are sure to be satisfied. Aside from the brilliancy of the light effects there will be a duplication of a real Gatling gun in actual operation. The scene will appear not unlike that of a battle, for from all parts of the grounds some 10,000 "Mandarins" will be constantly exploding with their gun-like report and scintillating blaze.

"Uncle Sam around the Globe" is a piece that is at once funny and spectacular. It awakens in one a fervor of patriotism. "Uncle Sam" appears in his famous stars and stripes. He juggles his bun of many-colored fire.

Way up in the sky the fireworks exhibition will be seen bombs, rockets and other pyrotechnical novelties which will be the latest and best the makers can produce. All during the exhibition there will be lights appearing and disappearing in myriads of different shades of colors and all of the variety from the subdued puff of a small firecracker to the roar of a battle gun.

Masten & Wells are making special efforts to provide a highly successful and popular exhibition at the Boston & Northern's newest park, and if the flaming marvels please the people of Lowell and vicinity arrangements will be made for two or three further exhibitions with complete change of program. The evening of September 2 is a likely date for a second exhibition. In its entirety Tuesday night's exhibition will be free.

THEATRE VOYONS

The feature subject on today's bill at the Theatre Voyons is "The Three Cherry Pits," a story of Parisian life. Immediately following the Napoleonic period. The hero is one of the generals of the empire, honored but modest and unassuming, and in appearance nothing but an old man. Three students meet him in a restaurant and seek to have fun with him by pelting him with cherry stones. He carefully saves three, and the next day challenges the students to a duel. As he deduces that does not kill each in turn he presents them with the cherry pits and teaches them a wholesome lesson in manners. It is a finely staged subject and the acting is superb. There is a most laughable comedy on the bill and the musical features are unusual.

PROPHYLACTIC SYSTEM OF DENTISTRY
Now Open at 352 Merrimack Street

Prophylactic or Preventive Dentistry is fast becoming more widely understood and practiced by those who stand highest in the dental profession. The mouth is the gateway to the entire digestive tract. If it is kept in a healthy condition, the whole system is greatly benefited. This new field opens up wonderful possibilities for future generations, who should have little or no trouble with their teeth and whose general health should be far above that of the present day.

Prophylaxis in dentistry means prevention of decay and other diseases of the teeth and gums. The course of treatment is simple and pleasant, and most effective. Bring your teeth troubles to us if you'd have them remedied quickly, cheaply and gently. Think our tooth pulling, filling, crown and bridge work hurts? We guarantee our painless process for the foregoing—cor. Worthen.

EYES OF COUNTRY

Are Fixed on the Elections in New England

The political attention of the country gradually is being focused on New England, where, within a few days, the first measuring of strength between the republican and the democratic parties in the state elections of 1910 is to take place.

Vermont, on Sept. 4, and Maine, on Sept. 12, will select state officers and indicate their preference for representatives in the 62d congress. In each state will be chosen, also, members of the legislature, who, in turn, will elect a member of the U. S. senate.

While the campaign in Vermont and Maine will close in another week, the other New England states are not idle politically, for on the same day as the Vermont election, New Hampshire will hold her first state-wide primaries and first under direct primary law affecting an entire state to be held in the past.

Massachusetts will hold primaries on Sept. 27, but the law in this state is optional, and only the larger cities and a few towns made direct nominations. State conventions will be held in Massachusetts and Rhode Island in October, and in Connecticut in September. In each of the three states full tickets for state officers will be named, and legislatures will be elected whose members save in New Hampshire will choose U. S. senators.

The terms of Senators Carroll S. Page of Vermont, Eugene S. Hale of Maine, Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island and Morgan G. Bulkeley of Connecticut expire March 4, 1911.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Aldrich have declined re-election. New Hampshire does not elect to the senate again until 1912.

Fight for 20,000 Margin

The campaign in Vermont, after a sharp preliminary contest between four republican candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, in which Dr. John W. Moad of Rutland was successful, has progressed quietly.

The republican leaders are devoting their efforts mainly to securing or exceeding a "normal" republican plurality of 20,000, while the democrats are endeavoring to reduce this margin and show increased strength in this first state election of 1910.

The ballot in Vermont will include candidates of the republican, democratic, prohibition and socialist parties. The socialists, through a misunderstanding, made no nomination for secretary of the state or for congress. All the other parties named full lists.

Contest in Maine

The republicans in Maine have nominated Gov. Bert M. Fernald for a second term, while the democrats are waging a vigorous campaign with Frederick M. Plaisted, mayor of Augusta, and a son of an ex-governor, as their leader.

In the congressional fight in the first district, the congressional parliamentarian, Asher C. Hinds, is seeking a seat on the floor of the house as a successor to Thomas B. Reed, who introduced Hinds in Washington legislative circles.

In neither Vermont nor Maine is any outward issue drawn between so-called "progressive" and "regular" republicans.

The New Hampshire primary canvass is being fought with as much vigor as a state campaign, the struggle being between Bertram Ellis of Keene and Robert P. Bass, who has the support of the "progressive" republicans.

DENVER WELCOMES "TEDDY"

NIGHT EDITION

"HELLO TEDDY"

Was the Greeting Roosevelt Got at Greeley, Colo.Denver Planned a Great Welcome to the Former President
—Salute of 21 Guns

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 29.—Colonel Roosevelt's departure from Cheyenne was entirely informal. Senator Warren and a few of the colonel's friends were at the station to see him off, but there was no popular gathering. The colonel was standing near the car when the train started and there was a general scrambling to get aboard, in which he joined. He boarded the train as it was beginning to gain speed.

The first stop was made at Greeley, Colo., where he was greeted with cries of "Hello, Teddy."

References made to his hunting expedition in Africa by men in the crowd brought forth a report that he found Africa to agree with him thoroughly. He referred to his early acquaintance with Colorado and said he was glad to get back into the short grass country where he used to live. In the midst of his talk the train drew out and there was a chorus of "good-byes."

One little woman in black risked injury by a fall in her eagerness to shake hands with the colonel who at first attempted to wave her off and then reached down and took her hand. It was the only handshake at Greeley and the woman was evidently very proud of her distinction.

At Lasalle, a small crowd of men, most of whom were workmen about the place, listened to a brief talk.

It will be as the soldier that Denver will first greet the former president. Upon his arrival at 10.40 this morning he will enter a carriage and lead a parade of his old comrades-in-arms, the veterans of the Spanish war.

Ex-President Roosevelt will address a public gathering this afternoon in the great Auditorium which has a seating capacity of over 12,000. This will be followed at 4 o'clock by a talk to the Colorado legislature which is sitting in extra session and at 5 o'clock Mr. Roosevelt will speak before the Spanish war veterans. Then Mr. Roosevelt will get ready for the banquet tendered in his honor by the Colorado Livestock Growers' association, at which he will speak on "Old days on the range."

Other addresses of the evening will be the "Cow and the tree," by former Chief Forester Pinchot; "Conservation and progress," by former Secretary of the Interior James A. Garfield; "The stockman of today," by Merle D. Vincent of Montrose, Colo., and "Denver," by State Senator Ivey of this city.

HORSE'S HEAD

PROVED TO BE AS LONG AS A BARREL

Old horsemen will tell you that a horse's head is as long as a barrel and an old horse proved it in Middle street this forenoon. He stuck his head in a barrel and the barrel stuck to him. His nose was touching the bottom of the barrel and the mouth of the barrel covered only the bottom of his ears; and if that doesn't prove that a horse's head is as long as a barrel it doesn't prove anything.

Measurements, however, didn't figure in the excitement in Middle street. The horse looked as if he might have been fed on imitation hay, for it is known that green painted shavings are sometimes fed to horses as a substitute for hay.

There was a little wisp of hay in the barrel into which the horse poked his head in Middle street, and while the length of the head is supposed to compare with the length of the barrel nothing has been said about other measurements. The barrel was a little narrow but the horse succeeded in pushing his head into it; but when he tried to withdraw it it was a different story. He was a quiet horse and somewhat philosophical, and that helped some. He tried to extricate his head but seemed to realize that he couldn't do it without assistance and when the hooves were broken by an axe in the hands of a man who would have made an excellent log chopper, the old horse braced himself and stood for it. It was all over with the breaking of the hoops.

MILLS CLOSED

WEST WARREN, Aug. 29.—Four cotton mills of the Thorndike Co., owned by the Bliss, Pabian Co. of New York and Boston, will be idle two weeks, beginning today. The company employs about 200 operatives.

WILL RESUME WORK

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 29.—The print works of the Pacific mills closed today until Sept. 6. The cotton mills here, which closed Aug. 19, will resume at the same time.

CONSUL TOO POLITICAL

MANILA, Aug. 29.—M. Iwaya, the Japanese consul here, has been called to Tokyo. It is reported that the American government intimated to Japan that his continuance in the office of consul was unsatisfactory owing to his political activity and his association with a group of Filipino irregulars. Confirmation of this report, however, cannot be obtained.

It is said that Secretary of War Dickinson complained a short time ago of the conduct of the consul, and it was then intimated that his recall was probable.

ON STRIKE AGAIN

Trouble in New York
Renewed

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The strike committee of the cloak makers repudiated yesterday the draft agreement brought about through the efforts of Lawyer Louis Marshall intended to end the strike. The committee met at 213 Grand street and passed a resolution to stand out for all the original demands. Those of the strike committee who really favored the agreement had to go with the tide and vote against it.

The formal statement issued yesterday was:

"The agreement drawn up by Lawyer Louis Marshall, Julius Henry Cohen, counsel for the manufacturers' association, and Meyer London, counsel for the union which it was thought by many would be the means of settling the strike, was rejected in its entirety by the strikers. Reports that the agreement had been already signed by the strike leaders and that the strikers were to return to work on Monday were erroneous."

"This unfortunate occurrence resulted in many demonstrations of protest on the part of many of the strikers on Saturday. However, what threatened to be a calamity was turned into a better understanding of the feelings of the men on strike. In the various halls where the strikers were assembled it was decided unanimously to remain on strike until all the demands of the union have been granted."

The committee said that Freedman Bros., of 84 Broadway, employing more than 1000 workers, had signed an agreement with the union. The committee also reported that the strikers will treat only with the manufacturers' individuals and that the manufacturers' association will not be recognized.

Meyer London, counsel for the strikers, said he will issue a statement today. "It will cover the action we will take regarding the injunction," he said. "All I will say about that now is that the justices of the supreme court are leagued men, but they are not cloak makers. As to the strike, the strikers are again in control of their leaders after the excitement of last week. The strike situation is greatly improved and there is now no doubt as to their sentiments and that they want the closed shop."

"JOE" CHRISTO

RACES

"Joe" Christo, the well known young athlete, has entered in the 20 mile run at the Revere beach races on Wednesday evening and is training hard for the event.

Many of the crack runners in this section are entered in the race, including such well known runners as Di-neen, Morrissey and others. Christo will be accompanied to the race by a crowd of local admirers.

MAYOR GAYNOR

IS REPORTED TODAY AS RESTING
WELL

ST. JAMES, L. I., Aug. 29.—Mayor Gaynor showed no ill effects today from his trip from Hoboken. Rufus Gaynor said that his father passed a comfortable night and was up early. He ate a hearty breakfast and seemed to relish his food. For the present no visitors will be received unless they come by special invitation. A guard has been established at the house and callers are told that the mayor needs complete quiet and rest.

FUNERAL NOTICE

DOYLE.—The funeral of the late Cornelius P. Doyle will take place from his residence, 33 Claire street, Wednesday morning at 8.45 o'clock. Solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Patrick's church at 9.45 o'clock. Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell and Sons in charge.

WANT NEW LAWS JUMP IN COTTON

The Barbers' Convention Outlines
Needed Reforms

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—A clean towel and wash rag for each patron, the elimination of the sponge, carrier of loathsome germs, and the enactment of laws to bring about these reforms are among the demands made at the gathering of the National League of Barbers which opened a three-day convention here today. Delegates numbering over 200 are in attendance. The organization is composed of master barbers, owners of shops who are pledged to carry their demands to their various state legislatures and secure national legislation effecting their business.

HURT BY ELEPHANT

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Carl E. Akely, former taxidermist of the Field Museum, was severely injured by an elephant in Africa on July 10 while on an elephant hunt.

News of the accident has just been received by his relatives here. Mr. Akely's wife was with him at the time, but she escaped injury. Mr. Akely is now connected with the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

NO AUTO LICENSES NEEDED

WAKEFIELD, R. I., Aug. 29.—The taxicab and auto owners of Narragansett need no longer take the trouble to have their cars licensed to operate in that town under the existing town ordinances, according to the decision of Judge Nathan B. Lewis of the second district court today. The defense of two taxicab drivers, John Riley and James McNamee who were charged with operating an automobile without a license that the license commissioner in whom the power is vested has no right to issue the permits was sustained by the court and the cases thrown out. The defendants claimed that the power to license autos was given the town council by the state legislature without the right to transfer it and that the license commissioner has no legal authority.

STREET DEPARTMENT

Will Have Plenty of Work to Do This Fall

Newell F. Putnam, superintendent of streets, allows that this will be a very busy fall for the street department. The most important job in sight is the building of a new bridge over Hale's brook in Lawrence street and the widening of the street in the vicinity of the bridge.

The city council has appropriated $20,400 for this job and because of the importance of the work it will be necessary for him to engage a derrick boss and, for the time being, that will add another to the list of street department bosses. Mr. Putnam says that men skilled in the use of derricks are few and far between. The Congress st. bridge will receive attention at 8 o'clock.

Order relative to list of jurors submitted by the registrars of voters and directing the city clerk to enroll and place names in jury box.

Order designating and appointing polling places for the year.

This fall but it is a small job compared with the Lawrence street bridge and the work connected with it.

The macadam work in White street, Centralville, is finished and the work in Victor street, also in Centralville, is well along. Smith street is being put in shape to be macadamized and the street department is employing 175 men at the present time.

His Honor's Signature

Mayor Medwin today affixed his signature to the following orders:

Order for a hearing on the petition of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company for pole locations in Third and other streets. The hearing will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, at 8 o'clock.

6 O'CLOCK MANY OFFENDERS

Were Arraigned in Police Court This Morning

William Hart, who hails from the northern part of Vermont, came to this city recently and very quickly got acquainted with Patrick McNamara, who frequents the South common, and when Patrick got through with him he was minus $15 and a briar pipe. McNamara had not been at large long before Patrolman William Bumps placed him under arrest.

When the case was called in court this morning Hart recited the manner in which he met McNamara and what transpired during the short time they were together. Hart admitted that he had been drinking and walked to the South common to rest himself. While there he met McNamara and as both men felt rather dry Hart volunteered to produce the coin if McNamara would get the wet goods. The money was passed and the whiskey was procured with the result that Hart became drowsy and lay down on the grass to have a sleep. When he awoke he found that $15 and some small change and a pipe and case which he had in his pocket were missing. But McNamara was the last person he remembered being with and the pipe which was found on McNamara's person was identified by Hart as belonging to him.

Two young men who were on the common were called as witnesses and testified that they saw McNamara take the money and pipe out of Hart's pocket.

McNamara's defense was a general denial. Inasmuch as the defendant had previously been convicted of breaking and entering and larceny, very little credence was given to his story, and he was found guilty and sentenced to six months in jail.

Hart, who was charged with being drunk, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $5.

Stepped on His Face
George Donnelly was charged with assault and battery on Patrick Brennan on the South common. Both men were inmates of the city farm and from the testimony offered in court this morning there had been previous trouble at the farm which culminated in this assault.

Donnelly was found guilty and a fine of $15 was imposed.

Milkman Fined $50
Joseph Chenelle, a milkman, pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with having adulterated milk in his possession and a fine of $50 was imposed.

Placed on Probation
John Patenaude was charged with threatening his wife, but after hearing the case the court decided to turn the matter over to the probation officer.

Admitted Stealing Tools
Constantinos Manolopoulos pleaded guilty to the larceny of two planes, a gauge, two saws, a wrench, a square and a pair of overalls, all of the value of $10.30, the property of Leroy Dunn. The tools and overalls were stolen on July 1st, it is alleged, from a building which was under the course of construction at the corner of Market and Hanover street, where Dunn was employed.

The complainant left his tools in the building when he quit work on the night of June 20 and where he got ready to start work the following morning found that the tools were missing.

The matter was reported to the police and Saturday night Sgt. McCoughrey placed Manolopoulos under arrest. Later two of the planes and a gauge were recovered.

The defendant is 17 years of age, has no relatives in this city and has spent the greater part of the past few months in traveling between this city, Nashua and Manchester.

The court decided to defer sentence until tomorrow in order that the police may look into the past history of the young man.

Disturbing the Peace
John and Felix Bosin and Emilio Damuninski were charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace. The trio Saturday night were in Spring street, singing and shouting and raising a racket, it is said. Patrolman Sheridan was notified of the disturbance and he sent the three men to the police station. The men admitted that they were drunk and had got into a fight. They were found guilty and each was fined $10 for disturbing the peace and $2 additional for drunkenness.

Doctor Prescribed Whiskey?
John E. Bulmer pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. He said that he was being persecuted by the police and could prove that the officers were hounding him. He admitted that he had been drinking whiskey and emulsion for his lungs by advice of a physician. Inasmuch as Bulmer left the state farm at Bridgewater two weeks ago, the court decided to send him back to that institution.

Man Without a Home
Patrick Potter, who, according to Patrolman Dennet has no home, and has been sleeping in barns, and on the dumps in Centralville, admitted that he was drunk when arrested. He was sentenced to the state farm, but the clerk of the court did not please Patrick, so he entered an appeal.

Court Was Lenient
The fact that Thomas J. Sheehan has a wife and children dependent upon him was responsible for his being dealt with in a lenient manner by Judge Hadley when he appeared in court this morning charged with being drunk. Sheehan promised to do better in the future and with that understanding he was given a suspended sentence of four months in jail and placed on probation for one year.

Will Be Surrendered
Andrew Langlois pleaded guilty to being drunk, but owing to the fact that he is on probation from the superior court the case was continued until tomorrow morning in order that Probation Officer Ramsey may surrender the man.

Sunday Drunks
Peter Rino, through an interpreter, denied that he was drunk when arrested by Patrolman Reagan. The latter said he met Rino staggering through Summer street near the corner of South street and the latter admitted he had had about 10 or 12 drinks but that was not enough to make him drunk. Deputy Downey saw the defendant when he was brought to the police station yesterday and testified that Rino was drunk. Rino was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Fred Johnson, August Sullivan and Jennie Bell, Sunday drunks, were each fined $5.

Drunken Offenders
Michael J. McAndrews, charged with being drunk, was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

John Leonard was sentenced to three months in jail, and William B. Clark received a sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, but appealed and was held under $200 bonds for the superior court.

Daniel Casey, George J. Keefe, Amos Lacourse, William H. Cunningham and Michael Gilday, charged with being drunk, pleaded guilty and fines of $5 each were imposed.

Five first offenders were fined $2 each, and 10 simple drunks were released before the opening of the court.

PERSONALS
Hector O'Heir, clerk at the A. E. O'Heir furniture company, is in Bermuda. The voyage to the island was uneventful according to a card received by a friend of his in this city and he declared that the voyage was the best ever. Before returning to this city Hector will visit other places of interest.

John J. Pinder, messenger at the police station, has resumed his duties after a very pleasant vacation of two weeks during which time he visited New York, Niagara Falls and the middle west. Mr. Pinder was a delegate to the Knights of Equity convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, and when the convention came to a close he joined his wife at Schenectady, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Pinder then went to Albany and from there to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Returning they stopped at Albany and then went to New York City where they spent three days. After taking in the sights at the metropolis and Conner Island, Mr. and Mrs. Pinder returned home.

Mrs. C. H. Foye of Pine street, Mrs. James Foye of Stevens street, Mrs. John Foye of Burlington avenue and Miss Margaret Foye of the Bon Marche have taken a cottage at Hampton beach for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William McGeary of Webster, Mass., are the guests of Town Clerk John J. Brennan of Dracut. Mr. McGeary is an uncle of Mr. Brennan.

The Misses Willette, the well known dressmakers of Bridge street, are registered at Salisbury beach for the coming week.

Adelbert Abbott, manager of the G. H. Wood jewelry store on Central street, accompanied by his wife, is enjoying the scenes and pleasures along the north shore. Before returning to this city they will visit Montreal.

The Misses Hannah and Grace Cummings, Mary Cox, Mary Tobin and Nellie Ward spent Sunday with friends in Peabody.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregoire, milliners, have returned from a very enjoyable trip to Montreal, Quebec city, St. Anne de Beaupre, and other points of interest in Canada.

Miss Mary Tobin of North Chatham returned Saturday after spending two weeks at Old Orchard, Me.

Mr. Emil Byron of this city left this morning to attend the Eucharistic convention in Montreal as a delegate from St. Louis parish.

Mrs. Clarence E. Cunningham of Durant street with her son, Clarence, Jr., are spending their vacation in the White mountains.

WAS 88 YEARS OLD
DETROIT, Aug. 28.—P. H. Warner, father of Gov. Fred Warner, former speaker of the Michigan house of representatives and a member of the constitutional convention of 1847, died at his home in Farmington today. He was 88 years old.

COULDN'T ABOVE RIFEL TOWER
PARIS, Aug. 28.—Bischoff made a sensational aeroplane flight above Paris today. He twice cleared above the Eiffel tower at a height of 2400 feet.

GRIPPEN CASE

Doctor and His Typist Arraigned on Charge of Murder

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Both Hawley Crispin, the American doctor, and Ethel Clara Leneve, his typist, were accused of the murder of Belle Elmore, the former's wife, in the formal charge read to them in the Bow street police court today.

Miss Leneve was charged also with harboring and maintaining Crispin after the crime and while knowing that he committed it.

During the proceedings Inspector Dew who brought the prisoners back from Canada, introduced evidence to show that Crispin contemplated suicide while at sea following his flight from this country. Crispin was quoted also as declaring that his companion knew nothing of the trouble in which he was involved and Miss Leneve was said to have protested her innocence. There was special interest in the character of the formal charge as the warrant for the arrest of the fugitive had merely laid at their door responsibility for the death of an unknown woman whose body was found in the cellar of the Crispin home at Hilldrop Crescent. The fact that both were today accused of the murder of Belle Elmore, the actress, wife of the doctor, leads to the supposition that the mutilated body has been identified to the satisfaction of the authorities. It also suggests that the police believe they have more evidence concerning Miss Leneve's connection with the tragedy than they have made known heretofore. Today's proceedings consisted of the introduction of evidence against the accused at the conclusion of which they were remanded until Sept. 6 without having pleaded or made any commitment in reply to the charge against them.

Few persons, except those connected with the case, were admitted to the police court although a crowd assembled in the neighborhood in the hope of catching sight of the prisoners. Crispin and Miss Leneve stood together in the dock. He wore a gray frock suit while his companion was dressed in a tailor-made suit of blue.

Arthur Newton, the solicitor engaged by friends of his client, appeared for Crispin, and J. H. Welfare, retained by the girl's father, represented her. Prosecutor Travis Humphreys had charge of the case for the crown and after introducing evidence in justification of the arrests, asked that the prisoners be remanded for eight days. The prosecutor explained that the government's evidence against the typist pointed to her only as being an accessory after the fact. He said that he proposed at this time to offer only formal evidence in support of the action of the authorities in arresting and holding the accused a week, hence the prosecution would be ready to proceed with the case.

Inspector Dew briefly described the arrests on board the steamer Montrose as the vessel approached Quebec. As he took Crispin into custody the latter said: "I am not sorry. My anxiety has been too much."

Dew said that he told Crispin that he must put him in handcuffs, "as you have written that you intended jumping overboard."

To this Crispin replied: "I will not do that. My anxiety has been awful."

Explaining his position that his prisoner had threatened suicide the detective presented to the court a business card on one side of which were the words: "P. Robinson & Co., Michigan." Presented by John E. Robinson.

This card was found among Crispin's effects and on the back of it apparently in the doctor's handwriting was the following:

"I cannot stand the horror I go through every night any longer and I see nothing bright ahead and my journey is coming to an end. I have made up my mind to jump overboard tonight. I know I have spoiled our lives but some day you may learn to forgive me. My last words are of love."

Dew also introduced a torn piece of card on which Crispin had written this question:

"Shall we wait until tonight about 10 or 11? If not what time?"

Asking after Miss Leneve, Crispin said to the inspector.

"I will do all I can for her. It is only fair to say that 'she knows nothing about it. I never told her anything.'"

The witness said that in conversing with Captain Kendall of the Montrose Miss Leneve remarked that she had not seen a newspaper since she left London and referring to the murder mystery added:

"I know nothing about it."

"I assure you I know nothing about it. I intended to write my sister when I got to Quebec."

When the warrant was read on shipboard Miss Leneve wept and, becoming greatly agitated, fainted. Dew concluded his testimony by repeating a conversation which he had with Crispin while the latter was exercising on the deck of the steamer. Megantic during the return to Liverpool on Aug. 24.

Crispin said:

"I want to ask a favor of you, but I will leave it until Friday."

Friday was the day preceding the arrival of the vessel at Liverpool.

The inspector replied:

"As well now as Friday."

Crispin then said:

"When you took me off the ship (at Quebec) I did not see Miss Leneve. I do not know how things will go. They may go all right; they may go all wrong. I may never see her again and I want to ask you to let me see her. I won't speak to her. She has been my only comfort for the last three years."

Crispin was allowed to see his companion.

At this point Solicitor Newton questioned the witness and drew out the statement that his client had through-out been perfectly calm and collected and had given no trouble to those who had him in custody. The lawyers for the defense have reserved further cross examination till Sept. 6 until such date they consented that the prisoners be remanded without having pleaded. Neither Newton or Welfare made any comment on the charge or evidence.

On leaving the dock Crispin stood back to allow Miss Leneve to pass out before him.

Everybody in St. Mary's parish who was able to be out, together with a host of friends from Dracut and from Lowell, was present Saturday at the lawn party given by the parishioners of St. Mary's in aid of the new, but growing parish of Collinsville. From the size of the crowd, the elaborateness of the appointments and the multiplicity of attractions offered at the lawn party one would think that some big city parish was conducting the affair instead of a small country community. But St. Mary's parish makes up in enthusiasm for what it lacks in numbers and with such hustlers at the helm as Rev. Thomas Walsh, pastor, School Committeeman Bernard J. Maguire, Town Clerk John W. Brennan and others it was not to be wondered at ed by Miss Annie Harrington. Fish pond: Miss Nellie Fogarty and Miss Nellie Mahoney.

Dancing: Patrick Silk in charge, assisted by Patrick Meade and Edward Brennan.

Candy table: Josephine Whelton, Stella Mooney, Mary Collins.

Lemonade table: Mrs. Hannah Shelly, Mrs. James Harrison, Mrs. James Brennan.

Committee on sports: John Shelly, J. J. Sullivan, George Fogarty.

Committee on illuminations: J. J. Sullivan, Thomas Horman.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Henry Farrell, 17 years old, of 436 West Forty-second street and Arthur Hirschberg, 18 years old, of 155 West Forty-second street, were arraigned in the Yorkville police court yesterday on a charge of stealing $400 worth of United Cigar store coupons. They were arrested at Third avenue and Twenty-ninth street on Saturday night by Policeman Healey who saw them trying to dispose of $400 of these coupons in a pawnshop.

On information obtained from the prisoners the policeman recovered 17,000 more of the coupons the young men had in a room on Tenth avenue. It was charged that they took 20,000 from a wagon in Brooklyn.

Magistrate O'Connor said he had no jurisdiction, as the offense was committed in Brooklyn. Two Brooklyn detectives were sent for and on their arrival the magistrate discharged the prisoners, greatly to the satisfaction of their lawyer.

When they reached the sidewalk the Brooklyn police re-arrested the young men and much to the surprise and indignation of their lawyer took them to Brooklyn. They were arraigned in that borough this morning.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Opened the Ohio Valley Exposition

BEVERLY, Aug. 28.—At the Myopia Hunt club, where he golfs every morning, President Taft presided at a chautau opening the Ohio valley exposition at Cincinnati. He also sent over the wire the following message:

"Robert R. Reynolds, 'President, Ohio Valley Exposition Co., Cincinnati, O.

"I congratulate you on the opening of your exposition and I sincerely hope that it will be successful in all its purposes. Everyone who is familiar with the facts rejoices in the emphasis that it gives to the Ohio river improvement. That improvement more than any other that I know of typifies the kind of waterways development that we ought to have in this country. The traffic is there, the plans have been made, the enterprise has been approved by a skilled board of engineers, the money cost is known exactly and the time in which it can be completed has been fixed. Congress is pledged to the work on the Ohio is assured."

(Signed) "William H. Taft."

Among the president's callers this afternoon will be Juan Sumulong, a member of the Philippine commission and John F. O'Rourke, a constructing engineer of New York. Mr. O'Rourke has a new plan for raising the battleship Maine which he will submit to the president. Mr. Sumulong is returning to his duties in the Philippines.

SKULL CRUSHED

Man Mangled by Runaway Horse

BROCKTON, Aug. 28.—W. Scott Flanders of Campbell was terribly mangled by a runaway horse on Main street this morning when the animal threw him from a lumber team and as he lay with a fractured skull on the curb nearly kicked off his foot at the ankle. As soon as assistance could be obtained, Flanders was removed from under the feet of the animal and rushed to the hospital, where he hovered between life and death.

CABLE REPAIRED

It Was Out of Commission Two Days

VINEYARD HAVEN, Aug. 28.—After having been out of telephone communication for two days, the telephone cable across Vineyard sound which was broken Saturday probably by the surge in tow of the tug Mary F. Scully has been repaired and the long distance service was resumed today. The break was not located until noon yesterday and since then the company's men have been at work splicing the wires. The work was not completed until nearly dawn today.

THE KINGDOM WRECKED

YARMOUTH, N. S., Aug. 28.—There has been no communication received at noon today from Mid Island where the Barkentine Kingdom of the Holy Ghost and his society is wrecked. Several tugs left today for the scene of the wreck.

THE NEW BEDFORD STRIKE

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 29.—H. P. Converse & Co., contractors for the Union Street Railway Co.'s new car barn at Weld street and the master builders, who have felt the strike of the building laborers and the sympathetic idleness of the bricklayers most seriously during the past two weeks, imported 41 non-union workmen this morning. The majority were associated bricklayers and the rest non-union laborers. Mr. Converse's foreman of the bricklayers refused to boss the non-union men and left his job. Part of the imported laborers, learning that a strike will be in progress, refused to go to work. At the Bowditch schoolhouse and at the storage company's warehouse on Sawyer street a few bricklayers went back to work this morning. Otherwise the situation is practically unchanged, most of the jobs have anywhere from a quarter of their full force to the full number of workmen. The strikers have decided to ask the intervention of the state board of arbitration.

GAMBLING IS CHARGED

WAKEFIELD, R. I., Aug. 29.—The warrant on which William Arnold, vice president of the Narragansett club, was arrested by Constable John G. Cross charging him with maintaining a gambling place was found sufficient by Judge Lewis in the district court here today. The demurrer which Arnold's entered was declared insufficient and the case was assigned for trial on September 12. The proceedings were the result of the raid which Cross made on the club at Narragansett Pier in which he says he found about 60 prominent people gambling.

Phillip S. Randolph, Robert E. Strawbridge and Robert M. Boplin, the three Philadelphia men whom Cross had summoned at the polo field last Thursday were called as witnesses.

THREE KILLED IN RIOT

BROOKS, Ga., Aug. 29.—A ball game between negro clubs for the championship of Fayette county yesterday afternoon broke up in a riot in the ninth inning.

Three ball players are dead, three are probably fatally injured and several are less seriously hurt.

The dead are Kid Iverson, Jim Barrett and Harvey Mayes, members of the Brooks team, which was opposing the Hartford team.

Pistols, knives and ball bats were used in the riot, scores of spectators taking sides with the rival teams.

The riot was caused by a close decision of Empire Smith in the ninth which allowed the Brooks team to score the winning run. Members of the Hartford team and their friends at once moved on the umpire, who was protected by the Brooks team.

Although all the fighting raged about the umpire he escaped without injury.

LOWELL BOYS

Members of Corn and Potato Club

To create a desire for agriculture among school children there has been organized what is known as the Corn and Potato club and the result is that 5000 boys and girls are raising potatoes and 4000 are raising corn.

Arthur K. Whitcomb, superintendent of schools in Lowell, received a letter some time ago, from William R. Hart, A. M., of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, advising him of the club and its mission and he asked the cooperation of the superintendent in having the matter brought before the school children in this city.

Mr. Whitcomb complied with the request and two boys, John Riordan, of 18 Charles street, and Albert P. Carlisle, of 12 Carlisle street, expressed a desire to join the club. Mr. Whitcomb wrote again to Mr. Hart and gave him the names of the two Lowell boys who were desirous of doing a little planting.

Mr. Hart said he would send seed potatoes to the boys, but what luck the boys had Mr. Whitcomb does not know as they have not reported any further in the matter.

The affair took on the form of a juvenile contest and results will be made known at the Amherst Fair to be held Sept. 20. Mr. Hart stated in his letter to Mr. Whitcomb that about 100 towns are represented in the Corn and Potato club.

SHOT HERSELF

After Her Husband Had Left Her

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Just after her husband left her in a room in a boarding house in Brooklyn today Mrs. Bladec Troy, 29 years old, wife of William Troy, shot herself in the breast with a revolver and died almost instantly. She had been suffering from moroseness, according to her husband, who said she was an author and known in England as Hilde Lee Laurence. She was born in Lancashire. They had a misunderstanding over the children in the morning.

THE LID IS ON

All is Quiet at Coney Island

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The lid has been clamped down hard on Coney Island and the police today are being instructed to close up all the undesirable resorts at the island. Today Police Commissioner Baker reduced Police Inspector O'Brien and sent Inspector Russell of the detective bureau to clean up the place.

that the affair was a complete social and financial success.

The lawn party was held on the large grounds, which a suburban night call a meadow adjoining church property, and the afternoon program included a ball game between the O. M. L. Cadets and the Brookside of the Lowell & Suburban league. Although this game was a "picnic" game, it was nevertheless a regularly scheduled league game with the regular teams and it was of such absorbing interest that a program of general sports planned by the committee, in charge was passed up in order that all might enjoy the pleasures of the game.

The game made the eighth successive win for the Cadets, and makes them the strong Wanderers for the leadership of the league. The score by innings:

Cadets . . . 0 0 2 1 0 0 2 8-6
Brookside's 1 0 0 0 2 0 1 0 1-5

Batteries—Cadets: Condon and Clark; Brookside's: Campbell and Burke. Umpire—Meade.

The game lasted well into the evening and at its conclusion supper was served to a large and merry party.

Around the grounds were many gaily decorated booths which did a land office business all afternoon and evening. A fortune teller's camp, presided over by Misses Catherine Culbeck and Bridget Sullivan, was most liberally patronized and, according to the seerss, Mr. Walsh will be kept busy for the next year, barring Lent and Advent, administering one of the sacraments which brings joy not only to all who receive it but to their friends.

They told Barney Maguire that he was to be selected next year, and it is also understood that they told the same thing to Martin Banks, Frank Cullinan and some 10 others, although the law calls for only three.

In the evening the grounds and the booths presented a most attractive appearance under the glow of several arc lights and a large number of fantastic Japanese lanterns most artistically arranged. On a raised platform dancing was enjoyed until midnight to the music of Hodgman's orchestra, when the pleasant affair was brought to a close.

A most profitable feature of the affair consisted of the auto rides from the grounds to Lakeside and return, which were most liberally patronized throughout the day and evening. There were four big autos in the run, all controlled, and the contributors were Messrs. B. I. Rollins and Frank Dickson of Collinsville and Dan Sullivan and B. J. Callahan of Lowell.

Mr. Sullivan is one of the originators of this popular feature of such events, having made his first appearance at the Y. M. C. I. lawn party and later at the Inmaculate Conception lawn party. The idea was first put into practice at the Fete Champetre of the French-American Orphanage and has proved to be a grand success on all occasions.

Three names that stand out prominently in the success of the affair are those of Father Walsh, Town Clerk Brennan and School Committeeman Maguire. They had able assistance and those in charge were as follows:

General Manager John J. Brennan; Chairman of the committee of parishioners Bernard J. Maguire.

Refreshment table: Mrs. J. C. Mahoney, waitress; Mrs. Patrick Silk, assistant; Mrs. Henry Burke, Mrs. John Brennan, Mrs. William Whelton, Mrs. Hugh McAnispe, Mrs. George Holland, Mrs. Thomas Spillman, Mrs. J. J. Rich, Mrs. John Madden, Mrs. P. J. McNamara, Mrs. Lawrence Brennan, Mrs. John McDonnell, Mrs. Frank Callahan, Mrs. Patrick Coleman, Mrs. Thomas McNamara.

Table: Frank Cullinan, assisted by John McDonnell.

Post office: Miss Mary Burke assisted.

LATEST PRESIDENT TAFT

Was Held Up by Police Officer Charlie Hamilton

President William Howard Taft was "held up" near the Pawtucket bridge in this city about 3:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but the affair did not prove to be a serious one for the "hold up" man was Patrolman Charles A. Hamilton, who keeps tabs on autoists who attempt to exceed the speed limit while passing through his territory.

Charlie did not know that the president was going to pass through this city and when he saw a big car coming down School street and cross the bridge he held up his hand and the car containing the president and his party came to a stop. The patrolman informed the driver that he was traveling a trifle too fast and after enlightening him with the speed laws cautioned the chauffeur to go at a slower speed through the congested districts. The president said that the machine would not be driven at a faster rate than the law allowed and with a wave of his hand and a smile he thanked Charlie. It was not until later in the afternoon that he learned that he had stopped the president's car.

Patrolman Hamilton is noted for the vigilance and good judgment he exercises in dealing with speeding autoists. Last spring when the famous car which won the New York to Paris race came to this city, George Schuster, who drove the car around the world in the big contest, invited Mayor McLean and the automobile editor of The Sun to take a ride. Schuster was pushing his car through upper Merrimack street at a rate of speed which was in excess of the speed limit down by law. Patrolman Hamilton was walking through Pawtucket street at the time and hearing the loud roar of the engine and the exhaust felt that a car was racing through the street and rushing to the corner started to stop the machine but when he saw the mayor in the front seat he allowed the car to pass.

VESSEL ON FIRE

The Crew Prepared to Abandon the Craft

CHATHAM, Aug. 29.—A lime-laden schooner, Ada Ames bound from Rockland, Me., for New York, opened her seams when she struck on Shoveluff shoal this afternoon and although she worked free within a few moments the water which leaked in, blacked the limo and the vessel caught fire. No signals of distress were displayed but observers on shore could see the crew apparently preparing to abandon the craft. Captain Kelley and his crew of life-savers from the Monomoy Point station put out in their lifeboat to render assistance.

The Ada Ames sailed from Rockland on Aug. 26 for New York. When the vessel was passing Monomoy Point about 1 p.m. today she ran on to the Shoveluff shoal. She worked clear within a few moments but almost immediately shore observers could see dense volumes of smoke pouring out of the after compartment while the members of the crew were hard at work placing their belongings in the schooner's small boats preparatory to abandoning the craft.

The Ada Ames was built at Rockland, Me., the port from which she sailed in 1900. She registers 163 tons net, 120 feet long, 27½ feet beam, and carries five men in her crew.

THE GRAND JURY BANK SHORTAGE

To Take up Hartridge Case Is Estimated at About $250,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—In compliance with the remarks made by Judge Holt last April when a jury in the United States circuit court returned a verdict for Mrs. Copley Thaw, the defendant in the suit instituted by Lawyer Clifford W. Hartridge, to recover $92,000 for counsel fees and disbursements in connection with the first trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White, the grand jury will tomorrow take up the matter of Hartridge disbursements.

TWO ARMORED CRUISERS

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 29.—The armored cruisers North Carolina and Montana steamed to Newport this afternoon to coal.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 29.—The estimated shortage of Richmond H. Ingerson, former treasurer of the closed York County Savings bank, is a quarter of a million dollars. It had been predicted that the loss would not exceed $100,000.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—William Chamberlain was held without bail in the municipal court today to await a grand jury investigation of the death yesterday of Donald McKenzie, employed in a stable in Brighton with Chamberlain. The police believe that the two men quarreled and that McKenzie was killed by a pitch fork.

DEATHS

HALL.—Mrs. Almira A. Hall died on Saturday at her home in Concord, N. H., aged 61 years. Besides her husband, she leaves three brothers and three sisters, A. J. Gustin of Stowa, A. T. Gustin of South Lancaster, A. P. Gustin of this city, Mrs. G. W. Rand of Dracut, and Mrs. M. A. Fox and Mrs. John S. Bennett of this city.

GEORGE.—The many friends of Miss Alice M. George will be pained to learn of her death at the Lowell General hospital Saturday night after a short illness. Miss George was well known in Lowell, having conducted a boarding house in Kirk street until last spring. She leaves her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Michael George of Bennington, N. H., two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Smith of Andover, N. H., and Mrs. Emma Holt of Framingham, N. H., and three brothers, Henry A. George of Bennington, N. H., Edward E. of Andover, N. H., and Alonzo C. of Granville, N. Y.

LITTLE.—Florence R. Little, daughter of James and Annie Little, died yesterday morning at the Lowell General hospital, aged 10 months and 16 days. The body was removed to the home of her parents, 32 Waugh street.

DAY.—Samuel Day, one of Dracut's oldest residents, died Sunday afternoon at his home, 413 Mammoth road. Dracut, aged 81 years, 5 months and 25 days. He leaves one son, Charles E. Day, and a daughter, Mrs. George Head. The body was taken to the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & sons.

DOYLE.—Cornelius F. Doyle, aged 32 years, a well known young resident of St. Patrick's parish, died early this morning at his home, 83 Claret street. He is survived by his parents, John and Ann Doyle, four sisters, Misses Catherine A. Margaret E. Mary D. Doyle, and Mrs. William Kiernan, and two brothers, James L. and John J. Doyle. He was a native of Lowell and was educated in St. Patrick's parochial school. After graduating from this institution he entered the employ of Edward J. Cryan, who conducts a store in Dutton street, and remained there quite a few years. He then engaged in the wholesale confectionery business for himself and was most successful from the start. He was a young man who made friends of everyone with whom he came in contact, being possessed of a disposition that attracted people to him. His family has the sympathy of their many acquaintances and friends in their sad bereavement.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 29.—W. R. Perkins, a wealthy feed dealer and a former member of the board of education; his wife and daughter Grace and James Knapp, all of this city, were injured when an automobile in which they were riding turned turtle. The accident occurred at Dead Horse curve, on the road leading from Walden to Wallkill, yesterday afternoon. In the car also was Miss Helen Perkins, another daughter of Mr. Perkins, who was the only one who escaped injury.

Mr. Perkins was driving the car, just as the machine was rounding the dangerous bend in the road known as Dead Horse curve the auto became unmanageable. Swerving to the left side of the road the car tumbled down an embankment, throwing the occupants into a ditch. Luckily they all fell clear of the overturned car. Mr. Perkins' right arm was fractured in three places. Drs. Washburn and Hartman reduced the fractures. A splinter was driven into Mrs. Perkins' arm and an operation was necessary to remove the piece of wood. She was also bruised and badly shaken up. Miss Grace Perkins sustained a bad cut on the chin and James Knapp was cut and bruised about the body and head. The auto was damaged,

TENEMENT WRECKED

Some Occupants Had to Jump to Save Their Lives

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A fire supposed to have been the result of the explosion of leaking gas started in a shoe shop on the ground floor of a five-story tenement at 364 East Fifty-fifth street a few minutes before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and jumped up the shaft of the stairway with such rapidity that the few occupants of the building who were not away for a Sunday outing escaped with their lives only by the quickest work. Two men and a woman were so seriously burned before they could get out that they had to be removed to Flower hospital.

An Italian named Manistera, who runs the shoe shop on the ground floor in the west half of the building, left his place about fifteen minutes to 2 for an afternoon's excursion with his wife. On the other side of the building Mrs. Josephine Smith keeps a stationery shop and she and her son were sitting in the doorway. Five minutes later there came an explosion from within the boot shop. They rushed to the street and then there was another loud noise and the plate windows of the boot shop fell outward toward the street, followed by a rush of smoke and flame.

Mrs. Timothy O'Brien and her husband were sitting by the window of their apartment on the third floor watching for their son, who is a policeman, when they heard the explosion. They ran to the stairway. The flames jumped up the shaft and drove them into the kitchen. Mr. O'Brien went out on the fire escape and started to go down first so as to be able to catch his wife if she fell. She was on the grating when the flames were coming out of the window directly behind her. She screamed to her husband and jumped, landing on the roof of an ash house. She suffered from shock but was not hurt otherwise.

On the floor above Richard Prociack, who is a night watchman at the Hoffman Brewery, was asleep in his apartment. His wife, his 23 year old daughter Kate and a porter named Timothy O'Keefe, who dokars with them, were sitting in the front room. All were hurt and burned. The Prociacks crowded out upon the fire escapes, and being cut off by the flames made their way to the roof. They escaped by jumping to the roof of the next building, a jump of more than 20 feet. O'Keefe fractured some bones in his hand, while the two women were burned. Mrs. Prociack's more severely. Prociack was taken from the roof by the firemen. His face, hands and arms were badly charred and he was burned about the back and legs.

When the firemen arrived the centre of the tenement house was roaring. They worked with ladders first to make sure everyone was out. Prociack was the last in the building.

The damage, which amounted to about $2000, was mostly in the work-room about the stairway and the part of each apartment nearest thereto. The firemen said they thought the fire was started by gas leakage. The occupants of three out of the five upper apartments were away. The injured ones will probably live.

DROWNED BY HIS FISHLINE

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Antonio Spasia, an Italian clerk, living at 294 Elizabeth street, was drowned off the Steeplechase pier at Coney Island, late yesterday afternoon while fishing. His line became tangled with that of his friend, Edward Coyne of 217 Pearl street, Brooklyn, and drifting under the pier got caught.

Spasia climbed over the railing to free the lines and lost his balance. It is believed that he must have hit something beneath the surface of the water, for he did not reappear.

CAUGHT WITH A STOLEN AUTO

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Adam Schaeffer of 759 Courtlandt avenue, a twenty-one-year-old watchman employed in the Sultan Motor company's garage at 338 West Forty-ninth street, after his night's work was over yesterday morning took a car out of the garage and gave several friends an outing. The car belonged to the Otis Elevator company. Harry M. Billings, superintendent of the garage, missed the car and had an alarm sent out for it by the police.

At about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Schaeffer on his way down Lexington avenue at 114th street collided with a Lexington avenue car. The trolley car wasn't damaged, but the automobile was banged up quite a bit. Policeman Rieghman of the East 104th street station recognized the number of the car as that of the missing machine for which an alarm was out, and Schaeffer admitted that he had taken it out without getting anybody's consent. He was locked up on a charge of grand larceny under the new law.

SPAULDING SHOP

Employees Held Outing at Nabnasset Grove

The annual outing of the employees of the L. H. Spaulding Shoe company of this city was held at Nabnasset grove Saturday and was one of the most enjoyable employees' outings on record. The employees assembled at the factory in Rock street at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and at 9 o'clock special electric trolleys to Nabnasset from the corner of Rock and Fletcher streets.

Upon arrival at the grounds all repaired to the ball grounds, where a ball game between two teams consisting of the married and single men took place, the prize being a box of 7-29's. The game proved to be most interesting, the married men winning by a score of 6 to 4. Mr. Austin was the umpire, and there wasn't a single kick throughout the game. The teams lined up as follows:

Married Men—Ducharme c. Barry p. Atkinson 1b. Chase 2b. Emery 3b. Germain ss. Dunn lf. Morrisette cf. Fred Duchesne rf.

Single Men—Sabre c. Dyer p. Gillespie 1b. Quinn 2b. Phil 3b. Tremblay ss. Jerry ss. Tremblay lf. Mooney lf. McCarthy cf. Leclerc rf.

After the game the program of sports was run off. There were so many entries in the 100 yard dash that trial heats were necessary. The race was won as follows: First prize, A. Ducharme 10½ seconds; second, P. E. Atkinson. Mr. Dunn refereed.

After the 100 yard dash, an intermission was taken and dinner was served from 12:30 until 2. Then followed a long list of races which resulted as follows:

Three legged race—Referee Mr. Emery—First prize, Ducharme and Atkinson; second, McCarthy and Pallester. Flat girls' race, referee, Mr. Dunn, won by Mrs. G. Crawford. Boys' 100 yards dash, referee Mr. Emery, won by A. Dyer. Girls' lemon race, Mr. Dunn, referee, won by May Silva. Running high jump, referee, Mr. Chase, won by Atkinson with Lawson, second. Running broad jump, referee, Mr. Chase, Atkinson, first. Ducharme, 2nd. Boys' 100 yard dash, referee, Mr. Dunn, May Silva, 1st; Alice Clemons, 2d, bop, step and jump, referee, Mr. Chase, Mich. Coml. 1st: Phil Desrosiers, 2nd. Boys' shoe race, referee, Mr. Chase, C. Atkinson, 1st; Atkinson, 2nd. Boys' swimming race, referee, Mr. Emery, H. Boisvert, 1st; P. Gillespie, 2d.

After the sports an intermission was taken for supper and in the evening dancing was enjoyed in the pavilion until 10 o'clock when special cars were taken for home. During the day J. A. Austin had occasion to demonstrate his ability as a fisherman getting 58 perch and the fine bass during the afternoon. The starter of all races was Mr. Austin who worked like a Trojan all day. The committee in charge of the outing consisted of Messrs. Daniel Dunn, Austin Emery and Atkinson and Misses Benoit, Clemons and Dufresne.

IN HARD LUCK

Lowell Shut Out by Lynn on Saturday

Over 300 loyal rooters from Lowell went to Lynn Saturday and saw Lowell lose a game through the umpire, M. O'Brien. Of course Lynn rooters will say "When you lose, blame it on the umpire," but here was a case when the umpire was really at fault.

The disappointment of defeat, however, was more than made up for by the knowledge of the fact that by reason of Fall River losing a double-header we stepped into the first division, where we hope to remain until the season closes.

It was hard luck for Lowell all through but the Lowell fans who saw the game know what happened and don't blame the team for losing. Here's what O'Brien did to Lowell: Blakely was on second and Fitz on first. Pitcher Buzick made motion as if to pitch and then wheeled around and after feinting to throw to second turned suddenly and threw to the plate. The turn sent Blakely back to second hence he was not prepared to run on O'Brien's hint as per signal. Conney bunted and Blakely was caught off third. It was a balk but O'Brien wouldn't allow it. It was Lowell's chance to score.

Lynn scored two runs in the third inning, one of which was due to a muff of an easy one by Tenney, and the other to a cutter's fly which went into right field between the two-bagger and which on an ordinary ground would have been a cinch for Fitzgarry.

Both teams played snappy ball, both pitchers compelling their fielders to do a lot of hard work. Lowell hit Buzick, late of the Boston Americans, hard but into the hands of the fielders.

DIAMOND NOTES

At Worcester today.

Only two weeks more of N. E. baseball.

And when we were up, we were up. And when we were down we were down. But now we're in the middle, and O'Brien wears a crown.

Buzick Balked, O'Brien Overlooked it, and we lost the game at Lynn.

At last things are coming our way. We lose and yet we advance to Division 1.

Just one year ago we were decorating the last place in the standing.

Buzick thought he had struck the big league prematurely when Fitzgarry threw him out at first Saturday. Buzick hit a line drive to right field and Fitzgarry fielded the ball quickly and by a perfect throw nailed Buzick at first.

Brockton will play here Wednesday and Lynn Saturday. The Lowell Americans and Senectary Choir will play for a purse of $100 prior to the league game.

Over three hundred Lowell fans including many ladies attended the game at Lynn Saturday.

We won five out of the last seven games.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Saturday's results in the Stony Brook league were:
Crescents 8, North Chelmsford 2.
Pawtucket Blues 9, West Chelmsford 6.

PRESIDENT'S CUP

T. F. KELLY QUALIFIES AS ONE OF THE CONTESTANTS

The qualifying round for the president's cup attracted many to the golf links at Long Meadow Saturday afternoon. Eleven cards were turned in. T. F. Kelly with a net score of 60 being high man. The other three who have qualified are H. W. Gleason, C. L. Marren and P. Stuart. The quartet will play on for the cup the first week in September.

The scores in Saturday's contest were as follows:

	Gross	Net
T. F. Kelly	67	60
A. T. Safford	69	64
C. L. Knappe	72	68
J. G. Hill	83	75

PERSONALS

The friends of Jack Manchester, the popular vocalist at Willow Dale, will hold a testimonial dance for his benefit at Willow Dale (tomorrow evening).

Mrs. C. K. Bunker of 11 Mechanic street, Manchester, N. H., gave a birthday party Friday evening at her home in honor of the 17th anniversary of her niece, Miss Bessie Rowell, of this city, who is visiting her. Miss Rowell received a number of gifts that proved pleasant reminders of the day. There were present about 14, including relatives and neighbors. Mrs. Bunker was assisted by Mrs. Marlin C. Rowell of Lowell, mother of Miss Rowell, by her sister, Mrs. Edward C. Gould, and Mrs. Thomas Slattery and Mrs. Robert McGreggor.

Dr. Schuyler R. Waller will spend the next two weeks camping in the Adirondack mountains.

Seventeen members of the High Street Congregational church went to Lexington yesterday morning to the Congregational church there to hear Rev. Charles W. Huntington, D. D., formerly pastor of High Street church. Dr. Huntington has been in the east on a vacation, but starts today for Toledo, Ohio, where he is now located.

Miss Sarah McGill of Chestnut square, and her sister, Mary, will spend the next two weeks in New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Finnerty and son of Pleasant street, Mr. Frank Finnerty of the Belvidere drug store, and Loretta Kelley of Mason street, are camping at Island Pond for the next two weeks.

William Murphy and George Stone leave for the Sherbrooke fair today.

William G. Simms of Haverhill, formerly of this city, visited his parents and friends Sunday.

Miss May Beane and Miss Elizabeth Dolan have returned from a three weeks' pleasant vacation at Nantasket beach. They also visited friends in Portland, Me., before their return.

Miss Lillian Shumy, soprano soloist at the Premier Scene temple.

WILL THIS TROTTER BE FIRST STALLION TO GO UNDER TWO MINUTE MARK?

Geers drove the five-year-old stallion a mile in 2:02 over a track that was slow, establishing a record for stallions. Later at the Empire track Geers drove The Harvester a mile in 2:03. This wonderful flight of speed was made without a prompter to spur him on and without a visible move on the part of Geers to drive the horse faster than he chose to trot on his own. It convinced every horseman on the quarter stretch that The Harvester is a two minute trotter. The performance was the fastest ever made by a trotter over the Empire track. The Harvester was bought as a three-year-old at Madison Square Garden for $4,000. No one but Geers has ever driven him in public or private. He has been campaigned three years and has lost but one race. J. V. Harkness of this city bred him at the Walnut Hill stud, in Kentucky. He is one of the handsomest as well as the fastest of trotting stallions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Will The Harvester, the great five-year-old trotting stallion owned by August Uhlman of Milwaukee, go under the two minute mark before the season is over? This is the main topic of conversation among the harness horsemen at present. Since the 1910 campaign opened The Harvester has been improving right along. Recently at Buffalo Ed-

Portsmouth, N. H., was visiting her home over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Burns and son, James, of 156 Pleasant street, will spend the next two weeks at Newfound lake at Hebron, N. H.

Miss Florence A. Goff of East Billerica and Swampscott is visiting Mrs. Jessie Trull of North Tewksbury for a few days.

Miss Sarah Corkey of 831 Merrimack street is spending her vacation with her cousin, Mrs. Fred Underwood of Oil City, Pa.

Mrs. William E. Hollingsworth, of upper Middlesex street and Mrs. Geo. W. Fern of Grove street have returned from Beverly, where they spent the week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ritchie.

Miss Margaret McMaster of Rolfe street will spend the remainder of her vacation at South Wilford, where she will be the guest of Miss Jessie Trueworthy of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Ames of 255 Westford street are on a six weeks' visit to Prince Edward Island, the former home of Mrs. Ames.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Potter of 384 Beacon street will spend the next two weeks at Sunapee lake, N. H.

MATCHED AGAINST MANTELL AT MANCHESTER

The terms of the match between Frank Mantell, the Pawtucket middleweight who recently returned from California, and Bill McKinnon of Boston, which is to be decided at the Coliseum at Lake Massabesic on Labor day afternoon, were announced this morning. The boys will spar 15 rounds at 145 pounds for the middleweight championship of New England. A decision must be given at the finish.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Passed Through This City On Way to Dublin, N. H.

He is to Spend a Few Days With Secretary MacVeagh—He Was Accompanied by Mrs. Taft

William H. Taft, president of the United States, passed through Lowell Saturday afternoon in an automobile, but it is doubtful if more than a dozen people recognized the chief executive of the United States as he whizzed through the streets. There were two cars in the party and the only things about the cars which might attract attention were the plates bearing the letters "U. S. S." (United States Service.)

A representative of The Sun learned that the president was on his way from Beverly to Dublin, N. H., to visit Secretary Franklin S. MacVeagh, of the president's cabinet, and was expected to pass through Merrimack square Saturday afternoon, but there was a chance that the party might take another route. The news was not made public and therefore despite the fact that the square was well filled with people very few recognized the president's party when it passed through.

It was just 3:25 o'clock when the president's official car, with President Taft and Mrs. Taft, Capt. Butts, military aid to the president, and the chauffeur passed through, while another automobile which accompanied the president was filled with other newspapermen or friends of the president.

The first intimation that The Sun reporter had of the approach of the party was when a rather novel automobile which was heard coming from the direction of East Merrimack street. A glance in that direction showed the huge front of the machine and a few seconds later the big car with its passengers, the male members of whom were attired in the regulation high brown military attire, devoid of stripes, entered the square.

The machine did not stop, but the chauffeur seemed to be in doubt as to which direction to take and was apparently about to bring his machine to a stop when one of the members of the party raised his arm and pointed straight ahead, whereupon the chauffeur removed his foot from the pedal and the big car bounded through Merrimack street and was soon lost to view. The president left the summer capital in Beverly early Saturday afternoon.

FIRE IN DRACUT

Lively Blaze at Doctor Flint's Sanatorium

Fire destroyed the one and one-half story stable in the rear of Dr. Orme A. Flint's sanatorium at the corner of Aiken and Kennebec avenues in Dracut Centre shortly after five o'clock Saturday afternoon. That the sanatoria was not burned to the ground was due to the excellent work of the members of the Dracut Centre Volunteer Fire company and the members of the Lowell fire department the latter having been summoned by telephone and a bell alarm from box 92.

When the firemen arrived on the scene the flames were shooting through the roof of the stable and it looked as though the house, with which it was connected, was also doomed. The Dracut firemen, under the direction of Capt. Dennett kept the flames wet down and the fire in the stable checked, until the Lowell department arrived, shortly after which the fire was extinguished but not before the flames had destroyed the structure and its contents.

The fire was caused by Lawrence Flint, five-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Flint, who was playing with matches in the hay loft. The little fellow upon seeing the blaze became frightened and rushing into the house notified his mother. Dr. Flint telephoned to the Dracut Centre fire company and the firemen were soon on the scene and directed by streams of water on the burning building.

The inward bound Dracut Centre car was passing about the time the fire broke out and the motorman made a quick trip to this city and notified the starter in Merrimack square who in turn notified Acting Chief Norton and the latter was about to send a portion of the apparatus to the Centre when an alarm was sounded from box 92 which is located in Bridge street near Eighteenth, and the apparatus which responds to that box went to the fire.

Fortunately there are several hydrants near the premises and but for this the sanatorium would, in all probability, have been destroyed. There were six patients in the sanatorium at the time the blaze was discovered, three of whom were unable to leave the building without assistance, but there were plenty of neighbors who were attracted to the scene and they removed the three helpless patients and carried them to a nearby house while the other inmates managed to make their escape unassisted.

As soon as the inmates had left the building those who were on the scene started removing the furniture and in a very short time nearly all of the household effects with the exception of several large pieces of furniture had been removed to the street.

Engine 3 of the local fire department attached its pipe to a hydrant in Bridge street about 200 feet beyond the Lowell line and two lines of hose were laid from the hydrant to the burning stable. The water pressure was good and after half an hour's battle with the flames the fire was under control.

The blaze was a difficult one to fight, as there were seven or eight tons of hay in the barn which made good food for the flames. Many farming implements and tools were burned. The flames wafted by the slight breeze set fire to the rear of the sanatorium.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. Clark first awoke and found the rear part of the house on fire. Both he and his wife had a narrow escape, only saving the apparel they had on. An alarm was sounded and when the house companies arrived the house was enveloped in flames.

A barn in which there were four tons of hay was saved. There was no livestock in the barn.

The loss was about $3500. Partial insurance was carried.

GUN PRACTICE

Begins at Pine Camp Today

PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 29.—A bullfeth has gone out from headquarters here that anyone visiting the camp during the artillery and machine gun practice which begins here today does so at his own personal risk. On Tuesday the camp officially closes. Already it is rapidly taking on the appearance of abandonment. On the plains below the heights are great barren stretches where lately the tents of the Massachusetts and Rhode Island troops stood. Even the framework for the mess halls had been removed. A dozen officers associated with the camp as umpires left for their posts yesterday. The Maine and Vermont troops will leave with the regulars on Tuesday. On the same day General Grant will start for New York city in an auto. The 24th infantry will probably remain for target practice and hold firing until Sept. 15.

BALLOON "BOSTON"

MADE ASCENSION AND LANDED NEAR HAVERHILL

The balloon "Boston" with J. Walter Flagg, John W. Harrington and Henry J. Murch, all of Worcester, in the basket, which ascended from the yard of the Lowell Gas Light Co. in School street Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock landed at 5:50 on the farm of Charles Dresser, three miles north of Haverhill.

The trip was an enjoyable one, and Mr. Flagg, who has qualified as an international "sky" pilot, made some atmospheric experiments while in the air at an elevation of 4200 feet, for reference with other experiments made for the flying at Atlantic during the Harvard-Boston aero meet.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT

Spoke at Frontier Celebration At Cheyenne

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 27.—Theodore Roosevelt delivered the following address here today:

"When, at the close of my hunting trip in Africa, I reached the borders of civilization, the first invitation I accepted was this, to visit the capital of Wyoming on the day when the people of the frontier came together to commemorate their achievements; I was glad it was so, because I have a peculiar feeling for the men and women of what used to be called the 'Far West,' and especially for those of the cattle country. For a number of years I lived on a ranch on the Little Missouri, sharing war and peace, good fortune and bad fortune, with my neighbors; working on the round-up, serving as delegate from the Little Missouri round-up district to the Montana Stock-growers' association, and even at times acting as deputy sheriff at my end of the country. I count those years as among the most valuable of my life, because nothing breeds such community of feeling as to work with one's fellowmen at their life-tasks, and to learn to know their feelings by actually sharing them. The man of the west, throughout the successive stages of western growth, has always been one of the two or three most typical figures—indeed, I am tempted to say, the most typical figure—in American life, and no man can really understand our country and appreciate what it really is and what it promises unless he has the fullest and closest sympathy with the ideals and aspirations of the west. The prime reason for this is to be found in the fact that the westerner is so good an American. He is an American first and foremost; for this is the great lesson, friends, that all of us need to learn and to keep, the lesson that it is unimportant whether a man lives north or south, east or west, provided he is genuinely and in good faith an American, that he feels every part of the United States as his own, and that he is honestly desirous to uphold the interests of all other Americans in whatever sections of the country they may dwell.

"A hundred years ago, when men spoke of the west they meant the country between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi. Fifty years ago the white man's west took in Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas, and then skipped across to California and Oregon. The country of the great plains and the Rockies, the country in which you, whom I am now addressing, lead your lives and do your work, has grown up within my own lifetime. I myself saw and took part in the closing years of the pioneer period, and it was my great privilege to work side by side with the pioneers—the ranchmen, the miners, the cow-punchers, the mule-skinner, the bull-whacker, who actually opened up the country. I have seen the herds and flocks of the cattlemen and sheepmen supplant the game; I have seen the fortunate movement by which the small farm has tended gradually to take the place of the great unfenced ranch. I now travel in every comfort on railways across lands which when I first rode across them, were still the home of the Indian and the buffalo; and I find cities where one can obtain not merely comfort, but luxury, in the places where thirty years ago there was not a building beyond a log hut or a dole house. The men who did this work were engaged in the final stages of conquering the continent; and it was their privilege to do one of the great works of all time, to do their part in the performance of an epic feat in the history of the progress of mankind.

"I have used the word progress. The west stands for growth, for progress. So must the whole American people stand. A great democracy must be progressive or it will soon cease to be either great or democratic; no nation, no state, no party, can stand still. It must either go forward or go backward; and it becomes useless if it goes backward. Therefore I greet you, men of the west, and I stand for progress as all men must stand who are progressive.

"The pioneers and their immediate successors won victory only by proving that they possessed the great, masterful qualities which lie at the foundation of national greatness. There are certain well-meaning men of intellectual cultivation, but lacking mental and moral robustness, who complain continually that they find American life, and especially the life of those American communities emerging from the pioneer stage, crude and without genius or beauty. Genius is a fine thing for a nation, but character is a still finer thing, and though beauty is good, strength is an even greater good.

The men who have made this great republic of the west what it is, and especially the men who have turned it to a continental commonwealth, have possessed in the highest degree the great virtues of strength, courage, energy and undaunted and unwavering resolution. Their typical leaders, of whom Abraham Lincoln, though the most exceptional, was the most typical—have possessed keen intellect, a character not merely strong but lofty, a character exalted by the fact that great power was accompanied by a high and fine determination to use this great power for the common good, for the advancement of mankind. The pioneer days are over, save in a few places; and the more complex life of today calls for a greater variety of good qualities than were needed on the frontier. There is need at present to encourage the development of new abilities which can be brought to high perfection only by a kind of training useless in pioneer times; but these new qualities can only supplement, and never supplant, the old, homely virtues: the need for the special and distinctive pioneer virtues is as great as ever. In other words, our civilization grows older and more complex, while it is true that we need to develop men whose lives are devoted wholly to the pursuit of special objects, it is yet also true that we need a greater and not a less development of the fundamental frontier virtues. These virtues include the power of self-help, together with the power of joining with others for mutual help, and what is especially important, the feeling of comradeship, of social good-fellowship. Any man who had the good fortune to live among the old frontier conditions must, in looking back, realize how vital was this feeling of general comradeship and social fellowship. There were good men and bad men in the new communities just as in the old communities, and the conditions on the frontier were such that the qualities of the good and bad alike were rather more strikingly manifest than in older communities; but among the men who tried to lead hardworking, decent lives, there was a feeling of genuine democracy, which represented an approach to the American ideal which we certainly should do everything in our power to preserve. We did not try to say that men were equal when they were not equal, but we did our best to secure something like an equality of opportunity and an equality of reward for good service; and, moreover, each man expected to be received, and, on the whole, was received, wherever he went, on the footing that his merits warranted.

"Now, so far as possible these qualities and the conditions that bring about these qualities should be kept in the great states which are growing out of the old frontier communities. We need to strive for the general social betterment of the people, as a whole, and yet to encourage individual liberty and set high reward on individual initiative up to the point where they become detrimental to the general welfare. In continually and earnestly striving for this betterment of social and economic conditions in our complex industrial civilization, we should work in the old frontier spirit of rugged strength and courage, and yet with the old frontier spirit of brotherly comradeship and goodwill. I do not mean that we should refrain from hating wrong; on the contrary, I would preach fiery wrath against wrong. But I would preach such wrath against the wrong-doer, save in those cases where his wrong-doing is due to evil moral attributes on his part, and not to a wrong or false system, of which he is almost as much the victim as the beneficiary. Sometimes a wrong represents the deliberate wickedness of the wrong-doer, in which case the remedy is to punish him; but sometimes it represents the effects of a false social system, in which case the right course is to alter what is false in the system. Both principles need to be kept in view as guides to our conduct, and it is necessary sometimes to work in accordance with one and sometimes in accordance with the other.

"Before ending I wish to say a word on something which I believe should especially interest all men who live in the open country, and especially all men who during the past thirty years have lived and worked on ranches, or have done their life-work in the wilder parts of our land, on the great plains or among the mountains. The phase of our national life in which the stockman, the mining prospector, the frontier farmer and their associates were the chief characters, was not only a very important, but also a very picturesque phase. Often such a phase passes without any great artist arising to commemorate it. The old-time backwoodsman, for instance, the man of the back country who lived in the eastern forests through which the waters ran eastward to the Atlantic and westward to the Mississippi, passed away without any painter or sculptor arising who possessed at once both the keenness of vision to see what a vital and picturesque figure the backwoodsman was, and the genius adequately to present that figure. The artists who saw the picturesque of the backwoodsman lacked the genius adequately to commemorate it; while the artists of real ability unfortunately had their eyes turned towards Europe, and lacked the robust originality—which the novelist Cooper showed—to see where their chance lay to do a great work. But in our generation, for our good fortune a great artist arose who was capable of seeing and of recording the infinite picturesqueness of the life of the plains and the Rockies. Of course I speak of Frederick Remington. He was one of those Americans who by his achievements distinctly deserved well of America. He worked with pencil, with brush, with chisel; he was both a painter and a sculptor. His pictures and his few bronzes are equally good. When my own regiment, a typically western regiment recruited mainly from the men of the great plains and the mountains, was disbanded at Montauk Point, the officers and enlisted men joined in giving me Remington's bronze Bronco Buster, a gift which I thought peculiarly appropriate coming from such a body of men. In Remington's pictures all the most vivid and characteristic features of the western pioneer life which is just closing were set forth, and he has commemorated forever the men of the plains and the mountains as they actually were. The cowboy is his favorite type, but the mining prospector, the frontier farmer, the man who guides ox-wagon or mule team, the soldier, the Indian—all appear. Now I wish very much that these men themselves would in turn provide a monument for the great artist, the sum of whose activities represents such a feature of American achievement, and, above all, represents the commemoration of some of the most interesting figures that have ever appeared on the stage of American life. A statue should be raised to Remington by some really first-class artist. Here at Cheyenne in this gathering many hundreds of the men have come together who were themselves typical leaders in, and representatives of, the very life which Remington so powerfully portrayed that it will always live. I hope that these men will join together, arrange the appointment of a committee, and start to raise funds for the erection of such a statue.

TO ADDRESS THE NATIONAL CONSERVATION CONGRESS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 29.—One of the addresses to be delivered at the second national conservation congress in St. Paul, September 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, which will come closer to the home life of every American, is that of Dr. F. F. Wesbrook, dean of the Medical school of the University of Minnesota.

"Life and Health as National Assets" is the subject to be discussed by Dr. Wesbrook. No other phase of conservation furnishes a broader field for discussion according to the officers of the congress and much that will benefit mankind is expected to come from paper to be read by Dr. Wesbrook, an authority on national vitality.

To give an idea of the scope of the question to be discussed by Dr. Wesbrook it is pointed out that the report on "National Vitality, Its Causes and Conservation," made to the national conservation commission by Irving Fisher, professor of political economy, Yale university showed:

Every day and every hour in the year about 3,000,000 persons lie dangerously ill in the United States.

Every half of this illness is preventable.

Three-fourths of tuberculosis, from which 150,000 Americans die annually, could be avoided.

If each life lost is appraised at only $1,700 and each year's average earnings for adults at only $700, the economic gain from preventing preventable disease, measured in dollars exceeds one and a half billions.

Professor Fisher's report said: "Eighteen experts in various diseases, as well as vital statisticians, have contributed data on the ratio of preventability of ninety different causes of death into which mortality may be classified. From these data it is found that 15 years at least could be added to the average human lifetime by applying the science of preventing disease. More than half of this additional life would come from the prevention of tuberculosis, typhoid and five other diseases, the prevention of which could be accomplished by purer air, water and milk. In Lawrence, Mass., after the installation of a pure water supply, the death rate from typhoid was reduced by 80 per cent. For every death thus saved from typhoid, two or three deaths are saved from other diseases."

Professor Fisher reported that the length of life is increasing wherever sanitary science and preventive medicine are applied. Statistics show that the average duration of life in India is less than 23 years; in Sweden, more than 50 years, and in Massachusetts 45 years and that in Europe it has doubled in three and one half centuries. In Massachusetts life is lengthening at the rate of 14 years per century, or about one half the rate of Germany.

COL. ROOSEVELT AS BOSS

The chief heavy attraction of the old world for several months of this year has now been transferred to the western world, and hence nobody need be astonished at earthquakes or any disturbance of that kind, for Theodore Roosevelt once again bestrides the land like a great colossus. Thankful should we be, indeed, if not like Nero of old he is liable to tip over this old world of ours and jar the music of the spheres.

There are two great imperial figures in the world's eye today, one the real emperor of a great people, the Kaiser, who says that he is a divinely selected ruler and that wholly regardless of what men say of him he goes on planning with God for the welfare, peace and prosperity of his people. The other is a man after the Kaiser's own heart, the uncrowned emperor of the United States, but yet a man who seems to feel the imperial power coursing in his veins when he tells the whole country about the things that "he" will or will not permit. He thus talks of himself as a man vested with sovereign authority whereas in reality at the present time he is a private citizen with no more right to dictate than is possessed by any other citizen however humble.

But some men assume powers that do not properly belong to them and seek high office in order to acquire the power to carry out their aims. That seems to be the possibility on which ex-President Roosevelt threatens to do certain things which at present he has not the power to do.

When approached upon whether he would be a candidate for president again in 1912, Col. Roosevelt is said to have made the statement that he would be a candidate only "if it be necessary to do so in order to carry out his policies." In his speeches on his present tour he is dealing in generalities and is specific on nothing political except the New York fight which, he says, is one against bossism. He promises to wage ruthless war on corrupt alliances between corrupt business interests and political bosses.

It seems that Col. Roosevelt thinks that there should be but one boss in the country and that he should be the one. Already he has assumed the role, and he strikes hard at the New York leaders who have attempted to repudiate his bossism and dictation. From the very nature of the man he is unable to subside into the quiescence of private life as did Harrison, Cleveland and the other illustrious ex-presidents who went back to private life without feeling that they were still under compulsion from a sort of divine inspiration to serve as the universal mentor of the nation. He has lined up with the progressives in New York, and in all probability he will later align with the insurgents in the middle west. All this would tend to strengthen him as a possible candidate in 1912. His admirers claim he would sweep the country, but 1912 is some distance off as yet, and before it arrives the people of this country will be so sick of Roosevelt that they will heartily wish that he would take another prolonged vacation in Africa or go on a hunting expedition to the South Sea Islands.

TO UTILIZE SCHOOL BUILDINGS IN VACATION

The public playground idea has been greatly developed and popularized throughout the country. The tendency in most cities is to utilize all the public playgrounds, parks and buildings as never before, for the benefit of the whole people. In most cities the school buildings are held in idleness during the summer months. Why not have them opened for the benefit of the poor children who can get no vacation, and who are at a loss for some shady place in which they can escape the intense heat of the sun, enjoy the pure air, and a reasonable amount of amusement?

There is no reason whatever why some arrangement should not be made to open these buildings during vacation for occasional lectures, amusement features and some form of manual training in which the children would take the greatest delight.

A few days ago we spoke of the vast possibilities of making the commons more serviceable and more useful to the entire community. If in addition to what can be done in that direction the school buildings should also be opened during the two months of very hot weather we believe that a vast benefit would result to the poorer classes of the community and ultimately to the entire city.

Some slight expense might be entailed in providing a director at each school, but in most cases the janitor would serve the purpose very well, and the janitors are employed during the summer with little or nothing to do. Why should they not be required to open up the schools, and allow the children of the district to come in, sit down and even enjoy themselves in some mild form of amusement? These school buildings will remain when the present generation is dead and gone, and it would not injure them in the least to allow the children to visit them several days a week during the hot weather.

With this as a beginning for the better utilization of the school buildings, we might eventually find it expedient to put in a system of shower baths for the benefit of the children, and thus enable them to cool off in the hot weather when most of them suffer from being compelled to remain about their homes in the congested districts.

It is all bosh this talk about Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston seeking the nomination for governor this fall. He has no reason to find fault with his present job which will hold him for several years yet. He is not the man to throw away a good thing for an uncertainty.

We would respectfully caution all pickpockets to keep away from Lowell so long as Martin Maher is on deck to keep track of them. He can distinguish a pickpocket as soon as he sees him in a crowd. He is also strong on locating various other descriptions of the genus crook.

SEEN AND HEARD

One who is in a position to know is authority for the statement that 8,000,000 bricks will be used in the construction of the five-story wave mill that is being built by the Massachusetts mills in East Merrimack street. The building will be the work of the outside and in will be pretty well along before the snow flies.

Listen to the plaint of one Mrs. Sarah Hunt (Christopher, grass widow of New York, who is seeking a bona fide divorce from the New York courts. "I wish I could meet some big-hearted, clear-minded man, with brains, ambition and morals. But when I look at the God-forsaken, moth-eaten, bargain-counter remnants masquerading around I feel like the farmer who, after gazing long at a camel in a circus, said: 'H—h, there ain't no such animal.'"

In a certain family in West Philadelphia there are two servant girls. Each is named Bertha. One works in the kitchen, the other "upstairs." The youthful son of the house has hit on a novel plan of identification. He suggests that the girls be known as upper and lower Bertha.—Philadelphia Times.

She walked into a shoe store and said to the polite clerk: "You may show me a pair of walking boots, No. 4. I used to wear 3's, but I go in for solid comfort now."

The clerk tried the boots, but they would not go on. "Strange," she murmured, "it must be rheumatism. Try 4's, B width. I know I can swim in them, but my feet are so tender."

While the clerk was getting them on she said: "I used to have such a beautiful foot, not small, but such a good shape. I never had a small foot, but I wore 2½ size for years, until I walked so much and grew heavier."

"Your foot is a peculiar shape; the instep is so high—that is why you require a large size," said the clerk who had no fear of Ananias before his eyes. "I've heard," she said, "that the Venus de Medeech wears No. 5, and she is a model of true proportion."

"Exactly," said the clerk, growing red in the face as he pulled and tugged to get them on. He had never heard of "de Medeech," but he was up to a trick or two himself. "After all," he said, "these are too large. You'll find the 4's just right."

He was only gone a moment, but in that time he had erased 5 B from the inside of a pair of shoes and substituted 4 B.

"There, I thought it was strange," she said, when they were on and paid for. "Why, those are just as easy as my old ones. I believe I could just as well have 3's after all."

And the young man without a conscience went back to his duties with the air of one well-satisfied with himself.

I have just read where another woman, formerly obscure outside of one particular set, has sued a wealthy man for breach of promise and the idea has occurred to me that you mustn't always suit your nose and say, "well now isn't he the old boy?" Suppose that you, Mr. Man, were left a million dollars tomorrow. Say, inside of 24 hours you'd have people that you have never heard of before in your life calling you up on the telephone and congratulating you. And the girl that one you've been trying to win out with for so long, but who seemed to prefer the man with the picture advertisement clothes—why

Valuable Advice to Sufferers From Skin Diseases.

Under no circumstances should medicated or plain soap or any preparation containing alcohol or water be used by sufferers from eczema and similar skin troubles. Those things aggravate the trouble and make it impossible for the skin to heal. The new medical compound called Cadum is the best and surest remedy as it contains neither water nor alcohol. When applied, it excludes the air and other irritating agents, stops the itching at once, and sets up the healing process immediately. Most wonderful cures are reported from all sections. Cadum is just as effective in the treatment of psoriasis, ringworm, pimples, blisters, rash, eruptions, chafes, itching piles, rough scaly skin, sores, acne, herpes, etc. 10c and 25c. All druggists.

ANN

Ann, Ann, how old is Ann? Tell me, if you can, for no matter how I cut, I can't find how old she is.

Ann has such bewitching ways. That she keeps me in a daze; Still, her age I'd like to know; At least, within a year or so.

Ann is such a pretty girl! She sets my senses in a whirl. Everything goes whir and whiz—I wish I knew how old she is!

Ann is dainty, Ann is sweet, Ann could make my joy complete; Still, I think that it is sage To attempt to learn her age.

But my efforts always fail, Inquiries do not avail, Folks won't tell me, if they can, When I ask: "How old is Ann?"

Never mind, she shall be mine, Even though she's twenty-nine. Old or young, I'm not afraid! Ann shall not be an old maid!

COL. ROOSEVELT WILL HAVE HIS STRENUOUSITY TESTED

SAINT PAUL, Minn., Aug. 29.—The strenuousness of Theodore Roosevelt will be tested in Saint Paul, September 6, when he comes here to address the national conservation congress.

The speed laws are to be broken on the automobile trip from Minneapolis to Saint Paul and there will be a number of receptions, speeches, meals and rides that promise to test the metal of the great lion hunter.

When the colonel gets into Minneapolis from Fargo, N. D., on the morning of the 6th of September he will be met by the usual committee that greet distinguished visitors to every city. He will be taken to the hotel for breakfast, after which there's to be another informal reception. Then he will be placed in Louis Hill's 90 horse-power auto and it is planned that the 7-mi mile trip will be made in about 12 minutes. The machine can make it faster if Roosevelt doesn't mind.

There will be soldiers and police along the line between the two cities to warn drivers of other vehicles of the approach of the flyer.

When the colonel gets to Saint Paul, a city with which he is perfectly familiar and for which he has spoken his admiration, he will be taken to his suite in the new St. Paul Hotel. Here, after he has brushed off some of the dust, he will meet some old friends. Then he goes to the auditorium to address the conservation congress. This will take more than an hour. Back to the hotel he goes and there'll be another reception, this time the Original Roosevelt club, Saint Paul organization, will call at the hotel on horseback and in rough rider uniform. They'll give the colonel the cowboy salutes. Then comes luncheon.

Afternoon program includes a trip to the river, fair grounds on the western outskirts of Saint Paul; a speech before thousands in the grand stand; another fast ride back to the city to the home of Frank Kellogg; the Roosevelt "trust busting" where the colonel will enjoy the first rest of the day. The evening program includes a dinner given by Col. Brodie, an old Rough Rider and friend of the former president and possibly a banquet.

ON LOWER SCALE

JULY MOVEMENTS OF MEATS AND FOOD ANIMALS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Receipts of live stock during July at seven primary interior markets, 2,295,655 head, were on a lower scale than during the preceding month, though comparing favorably with like receipts during July, 1909 and 1908, when 2,588,311 and 2,574,093 head were reported. Of the total for the month 688,759 head were cattle; 93,499 head calves, 1,234,021 head hogs; 184,310 head sheep, and 18,076 head horses and mules. The increase in the commercial supply for the month of cattle and sheep is more than counterbalanced by the shortage in the arrival of hogs, the July figures for the current year falling about 18 per cent below the corresponding average for the preceding five year period. The loss is, however, compensated to some extent by the greater weight of the hogs brought to market. The seven months' arrivals of live stock totaled 15,362,431 head, compared with 17,770,036 head for the corresponding 1909, and 23,694,455 head for the corresponding 1908 periods, the loss being due almost entirely to the smaller number of hogs received at the principal packing centres. The shortage at all the seven markets exceeded 24 per cent when compared with the seven months' average for the five preceding years; in the case of Chicago, it ran as high as 30 per cent, and in the case of Kansas City not less than 25 per cent. Other noteworthy features of this year's commercial live stock movement are the increasing number of calves and the smaller average weight of cattle marketed.

A similar decline may be noted in the monthly arrivals of live stock at the four leading Atlantic seacoast cities. The July total, 650,637 head, falling 20 per cent below the figure for the preceding month and comparing unfavorably with the corresponding 1909 and 1908 figures of 744,770 and 710,370 head. The loss appears heaviest in the case of hogs, though cattle and calves also show great diminution as compared with the figures for the preceding months and the corresponding figures of the two preceding years. The seven months' arrivals of leading food animals at these same cities totaled 4,515,837 head for the present year, compared with 5,201,850 and 5,616,065 head received during the seven months of 1909 and 1908. With the exception of calves, all classes of animals show losses, particularly heavy in the case of hogs. Inasmuch as the foreign shipments from these ports constituted but a very small proportion of the animals raised, the decline in the receipts of live animals coupled with the decreased receipts of dressed meats must have resulted in a smaller consumption of meat at the large city centres of the eastern seaboard.

The July shipments of packing house products from Chicago, 162,937,400 pounds, fell likewise below the July figures, which were the heaviest monthly shipments for the year. As compared with the average July shipments for the preceding five year period, a decline of 16 per cent is shown. The seven months' total, 1,156,941,375 pounds, is about 15 per cent below the corresponding five year average, the losses affecting all important items, including fresh beef, cured meats and lard. The quantity of canned meats shipped during the seven months of the present year constitutes but 40 per cent of the total reported for the same period in 1906, when the decline in the shipments of this article started.

The stocks of meat on the last day of the month at five principal packing centres, 187,329,822 pounds, decreased about 10 million pounds since the end of June and were one-third less than the average for the same date in the five preceding years.

The foreign trade in live animals and meat products show an even more unfavorable development. Thus cattle exports which for the seven months of 1906 were 338,711 head, valued at about 2½ million dollars, have fallen to 58,123 in number, valued at 4.3 million dollars. The seven months' exports of fresh beef declined from 150,127,319 pounds in 1906 to 26,268,738 pounds; those of bacon, from 230,869,737 pounds to 59,865,826 pounds; those of ham and shoulders, from 113,275,861 pounds to 78,870,546 pounds; and those of lard from 423,761,950 pounds to 216,403,200 pounds. The relative loss of the foreign market for our meat product may be realized from the fact that notwithstanding the large increase in prices, particularly during the last few years, the total value of the meat products exported during the seven months declined from $121,178,563 in 1906 to $72,799,131 during the present year.

GRAND DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS

As one of the closing features of the season at Lakeview park the Boston & Northern Street railway company has arranged with Masten & Wells, designers of fire displays, to give a special exhibition next Tuesday evening. The exhibition, unusual and spectacular, will be absolutely free.

"Leaping Frogs in Flames" will be of such dazzling splendor as to thrill all. Every one has played leap frog, but never before have been seen frogs of brilliant, sparkling, multi-colored fire doing the same stunt. One must recall pleasant memories of his boyhood days and wishes the amusing frogs in their grotesque antics. The frogs will be shown jumping over one another's backs amid a holocaust of flame.

Other features in flames abound. The "Great Sunburst" is probably one of the most brilliant pieces ever produced. It represents the sun at the center, driven by the hand of Phaeton. Myriads of logical tales tell us that this was struck by a thunderbolt, and the whole world was consumed. The world will not be consumed, but the old time story will be depicted in a burst of blazing beauty.

After the shock of the "Sunburst" comes a placid grove of palms depicted in lines of fire, from which ascend great spraying showers of brilliant flames fall among the gracefully waving palms with striking effect. The tall palms, colored perfectly like the originals, are of commanding beauty and loom up in front of a background of verdant, fiery foliage. Just like the great palms of the tropics. The palms are masterpieces of pyrotechnic ingenuity.

Most people like a lot of noise and in the "Explosion of the 10,000 Mandarins" they are sure to be satisfied. Aside from the brilliancy of the light effects there will be a duplication of a real Gulating gun in actual operation. With scene will appear not unlike that of a battle, for from all parts of the grounds some of the 10,000 "Mandarins" will be constantly exploding, with their gun-like report and scintillating blaze.

"Under a Star around the Globe" is a piece that is at once funny and spectacular. It awakens in one a terror of patriotism, for "Uncle Sam" appears in his famous stars and stripes. He juggles a huge ball of many-colored fire.

Way up in the sky throughout the exhibition will be seen bombs, rockets and other pyrotechnical beauties which will be the great and best of makers can produce. All during the exhibition there will be lights appearing and reappearing in myriads of different shades of colors and noise, all the way from the subdued puff of a small firecracker to the roar of a battle gun.

Masten & Wells are making special efforts to provide a highly successful and popular exhibition at the Boston & Northern's newest park, and if the flaming marvels please the people of Lowell and vicinity, arrangements will be made for two or three further exhibitions with complete change of program. The evening of September 2 is a likely date for a second exhibition.

In its entirety Tuesday night's exhibition will be free.

THEATRE VOYONS

The feature subject on today's bill at the Theatre Voyons is "The Three Cherry Pits," a story of Parisian life. Immediately following the Napoleonic period. The hero is one of the generals of the empire, honored but modest and unassuming, and in appearance nothing but an old man. Three students meet him in a restaurant and seek to have fun with him by pulling him with cherry stones. He carefully saves three, and the next day challenges the students to a duel. As he defeats but does not kill each in turn he presents them with the cherry pits and teaches them a wholesome lesson in manners. It is a finely staged subject and the acting is superb. There is a most laughable comedy on the bill and the musical features are unusual.

The political attention of the country gradually is being focused on New England, where, within a few days, the first measuring of strength between the republican and the democratic parties in the state elections of 1910 is to take place.

Vermont, on Sept. 6, and Maine, on Sept. 12, will select state officers and indicate their preference for representatives in the 63d congress. In each state will be chosen, also, members of the legislature, who, in turn, will elect a member of the U. S. senate.

While the campaign in Vermont and Maine will close in another week, the other New England states are not idle politically, for on the same day as the Vermont election, New Hampshire will hold her first state-wide primaries and the first under direct primary law affecting an entire state to be held in the east.

Massachusetts will hold primaries on Sept. 27, but the law in this state is optional, and only the larger cities and a few towns made direct nominations. State conventions will be held in Massachusetts and Rhode Island in October, and in Connecticut in September. In each of the three states full tickets for state officers will be named, and legislatures will be elected whose members save in New Hampshire will choose U. S. senators.

The terms of Senators Carroll S. Page of Vermont, Eugene S. Hale of Maine, Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island and Morgan G. Bulkeley of Connecticut expire March 4, 1911.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Aldrich have declined re-election. New Hampshire does not elect to the senate again until 1912.

Fight for 20,000 Margin

The campaign in Vermont, after a sharp preliminary contest between four republican candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, in which Dr. John W. Mead of Rutland was successful, has progressed quietly.

The republican leaders are devoting their efforts mainly to securing or exceeding a "normal" republican plurality of 20,000, while the democrats are endeavoring to reduce this margin and show increased strength in this first state election of 1910.

The ballot in Vermont will include candidates of the republican, democratic, prohibition and uddellist parties. The socialists, through a misunderstanding, made no nomination for secretary of the state or for congress. All the other parties named full lists.

Contest in Maine

The republicans in Maine have nominated Gov. Albert M. Fernald for a second term, while the democrats are waging a vigorous campaign, with Frederick M. Plaisted, mayor of Augusta, and a son of an ex-governor, as their leader.

In the congressional fight in the first district, the congressional parliamentarian, Asher C. Hinds, is seeking a seat on the floor of the house as a successor to Thomas B. Reed, who introduced Hinds in Washington legislative circles.

In neither Vermont nor Maine is any outward issue drawn between so-called "progressive" and "regular" republicans.

The New Hampshire primary campaign is being fought with as much vigor as a state campaign, the struggle being between Bertram Ellis of Keene and Robert P. Bass, who has the support of the majority of the legislature.

The Lowell Athletics of the Lowell, Lawrence, and District Junior Association Football league defeated the Lawrence Junior Soccer team by a score of three to one Saturday. The lineup of the teams was as follows:

Lowell Athletics—Normandy, goal; Durrows, Pendergast, backs; Hoyle, Johnson, Trickett, halfbacks; Mitchell, Clegg, Lumb, Mahon, captain; Taylor, forwards.

Lawrence Juniors—Muir, goal; Crowther, Gorrie, backs; Martin, Alden, Carr, halfbacks; Harrison, Ryder, Gilman, Cousin, Armitage (captain), forwards.

Goals scored by Lumb, Clegg, Taylor for Lowell, and Harrison for Lawrence. Referee, R. Burke.

Great Posse on Trail of the Suspected Murderer

SACO, Me., Aug. 29.—All day long yesterday Sheriff Frank I. Smith of Saco, Me., N. H., assisted by Deputy Sheriff Castler of Somersworth, N. H., a Greek detective, Louis Stratigakes, and a posse of local officers, farmers and special policemen have been scouring the woods in the northern part of the city for Nicholas Capsalis, accused of a murder in Somersworth.

Last night the country roads round about the Great Heath were patrolled by farmers armed with shotguns. They have orders to hold up every man that passes that way during the night and find out who he is.

The lumber camps are being watched. Sheriff Smith left for Somersworth last night, leaving Deputy Sheriff Castler in charge here. Sheriff Smith thinks the clew is a good one and he will spare no effort in learning the identity of the man secreted in the woods. If Smith does not return today he will send another deputy to assist in the search.

Great Heath, where the fugitive may be hiding, covers more than two square miles and in character is similar to the great Dismal swamp of Virginia. The authorities have thus far failed in their attempt to locate the Greek. The trail of swamp land is bounded on the north by the Mud road, on the east by the McKenney road, on the south by the Jenkins road, and on the west by the Buxton.

It is a short distance from the scene of the murder of Ivory Boothby, the North Saco farmhand, who was called out of his house and murdered, Sept. 14, 1898. A Greek, believed to be Capsalis, was seen near the bridge, only a short distance from the murder, a few days ago.

FORMER GOVERNOR FRANCIS WANTS TO BE U. S. SENATOR

DAVID R. FRANCIS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 29.—David R. Francis of St. Louis, former president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition and former governor of Missouri, has filed with the secretary of state his declaration as a candidate for the United States senate as a democrat. It was only after Governor farmer in the North Saco neighborhood that a man thought to be the one for whom a reward of $250 was offered by the Somersworth authorities was hiding in the woods. They all agreed to be on the watch for him, and to notify the police as soon as they saw any stranger pass their homes.

Hadley had announced that he would not be a candidate for the senate that the former governor filed his petition, and this is taken to mean that Mr. Francis disliked the idea of opposing the present republican governor at the polls.

Many people in that territory have telephones and are as much interested as the police in rounding the fellow up.

Traces of the Fugitive Reported

There has not been so much excitement in North Saco since 1898 when the officers were searching for the murderer of Ivory Booth. It was learned today that the cows of Richard Grant were milked by someone Friday night. Garden truck has been stolen from several gardens and apples have been stolen from the trees.

Someone tried to force open the door of the farm house next to Bert Boothby's Friday night. All these things lead the police to believe that someone is hiding in the woods, as this is the first time this summer anything of this kind has occurred. Garden thieves have not bothered the agriculturalists and the farmers' cows have not been milked.

Policeman A. J. Myers was in Pepperell park late one night recently and when he flashed his light a man started for the railroad track of the B. & M. R. R. nearby on the run. A photographer saw a strange man on the railroad track while coming from Old Orchard. He said the fellow who looked like a Greek, ran into the woods when he came along. Police were sent to the scene but they could find no one.

It is believed that Capsalis, wherever he is, will return to Greece if he can get away on a steamer that sails shortly. It is believed that he had planned to return to his native country and will do so if it is possible to get on the steamship before he is captured.

Special Officer Joseph Malcolm, who is acquainted with Capsalis, was one of the searching party yesterday. He found tracks where a team and a bicycle had passed along during the night. They were fresh tracks, and it was thought perhaps someone had gone from Biddeford to give the Greek the tip to lay low for a few days.

A LONG TRAMP

Made by Company K. Scouting Party

A Company A scouting party, in command of Sergt. W. C. MacBrayne, returned Saturday night from a ten days' camp in the New Hampshire mountains. The party was composed of Corporal Eugene O. Page and Orderlies Gilbert H. Page and Harvey J. Page. Mr. Constantine C. Moustakis of Salem, formerly of this city, the organizer of military companies of Greek-Americans, accompanied the outfit. His purpose was to make a study of camp life and scout duty, and he reports many pleasant experiences. In several speeches which he made before the Greek companies in several cities in New England he will detail his camp life to them.

The soldier lads averaged 55 miles a day in their marches which included the climb of Kearsarge mountain and others of the Presidential group. Skirmish drills were held daily and on the march the men preceded in patrol order. Guards were mounted each night at camp.

Mr. Moustakis, who will proceed to Greece in case of war with Turkey, which is threatened by the Cretan question, learned many valuable lessons on the march and reports himself conditioned for active service.

FATALLY SCALDED

Child Fell Into Pail of Boiling Water

Antoinette Desrosiers, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Desrosiers of 66 Beaulieu street, was fatally scalded at her home, Saturday night by falling into a pail of boiling water.

The pail of water was left on the kitchen floor by her mother, who had been called into another room by the cries of a younger child. Upon her return she was horrified to find little Antoinette writhing in agony on the floor. Dr. G. O. Lavallee was hastily summoned and everything was done to relieve the sufferings of the little one, but she was beyond human aid.

FLED FROM FLAMES THE AUTO BOLTED

Guests at Summer Hotel Had Narrow Escape

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., Aug. 28.—Summer boarders at the Goose Rock house at Cape Porpoise were obliged to flee for their lives, leaving most of their personal effects behind them, when the house took fire early last evening.

The blaze started in a blind attic and had got under such good headway before it was discovered that the guests, many of whom were in the dining room or on the piazzas, had no opportunity to go to their rooms for their valuables and clothing.

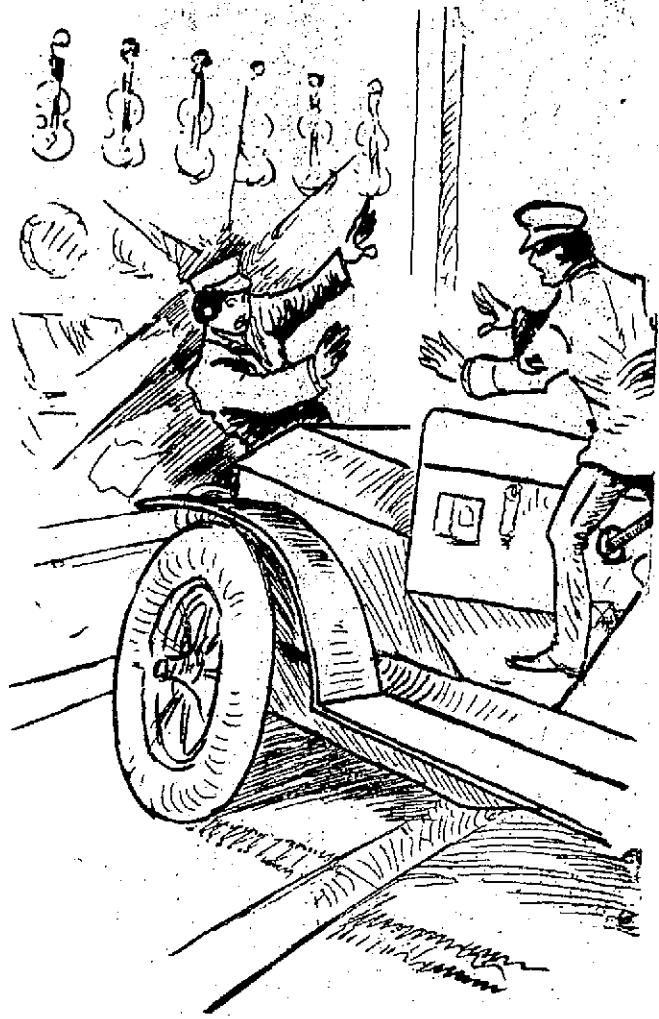

Lack of fire fighting apparatus of sufficient power to cope with the situation resulted in the spread of the flames, with the result that not only the hotel building itself but also a large harm, a cottage on the estate, ice houses, bowling alleys and other buildings were destroyed, with a total loss that probably will exceed $30,000.

The property was owned by Ivory Emmons and was insured to about two-thirds of its value. In addition to the loss on the buildings and furnishings, the guests' loss will also reach a considerable figure.

There had been a fire in the fireplace all day yesterday, and it is supposed that the fire caught around the chimney as a result.

Mrs. Cynthia Emmons, the aged mother of the proprietor, was overcome by the excitement incident to the fire and had to be treated by a physician.

AUTO CRASHES THROUGH A PLATE GLASS WINDOW.

And Smashed Plate Glass Window on Central Street

A big automobile of the touring type crashed through one of the large plate glass windows in the musical instrument store of Samuel Kershaw, at 119 Central street early this morning. The smashing of the glass could be heard for several hundred yards away and those who were in the vicinity, thinking that a burglar had made a break into one of the jewelry stores, in the street, rushed to the scene.

The accident was due either to the lack of knowledge of the operation of the machine or the carelessness of Willis DeMay of Lawrence, who was in charge of the auto.

DeMay was cut about the head and face by the falling glass. Both head lamps on the machine were smashed and the radiator was badly dented.

The women were frightened and screamed, and then, with the crash of the glass, brought a large crowd to the spot.

All four of the party were taken into Pevey's lunch, where DeMay found an opportunity to have his wounds dressed. They were not of a serious nature.

Later, the party went on its way.

POSTAL BANKS

To Be Installed by Nov. 1

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The trustees of the postal savings bank system—the secretary of the treasury, the postmaster-general and the attorney-general—are arranging to install between 25 and 50 banks in as many sections of the country by Nov. 1.

The service at first will necessarily be limited, as congress appropriated only $100,000 to inaugurate the whole system. Out of this sum the preliminary expenses, such as providing forms, stamps and instructions, must be paid. There will be little left for any other purpose.

The trustees believe, however, that a few banks can be financed out of the sum and these will be installed purely as experiments. As soon as it is determined how much additional help will be needed in the various post offices, and how great will be the cost of operating, congress will be asked for more money.

In the course of time the system will be self-sustaining. Only 2 per cent interest will be paid on deposits and the banks and trust companies, acting as depositories for the funds collected by the government, will be required under the law to pay 2 1/2 per cent interest. The quarter of 1 per cent will represent the only profit the government will make and this will go entirely toward maintenance and reserves.

Instead of establishing the first 25 or 50 banks in the 25 or 50 largest cities of the country, the trustees will probably pick out 25 or 50 sections of the country where industrial conditions are varied. This will be done for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the new banking system and of determining the response which may be expected on the part of the different classes served.

An improvement in the continental system of issuing pass books to depositors will be made by the government. Instead of the book, as provided by the private banks, a card will be issued to the depositor showing by

CHOLERA CASES

Husband and Wife Are Dead

SPANDAU, Prussia, Aug. 28.—The death of a woman and the illness of her husband and a male attendant at the hospital, all suspected cholera cases, has caused the health administration of Prussia to take stringent precautions against the spread of the infection. Although the disease has not been established bacteriologically as cholera, all of the hospital attendants where the woman died have been placed in quarantine, as have 15 families in a tenement building where the family lived. The powder factory where the husband was employed has been disinfected and his fellow workmen placed under observation.

A strong police line thrown about the neighborhood prevents the approach to the tenement.

Alleged That She Had Pearls in Her Hat

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—According to customs officials, Mrs. L. Reynolds, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., prominent and wealthy, will be summoned to appear at the customs house today to show cause why she should not be arrested on a charge of smuggling a $8000 pearl necklace.

Mrs. Reynolds, who arrived yesterday on the liner Baltic, failed, according to customs inspectors, to mention in her declaration of dutiable goods the necklace, which was found after a search of her person, hidden in her hat.

Mrs. Reynolds first submitted a carefully prepared declaration with unusual attention to details, and paid $180 in duty, but the customs men were not satisfied.

While Mr. Reynolds, who had come here to meet her, protested indignantly, Mrs. Reynolds and her 18-year-old daughter Helen were taken to their cabin and searched by women inspectors, who found only a gold mesh purse which Mrs. Reynolds finally admitted, the officials say, was purchased in Switzerland.

This ended the ordeal temporarily, but while pacing on the pier, waiting for her trunk, Mrs. Reynolds, it is said, took a slip of paper from the purse, tore it into bits and threw them away.

They were collected by government agents, however, and when patched together gave evidence warranting another search. Mrs. Reynolds then admitted, they say, that she had a pearl necklace, which was found concealed in her hat.

The thing had been ripped out and beneath the silk was a curved tubing in which were more than 50 pearls.

Government agents said last night that Mrs. Reynolds was not detained on a charge of smuggling, because yesterday was Sunday, when bail cannot be accepted. The well known standing of the Reynolds is relied upon to insure Mrs. Reynolds's appearance when desired.

The pearls, it is said, were bought in Florence, Italy, and the treasury department had private advices from representatives in Europe to the effect that Mrs. Reynolds had bought jewelry abroad.

Should a case be made out against her she is liable to a fine of $5000.

Ex-Senator Davis' Condition is Critical

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—A despatch from Wheeling, W. Va., to the Post says:

Henry G. Davis, former United States senator and candidate for vice president on the democratic ticket with Parker in 1904, is lying at Elkins, W. Va., seriously ill and the gravest fears are expressed at his condition. Henry G. Davis is father-in-law to United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins, senior senator from West Virginia.

At his home at Elkins several days ago Mr. Davis fell down a flight of steps. At the time of the accident it was thought that he had only been bruised, but because he had been ailing for a considerable length of time the accident is more serious than at first thought. Members of the immediate family are in attendance at the bedside.

MAN USED KNIFE ALL MUST WALK

In Dispute Over Change in Restaurant

Peter F. Cote, while trying to defend Arthur Champagne, proprietor of a restaurant at the corner of Moody and Cabot streets, from the attack of an infuriated customer early yesterday morning, received a knife wound in the right arm. The wound was a deep one and the injured man was taken to the Lowell hospital, where it was found necessary to take several stitches in order to close the incision.

Costas Pantanos was later arrested, charged with doing the stabbing, and was booked at the police station for drunkenness and assault with a knife.

The man under arrest is 35 years of age, a mill operative and resides in Hall street.

About 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning a man alleged to be Pantanos entered the restaurant and ordered food, paying for it with what is said to have been a $2 bill. He was given change for $1 and that started the trouble. Pantanos claimed that he had tendered the man behind the counter a $2 bill, while on the other hand the restaurant man said that it was a $1 bill which had been handed him.

Pantanos showed fight and started to "wipe" out the place, but Champagne and one of his employees succeeded in ejecting the man from the place.

About an hour later Pantanos entered in conversation with Cote. Drawing a knife, Pantanos made a rush at Champagne and attempted to stab him. Cote interfered and got the knife instead, the blade entering his right arm.

Pantanos then ran out of the place, but was later arrested by Patrolman Lamoureux and sent to the police station.

The ambulance was summoned and Cote was removed to the Lowell hospital, where several stitches were taken in the arm. He was later able to go to his home.

Pantanos was arraigned in court this morning on complaints charging him with drunkenness and assault with a knife. Through his counsel, J. Stuart Murphy, a plea of not guilty was entered, and the hearing of the case was continued till Thursday.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Will be Completed in the Fall

The people of Billerica street having become a bit tired of waiting for the new bridge made known their feelings of unrest in the matter to City Civil Engineer Bowers, and Mr. Bowers took the matter up with the railroad. He addressed a communication to the company's engineer and received the following reply:

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26, 1910.

Mr. George Bowers, Civil Engineer, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Regarding progress on Billerica street bridge plans, I beg to state that the plans for the superstructure are in the hands of bidders, bids to close on Sept. 6. The plans for the masonry are nearly completed and the specification is now being manifested. We shall ask for bids in a few days.

There is no doubt but what the work will be completed early this fall.

Yours truly,

J. P. Snow, Chief Engineer.

FIVE LIVES LOST

In Two Boating Accidents in Mt. Hope Bay

WARREN, R. I., Aug. 29.—Five persons were drowned, four in one party and one in another, and nine others were rescued in two boating accidents which occurred in Mt. Hope bay yesterday afternoon.

One of the boats was overturned off Tottusset point and a man, a woman and two children, all residents of Fall River, sank in the panic which followed.

Drowned: MANUEL MONEZ, aged 37, of 37 Division street, Fall River. EVANGELINE MONEZ, daughter of Manuel.

MRS. MARIE MELLO, aged 22, of 63 Division street, Fall River. MARIE MELLO, 15-month-old daughter of Mrs. Mello. ANGELO DANDIGIA, aged 18, of Main street, Warren, R. I.

The other accident occurred near Kelley's bridge, where Angelo Dandigia, aged 18, a mill operative who lived in Main street, Warren, was drowned.

Dandigia was one of a party of five young men who were rowing in the bay about 5:30 o'clock. The tide, which was running strong, shot an hour on the ebb, carried the boat against the piling in the middle of the bridge. The oarsman struggled with all his strength to turn the boat into clear water, but the wind and the tide overcame all of his efforts and the rowboat was thrown against the buttresses and the five sank into the water.

Lifesavers to Rescue

Capt. William H. Clayton of the Barrington life-saving station, with Robert Hyden and Frank Fields, manned a lifeboat and put out to the assistance of the struggling men. Dandigia, striving to reach shore, was carried about 20 yards from the spot where the boat was overturned.

The lifeboat picked up Salvatore Marcel and Henry Rene, who were swept out toward Little Island by the running tide and the rough water, and carried them ashore. The other men, Silvio Mio and James Baco, were directed to swim to the Barrington shore, toward which the current turned. They did so and the wind and waves carried them onto the beach, where some of the people in the vicinity, who learned of the accident, helped them ashore.

Mio, to whom Dandigia had clung till he fell off exhausted and sank, was on the verge of collapse when he was taken out of the water, but the lifesavers applied restoratives and sent him to the home of E. F. Wallis in Barrington, where he was attended by Dr. Carl Scott. The physician said that he was in no danger and that the first aid treatment of the lifesavers was undoubtedly the means of saving his life.

Marcel and Rene were partly unconscious and greatly exhausted when they were brought into the life-saving station. Capt. Clayton and his men treated them and they soon revived. Baco quickly recovered after he reached shore. A number of boats went out in the bay to dig for the bodies of Dandigia, but as darkness soon came on it was not recovered. The search will be resumed tomorrow.

The other accident, in which four lives were lost, occurred about the same time. Shortly after 5 o'clock a party of nine men, women and children, in four rowboats, who were at a picnic on Tottusset point, put out for their rowboat which was anchored about half a mile off shore.

Became Greatly Excited

Some of them stepped into the launch, which was overcrowded, and when others attempted to follow them the boat careened. The party became greatly excited, and as the launch was thrown farther off its keel, the confusion became a panic.

In the excitement the launch capsized and all were thrown into the water. The accident was witnessed by a number of summer residents on the shore, who jumped into rowboats and went to the assistance of the party.

Three men tried to help the women, some of whom were clinging to the children with one arm and striving to reach the power boat with the other. A short distance away Fall River newsboys had been engaged in a baseball game when rain drove them to shelter and incidentally brought them within earshot of the cries of the drowning people.

One of the newsboys, Abraham Tinkoff, Edward Ray and Max Friedman, dived into the water and a moment later were engaged in a struggle to pull the frenzied people apart and effect the rescue of some of them. Tinkoff grabbed one of the women and started for shore with her. As he did Manuel Monez, believing that he was about to sink for the last time, grabbed the boy's leg and the three were rapidly being dragged down when the boy, realizing that it was his only hope, drew off and kicked the man square in the jaw.

Monez held relaxed and a moment later he sank from sight, while the boy succeeded in dragging the woman ashore after much difficulty. Meanwhile the others had rescued four other members of the party.

By the time other help had arrived, one of the leaders being E. B. Hardy of New York, a summer visitor at Warren Neck. He and other men aided the boys in caring for the rescued persons, and Mr. Hardy dived and recovered three of the bodies. The boys got the other.

When Antonio Mellow, whose life had been saved, recovered and learned that his wife and child had both been lost he endeavored to throw himself into the water and end his own life. He was only prevented by half a dozen strong hands which held him down until he had somewhat regained his composure.

The bodies were recovered a short time later, and after being viewed by Medical Examiner H. D. Seymour of Warren were shipped to Fall River.

Meanwhile the other members of the party who had escaped with their lives had wended their way homeward, and their names were not secured by the authorities.

Dr. Hunt of Swansea, who was called, resuscitated woman and child who were brought ashore unconscious.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER

AUBURN, Me., Aug. 29.—The body of Joseph Le Gasse of Dunn street, New Auburn, who has been missing from his home for five days, was found yesterday floating in the Little Androscoggin river, more than a mile from the city. His coat and fishing tackle were found nearby and it is supposed that he fell asleep and rolled off the bank into the river. He leaves a wife.

MCKAY DROWNED

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 29.—James A. McKay was drowned off Cape Elizabeth yesterday. He was in a boat with Anson A. Van Amburg and fell overboard. Howard Cady, who was close to their boat, threw him a life preserver and he caught it. Mr. Van Amburg was reaching for him with a boat hook when he suddenly went down. He was 41 and unmarried. He was a son of John McKay of Toronto.

WENT BEYOND HIS DEPTH

SOUTHERIDGE, Aug. 29.—Stanislav Kupka, aged nine, the son of Stanislaus Kupka, was drowned in the Quinobaug river yesterday afternoon. The little fellow, with a companion of about the same age, went to Saint-Joseph's at 5 o'clock to bathe. Stanislaus was unable to swim, but he ventured beyond his depth and was caught by the current, which is quite rapid at that place, and was swept out into midstream.

His companion, panic-stricken, was unable to help him and made his way to the shore, with considerable difficulty. The boy ran to the home of the Kupka on East Main street, and told the family about the accident.

Mr. Kupka and some of the neighbors ran to the river, but Stanislaus sank long before they reached the spot. They dragged the river for the body, which was recovered a few minutes before 6 o'clock. Mrs. J. E. Donais and Joseph C. Page worked on the boy for half an hour, but their efforts were unsuccessful.

The lifeboat picked up Salvatore Marcel and Henry Rene, who were swept out toward Little Island by the running tide and the rough water, and carried them ashore. The other men, Silvio Mio and James Baco, were directed to swim to the Barrington shore, toward which the current turned. His coat and fishing tackle were found nearby and it is supposed that he fell asleep and rolled off the bank into the river. He leaves a wife.

MCKAY DROWNED

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 29.—James A. McKay was drowned off Cape Elizabeth yesterday. He was in a boat with Anson A. Van Amburg and fell overboard. Howard Cady, who was close to their boat, threw him a life preserver and he caught it. Mr. Van Amburg was reaching for him with a boat hook when he suddenly went down. He was 41 and unmarried. He was a son of John McKay of Toronto.

WENT BEYOND HIS DEPTH

SOUTHERIDGE, Aug. 29.—Stanislav Kupka, aged nine, the son of Stanislaus Kupka, was drowned in the Quinobaug river yesterday afternoon. The little fellow, with a companion of about the same age, went to Saint-Joseph's at 5 o'clock to bathe. Stanislaus was unable to swim, but he ventured beyond his depth and was caught by the current, which is quite rapid at that place, and was swept out into midstream.

His companion, panic-stricken, was unable to help him and made his way to the shore, with considerable difficulty. The boy ran to the home of the Kupka on East Main street, and told the family about the accident.

Mr. Kupka and some of the neighbors ran to the river, but Stanislaus sank long before they reached the spot. They dragged the river for the body, which was recovered a few minutes before 6 o'clock. Mrs. J. E. Donais and Joseph C. Page worked on the boy for half an hour, but their efforts were unsuccessful.

The lifeboat picked up Salvatore Marcel and Henry Rene, who were swept out toward Little Island by the running tide and the rough water, and carried them ashore. The other men, Silvio Mio and James Baco, were directed to swim to the Barrington shore, toward which the current turned. They did so and the wind and waves carried them onto the beach, where some of the people in the vicinity, who learned of the accident, helped them ashore.

Mio, to whom Dandigia had clung till he fell off exhausted and sank, was on the verge of collapse when he was taken out of the water, but the lifesavers applied restoratives and sent him to the home of E. F. Wallis in Barrington, where he was attended by Dr. Carl Scott. The physician said that he was in no danger and that the first aid treatment of the lifesavers was undoubtedly the means of saving his life.

Marcel and Rene were partly unconscious and greatly exhausted when they were brought into the life-saving station. Capt. Clayton and his men treated them and they soon revived. Baco quickly recovered after he reached shore. A number of boats went out in the bay to dig for the bodies of Dandigia, but as darkness soon came on it was not recovered. The search will be resumed tomorrow.

The other accident, in which four lives were lost, occurred about the same time. Shortly after 5 o'clock a party of nine men, women and children, in four rowboats, who were at a picnic on Tottusset point, put out for their rowboat which was anchored about half a mile off shore.

Became Greatly Excited

Some of them stepped into the launch, which was overcrowded, and when others attempted to follow them the boat careened. The party became greatly excited, and as the launch was thrown farther off its keel, the confusion became a panic.

In the excitement the launch capsized and all were thrown into the water. The accident was witnessed by a number of summer residents on the shore, who jumped into rowboats and went to the assistance of the party.

Three men tried to help the women, some of whom were clinging to the children with one arm and striving to reach the power boat with the other. A short distance away Fall River newsboys had been engaged in a baseball game when rain drove them to shelter and incidentally brought them within earshot of the cries of the drowning people.

One of the newsboys, Abraham Tinkoff, Edward Ray and Max Friedman, dived into the water and a moment later were engaged in a struggle to pull the frenzied people apart and effect the rescue of some of them. Tinkoff grabbed one of the women and started for shore with her. As he did Manuel Monez, believing that he was about to sink for the last time, grabbed the boy's leg and the three were rapidly being dragged down when the boy, realizing that it was his only hope, drew off and kicked the man square in the jaw.

Monez held relaxed and a moment later he sank from sight, while the boy succeeded in dragging the woman ashore after much difficulty. Meanwhile the others had rescued four other members of the party.

By the time other help had arrived, one of the leaders being E. B. Hardy of New York, a summer visitor at Warren Neck. He and other men aided the boys in caring for the rescued persons, and Mr. Hardy dived and recovered three of the bodies. The boys got the other.

When Antonio Mellow, whose life had been saved, recovered and learned that his wife and child had both been lost he endeavored to throw himself into the water and end his own life. He was only prevented by half a dozen strong hands which held him down until he had somewhat regained his composure.

The bodies were recovered a short time later, and after being viewed by Medical Examiner H. D. Seymour of Warren were shipped to Fall River.

Meanwhile the other members of the party who had escaped with their lives had wended their way homeward, and their names were not secured by the authorities.

Dr. Hunt of Swansea, who was called, resuscitated woman and child who were brought ashore unconscious.

EXTRA FIRE CHIEF HOSMER

Gets After the Protective Dept. in Strong Language

The members of the protective company have developed the speed mania since the installation of the automobile apparatus at that station and it is said the principal object of the company seems to be how fast it can make the "kit-a-way" irrespective of following orders. Saturday when an alarm from box 235 was sounded they took a chance and lost with the result that they traveled to the corner of Lakeview avenue and Coburn streets when the alarm was sounded from a box located in Gorham street near the corner of Bowden street. Chief Hosmer contumaciously several "chances" which the company took, but when he heard of the "bull" which was made Saturday he decided that a little curt lecture would be advisable and when it comes the chief will not handle the fire ladders with kid gloves. He will impress on them in forceful language that hereafter if the protective company does not remain in the station until the first round of the box is recorded, one or more of the members will be given an enforced vacation without pay.

Chief Hosmer returned from the 38th annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers in Syracuse, N. Y. Saturday night and when he learned of the mistake made by the protective company in the afternoon he decided that it was time to let the resident firemen of the Warren street house know "who is who" in the fire department.

Chief Hosmer in speaking of the matter with a representative of The Sun this afternoon said "I am getting tired of the way that the protective company is acting and I intend to put a stop to it once and for all. The fact of the matter is that since the indicator was taken out of the house and the tape system substituted the company has entered protest after protest, but the tape system is going to stay. I have carefully investigated both systems and know that the tape system is the best and most accurate. They claim that it is slower than the indicator. Such is not a fact, for the indicator cannot show the numbers any faster than the bell is sounded and the tape does the same thing. Then again the tape is more accurate. Once in a while some difficulty with the wires will cause a double blow which will show the wrong box on the indicator. On the tape, however, if there is an accidental blow while the alarm is being sounded one of the holes in the tape will be enlarged and a person with common sense can immediately realize that the extra large hole means but one stroke. It seems rather strange to me that the metropolitan fire departments have no trouble with the tape system. The fault is not with the system, it is with the men, and I intend to inform the members of that company that a repetition of Saturday's work will result in a prompt investigation and the punishment of the guilty party.

The trouble with the protective company is that it has the speed mania. Of course in purchasing the auto protective we did so with the intention of having it reach the scene of the fire as soon as possible, but I know that there was no intention on my part for the men to guess at the location of the box and leave the house before the first round of the box had been made.

"When the horse drawn protective was in use a time clock was used by the members of the company, for their own benefit, to ascertain how quick they could make the hitch and leave the house, but generally when they crossed the 'trip' which stopped the clock they waited for the indicator to show the first round of the box.

"Capt. Jerry Flagg, now deceased, who was captain of the protective company, would frequently shout, 'Don't leave the station, boys, until the first round is completed,' and they never did. Guesswork does not go with the fire department. If the protective company waits until the first round of the box shows on the tape and then speed to the fire there will be no complaint. All other apparatus has to wait for the first round, and there is no reason why the protective company should not do the same.

"As for the reinstatement of the indicator system, I will say that the tape will remain at the protective house until some more improved system will be brought to my attention and the city willing to install it."

TAKING CENSUS

TRUANT OFFICERS AND SCHOOL JANITORS BUSY

Parents should get ready to answer the questions propounded by the school census takers for four of the nine census takers started out this morning and the other five will start Thursday morning. Of the nine men who are to do the work two are truant commissioners, Camille Rousseau and John Walker, while the other nine are school janitors.

The census includes the name, age, residence, parents' names, etc., of all children between the ages of 5 and 15 years, including the feeble minded. This year there is a new departure and added work for the enumerators, for besides the history of the children between 5 and 15 years this year they will also take the names and history of all feeble minded persons, the latter being for the benefit of the state statistician.

THE MAYOR DECLINES

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 28.—Emil Ziebel, Milwaukee's socialist mayor who declines to serve on a Roosevelt reception committee, gives as his reason that "unscholarly and unfair position that Mr. Roosevelt has taken in the discussion of the movement in which I have spent all my spare time and energy."

In his letter to Frank Cannon, chairman of the reception committee of the Milwaukee Press club, whose guest Colonel Roosevelt will be next week, the mayor concludes as follows:

"However, I wish to assure you that as chief executive of the city I extend to your guest the courtesy that every man is entitled to in a republic."

"Hoping that it will be possible for me to serve you and our city in other capacities in the future, I beg to remain,

Yours truly,
"Emil S. Ziebel, Mayor."

SUFFERED A SHOCK

Samuel Hunter, a cabinet maker at the furniture manufacturing shop of Marshall & Crosby in Middlesex street, was seized with a shock shortly before noon today and was removed to the hospital at 34 Mead street. At the time of going to press this afternoon a report from the hospital was to the effect that the man was not in a serious condition.

FIRE CHIEFS

DISCUSSED A NUMBER OF IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

Chief E. S. Hosmer of the local fire department returned to Lowell Saturday night after having spent the greater part of the week at the 38th annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers held at Syracuse, N. Y. The chief states that the convention which just came to a close was unlike many other conventions inasmuch as there was so much business to be transacted that there was little chance for sightseeing. Some of the meetings extended late into the night and taken as a whole there was more business transacted than at any previous gathering.

Chief Hosmer was a member of the committee on resolutions and courtesies extended the convention, and that committee acquitted itself in a creditable manner.

Among the principal topics discussed by the convention was "Do Steam Pipes Set in Wood Cause Fires?" While it has been the consensus of opinion that they do not, photographs and facts proving that they do were presented.

Among other topics which brought forth much discussion pro and con were the following: "Practical use of the automobile fire engine as a fire fighting apparatus," "Automatic sprinklers their use and abuse," "Automobile combination wagon, its adaptability to the fire service, its efficiency and economy."

ALDERMEN TO MEET

The first full meeting of the board of aldermen will be held Tuesday, Sept. 6, and the common council will meet one week from that date, Sept. 13. The school board will meet tomorrow night and the board of health will meet next Friday afternoon.

"JOE" CHRISTO

ENTERED IN THE REVERE BEACH RACES

"Joe" Christo, the well known young athlete, has entered in the 20 mile run at the Revere beach races on Wednesday evening and is training hard for the event.

Many of the crack runners in this section are entered in the race, including such well known runners as Di-nen, Morrissey and others. Christo will be accompanied to the race by a crowd of local admirers.

MAYOR GAYNOR

IS REPORTED TODAY AS RESTING WELL

ST. JAMES, I. L., Aug. 28.—Mayor Gaynor showed no ill effects today from his trip from Hoboken. Rufus Gaynor said that his father passed a comfortable night and was up early. He ate a hearty breakfast and seemed to relish his food. For the present no visitors will be received unless they come by special invitation. A guard has been established at the house and callers are told that the mayor needs complete quiet and rest.

FUNERAL NOTICE

DOYLE.—The funeral of the late Cornelius F. Doyle will take place from his residence, 33 Claiborne street, Wednesday morning at 8.45 o'clock. Solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Patrick's church at 9.45 o'clock. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell and Sons in charge.

MILLS CLOSED

WEST WARREN, Aug. 28.—Four cotton mills of the Thorndike Co., owned by the Bliss, Fabyan Co. of New York and Boston, will be idle two weeks, beginning today. The company employs about 200 operatives.

WILL RESUME WORK

DOVER, N. H., Aug. 28.—The print works of the Pacific mills closed today until Sept. 6. The cotton mills here, which closed Aug. 19, will resume at the same time.

CONSUL TOO POLITICAL

MANILA, Aug. 28.—M. Iwaya, the Japanese consul here, has been called to Tokyo. It is reported that the American government intimated to Japan that his continuance in the office of consul was unsatisfactory owing to his political activity and his association with a group of Filipino irreconcilables. Confirmation of this report, however, cannot be obtained.

It is said that Secretary of War Dickinson complained a short time ago of the conduct of the consul, and it was then intimated that his recall was probable.

"HELLO TEDDY"

Was the Greeting Roosevelt Got at Greeley, Colo.

Denver Planned a Great Welcome to the Former President —Salute of 21 Guns

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 28.—Colonel Roosevelt's departure from Cheyenne was entirely informal. Senator Warren and a few of the colonel's friends were at the station to see him off, but there was no popular gathering. The colonel was standing near the car when the train started and there was a general scrambling to get aboard, in which he joined. He boarded the train as it was beginning to gain speed.

The first stop was made at Greeley, Colo., where he was greeted with cries of "Hello, Teddy."

References made to his hunting expedition in Africa by men in the crowd brought forth a retort that he found Africa to agree with him thoroughly. He referred to his early acquaintance with Colorado and said he was glad to get back into the short grass country where he used to live. In the midst of his talk the train drew out and there was a chorus of "good-byes."

One little woman in black risked injury by a fall in her eagerness to shake hands with the colonel who at first attempted to wave her off and then reached down and took her hand. It was the only handshake at Greeley and the woman was evidently very proud of her distinction.

At LaSalle, a small crowd of men, most of whom were workmen about the place, listened to a brief talk.

ROAR OF ARTILLERY

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 28.—The roar of artillery, booming out a salute of 21 guns, will greet Theodore Roosevelt as the train brings him from Cheyenne enters the city limits of Denver this morning and will tell the thousands packed before the railroad station and along the line of march of the Spanish War Veterans parade that the west's hero, statesman and soldier, and "bully good fellow" is in the Colorado capital.

It will be as the soldier that Denver will first greet the former president. Upon his arrival at 10.40 this morning he will enter a carriage and lead a parade of his old comrades-in-arms, the veterans of the Spanish war.

Ex-President Roosevelt will address a public gathering this afternoon in the great Auditorium which has a seating capacity of over 12,000. This will be followed at 4 o'clock by a talk to the Colorado legislature which is sitting in extra session and at 5 o'clock Mr. Roosevelt will speak before the Spanish War Veterans, at which he will speak on "Old days on the range." Other addresses of the evening will be by the "Cow and the tree" by former Chief Forester Pinchot; "Conservation and progress," by former Secretary of the Interior James A. Garfield; "The stockman of today," by J. P. Vincent of Montrose, Colo., and "Denver," by State Senator Irbly of this city.

STREET DEPARTMENT

Will Have Plenty of Work to Do This Fall

Newell F. Putnam, superintendent of streets, allows that this will be a very busy fall the street department. The most important job in sight is the building of a new bridge over Hale's brook in Lawrence street and the widening of the street in the vicinity of the bridge.

The city council has appropriated $20,400 for this job and because of the importance of the derelict work it will be necessary for him to engage a derelict boss and, for the time being, will add another to the list of street department bosses. Mr. Putnam says that men skilled in the use of derricks are few and far between. The Congress st. bridge will receive attention this fall but it is a small job compared with the Lawrence street bridge and the work connected with it.

The macadam work in White street, Centralville, is finished and the work in Victor street, also in Centralville, is well along. Smith street is being put in shape to be macadamized and the street department is employing 200 men at the present time. A lot of sewer work is being done and that department is employing 175 men at the present time.

His Honor's Signature

Mayor Meehan today affixed his signature to the following orders:

Order for a hearing on the petition of the Boston & Northern Street Railway company for pole locations in Hill street and other streets. The hearing will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, at 8 o'clock.

Order relative to list of jurors submitted by the registrars of voters and directing the city clerk to enroll and place names in jury box.

Order designating and appointing polling places for the year.

Trouble in New York Renewed

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The strike committee of the cloak makers repudiated yesterday the draft agreement brought about through the efforts of Lawyer Louis Marshall intended to end the strike. The committee met at 313 Grand street and passed a resolution to stand out for all the original demands. Those of the strike committee who really favored the agreement had to go with the tide and vote against it.

The formal statement issued yesterday was:

"The agreement drawn up by Lawyer Louis Marshall, Julius Henry Cohen, counsel for the manufacturers' association, and Meyer London, counsel for the union which it was thought by many would be the means of settling the strike, was rejected in its entirety."

by the strikers. Reports that the agreement had been already signed by the strike leaders and that the strikers were to return to work on Monday were erroneous.

This unfortunate occurrence resulted in many demonstrations of protest on the part of many of the strikers on Saturday. However, what threatened to be a calamity was turned into a better understanding of the feelings of the men on strike. In the various halls where the strikers were assembled it was decided unanimously to remain on strike until all the demands of the union have been granted.

The committee said that Freedman Bros., of 384 Broadway, employing more than 1000 workers, had signed an agreement with the union. The committee also reported that the strikers will treat only with the manufacturers as individuals and that the manufacturers' association will not be recognized.

Meyer London, counsel for the strikers, said he will issue a statement today. "It will cover the action we will take regarding the injunction," he said. "All I will say about that new is that the justices of the supreme court are learned men, but they are not cloak makers. As to the strike, the strikers are again in control of their leaders after the excitement of last week. The strike situation is greatly improved and there is now no doubt as to their sentiments and that they want the closed shop."

LINCOLNS AGAIN

DEFEATED ORIOLES IN FAST GAME

The classy Lincoln baseball team defeated the strong Oriole aggregation Saturday afternoon to the tune of 11 to 9, thereby adding another to the long string of victories. There were many features in the contest which was witnessed by a big crowd.

WANT NEW LAWS

The Barbers' Convention Outlines Needed Reforms

PITTSBURG, Aug. 28.—A clean towel and wash rag for each patron, the elimination of the sponge, carrier of loathsome germs, and the enactment of laws to bring about these reforms are among the demands made at the gathering of the National League of Barbers which opened a three-day convention here today. Delegates numbering over 200 are in attendance. The organization is composed of master barbers, owners of shops who are pledged to carry their demands to their various state legislatures and secure national legislation effecting their business.

HURT BY ELEPHANT

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Carl E. Akely, former taxidermist of the Field Museum, was severely injured by an elephant in Africa on July 10 while on an elephant hunt.

News of the accident has just been received by his relatives here. Mr. Akely's wife was with him at the time, but she escaped injury. Mr. Akely is now connected with the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

NO AUTO LICENSES NEEDED

WAKEFIELD, R. I., Aug. 28.—The taxicab and auto owners of Narragansett need no longer take the trouble to have their cars licensed to operate in that town under the existing town ordinances, according to the decision of Judge Nathan B. Lewis of the second district court today. The defense of two taxicab drivers, John Riley and James McNamee who were charged with operating an automobile without a license that the license commissioner in whom the power is vested has no right to issue the permits was sustained by the court and the cases thrown out. The defendants claimed that the power to license autos was given the town council by the state legislature without the right to transfer it and that the license commissioner has no legal authority.

GENERAL BRAYTON

Blind Republican Leader of Rhode Island Injured

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 28.—General Charles R. Brayton, the widely known blind republican leader of Rhode Island and national committee man of this state, fell in his office in the Bannigan building today and was severely injured. He was removed in an ambulance to a private hospital on Benefit street, where it was found he had sustained a fracture of the right hip.

The accident occurred while he was alone in his law office. He was sitting on a couch when the telephone bell rang. Being blind he was unable to see where the instrument was and in groping his way around his feet slipped and he fell to the floor. The general, who is a heavily built man, fell with considerable force. The fall was heard in some of the adjoining offices and several persons rushed in. General Brayton was found lying on the floor and as it was found he was quite badly injured an ambulance was called.

Dr. Martin E. Dilling, who is attending him, stated that his injury is not serious. The general's advanced age, however, having just celebrated his 70th birthday, and the fact that his health is not robust, causes considerable anxiety to be felt. A few weeks ago while marching with his veteran comrades to a regiment reunion General Brayton suffered a collapse and while on serious respite followed it showed that his old age was having its effect on him.

EXPRESS RATES MAN DROWNED

The Investigation of After Saving Companion Them Resumed From Drowning

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—The investigation of the express rates in southeastern New England by the interstate commerce commission began last June by Commissioner Prouty with a number of merchants from Brockton, Taunton, Randolph and Pawtucket being heard in opposition to the rates of the Adams Express Co. was resumed today. It was stated that the express rates from this zone to New York were higher proportionately than from any other part of the country. It was also stated that the rates were the same from Brockton as from Pawtucket.

Chairman Prouty announced that he saw as the commission was satisfied that the rates were excessive the question of separation would be considered.

MINISTER'S RETIREMENT
STOCKHOLM, Aug. 28.—The official statement that the retirement of Herman de Lagerantz from the post of Swedish minister at Washington was due entirely to his personal wishes does not convince the public. The common belief is that the real reason for the minister's return is to be found in the speech which he delivered in New York and in the course of which he is reported to have testified the probable success of the republican party in the coming campaign.

6 O'CLOCK MANY OFFENDERS

Were Arraigned in Police Court This Morning

William Hart, who hails from the northern part of Vermont, came to this city recently and very quickly got acquainted with Patrick McNamara, who frequents the South common, and when Patrick got through with him he was minus $15 and a briar pipe. McNamara had not been at large long before Patrolman William Bumpis placed him under arrest.

When the case was called in court this morning Hart recited the manner in which he met McNamara and what transpired during the short time they were together. Hart admitted that he had been drinking and walked to the South common to rest himself. While there he met McNamara and as both men felt rather dry Hart volunteered to produce the coin if McNamara would get the wet goods. The money was passed and the whiskey was procured with the result that Hart became drowsy and lay down on the grass to have a sleep. When he awoke he found that $15 and some small change and a pipe and case which he had in his pocket were missing. He did not know who took the money, but McNamara was the last person he remembered being with and the pipe which was found on McNamara's person was identified by Hart as belonging to him.

Two young men who were on the common were called as witnesses and testified that they saw McNamara take the money and pipe out of Hart's pocket.

McNamara's defense was a general denial.

Inasmuch as the defendant had previously been convicted of breaking and entering and larceny, very little credence was given to his story, and he was found guilty and sentenced to six months in jail.

Hart, who was charged with being drunk, entered a plea of guilty and was fined $5.

Stepped on His Face

George Donnelly was charged with assault and battery on Patrick Brennan on the South common. Both men were inmates of the city farm and from the testimony offered in court this morning there had been previous trouble at the farm which culminated in this assault.

Donnelly was found guilty and a fine of $15 was imposed.

Milkman Fined $50

Joseph Chenelle, a milkman, pleaded guilty to a complaint charging him with having adulterated milk in his possession and a fine of $50 was imposed.

Placed on Probation

Admitted Stealing Tools

Constantinos Manolopoulos pleaded guilty to the larceny of two planes, a gauge, two saws, a wrench, a square and a pair of overalls, all of the value of $10.30, the property of Leroy Dunn. The tools and overalls were stolen on July 1st, it is alleged, from a building which was under the course of construction at the corner of Market and Hanover street, where Dunn was employed.

The complainant left his tools in the building when he quit work on the night of June 30 and where he got ready to start work the following morning found that the tools were missing.

The matter was reported to the police and Saturday night Sgt. McClaughrey placed Manolopoulos under arrest. Later two of the planes and a gauge were recovered.

The defendant is 17 years of age, has no relatives in this city and has spent the greater part of the past few months in traveling between this city, Nashua and Manchester.

The court decided to defer sentence until tomorrow in order that the police may look into the past history of the young man.

Disturbing the Peace

John and Felix Bosin and Emil Damaninski were charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace. The trio Saturday night were in Spring street, singing and shouting and raising a racket, it is said. Patrolman Sheridan was notified of the disturbance and he sent the three men to the police station. The men admitted that they were drunk and had got into a fight. They were found guilty and each was fined $10 for disturbing the peace and $2 additional for drunkenness.

Doctor Prescribed Whiskey?

John E. Bulmer pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. He said that he was being persecuted by the police and could prove that the police were hounding him. He admitted that he had been drinking whiskey and emulsion for his lungs by advice of a physician. Inasmuch as Bulmer left the state farm at Bridgewater two weeks ago, the court decided to send him back to that institution.

Man Without a Home

Patrick Potter, who, according to Patrolman Domet has no home, and has been sleeping in barns, and on the dumps in Centralville, admitted that he was drunk when arrested. He was sentenced to the state farm, but the clerk of the court did not please Patrick, so he entered an appeal.

Court Was Lenient

The fact that Thomas J. Sheehan has a wife and children dependent upon him was responsible for his being dealt with in a lenient manner by Judge Hadley when he appeared in court this morning charged with being drunk. Sheehan promised to do better in the future and with that understanding he was given a suspended sentence of four months in jail and placed on probation for one year.

Will Be Surrendered

Andrew Langlois pleaded guilty to being drunk, but owing to the fact that he is on probation from the superior court the case was continued until tomorrow morning in order that Probation Officer Ramsey may surrender the man.

Sunday Drunks

Peter Rino, through an interpreter, denied that he was drunk when arrested by Patrolman Ragan. The latter said he met Rino staggering through Summer street near the corner of South street and the latter admitted he had had about 10 or 12 drinks but that was not enough to make him drunk. Deputy Downey saw the defendant when he was brought to the police station yesterday and testified that Rino was drunk. Rino was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Byrd Johnson, August Sullivan and Jennie Bett, Sunday drunks, were each fined $5.

Drunken Offenders

Michael J. McAndrews, charged with being drunk, was given a suspended sentence of six months in jail.

John Leonard was sentenced to three months in jail, and William B. Clark received a sentence to the Massachusetts reformatory, but appealed and was held under $200 bonds for the superior court.

Daniel Casey, George J. Keefe, Amadeo Lacourse, William B. Cunningham and Michael Gilday, charged with being drunk, pleaded guilty and fines of $5 each were imposed.

Five first offenders were fined $2 each, and 10 simple drunks were released before the opening of the court.

PERSONALS

Heclor O'Hell, clerk at the A. E. O'Hell furniture company, is in Bermuda. The voyage to the island was uneventful according to a card received by a friend of his in this city and he declared that the voyage was the best ever. Before returning to this city Heclor will visit other places of interest.

John J. Pinder, messenger at the police station, has resumed his duties after a very pleasant vacation of two weeks during which time he visited New York, Niagara Falls and the middle west. Mr. Pinder was a delegate to the Knights of Equity convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, and when the convention came to a close he joined his wife at Schenectady, N. Y. Mr. Pinder then went to Albany and from there to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Returning they stopped at Albany and then went to New York City where they spent three days. After taking in the sights at the metropolis and Coney Island, Mr. and Mrs. Pinder returned home.

Mrs. C. B. Foye of Pine street, Mrs. James Foye of Stevens street, Mrs. John Foye of Burlington avenue and Miss Margaret Foye of the Bon Marche have taken a cottage at Hampton beach for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William McGarry of Webster, Mass., are the guests of Town Clerk John J. Brennan of Dracont.

Mr. McGarry is an uncle of Mr. Brennan.

The Misses Willlette, the well known dressmakers of Bridge street, are registered at Salisbury beach for the coming week.

Adelbert Abbott, manager of the G. H. Wood jewelry store on Central street, accompanied by his wife, is enjoying the scenes and pleasures along the north shore. Before returning to this city they will visit Montreal.

The Misses Hannah and Grace Cummings, Mary Cox, Mary Tobin and Nellie Ward spent Sunday with friends in Peabody.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregoire, milliners, have returned from a very enjoyable trip to Montreal, Quebec city, St. Anne de Beaupre, and other points of interest in Canada.

Miss Mary Tobin of North Chelmsford returned Saturday after spending two weeks at Old Orchard, Me.

Mr. Emil Byron of this city left this morning to attend the Eucharistic convention in Montreal as a delegate from St. Louis parish.

Mrs. Clarence E. Cunningham of Durant street with her son, Clarence, Jr., are spending their vacation in the White mountains.

A very enjoyable birthday party was given in honor of Miss Marie R. McLaughlin at the home of her mother, 352 Lakeview avenue, Sunday evening, when a number of her young friends presented her with a beautiful gold ring and numerous other gifts. Including a beautiful birthday cake from her sister Agnes, inserted "Mary Regina, 1894-1910." Refreshments were served and Marie's friends wished her many happy birthdays.

CRIPPEN CASE

Doctor and His Typist Arraigned on Charge of Murder

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Both Hawley Crippen, the American doctor, and Ethel Clara Leneve, his typist, were accused of the murder of Belle Elmore, the former's wife, in the formal charge read to them in the Bow street police court today.

Miss Leneve was charged also with harboring and maintaining Crippen after the crime and while knowing that he committed it.

During the proceedings, Inspector Dew who brought the prisoners back from Canada, introduced evidence to show that Crippen contemplated suicide while at sea following his flight from this country. Crippen was quoted as declaring that his companion he was involved in the trouble in which he was involved and Miss Leneve was said to have protested in the character of the formal charge as the warrant for the arrest of the fugitives had merely laid at their door responsibility for the death of an unknown woman whose body was found in the cellar of the Crippen home at Hilldrop Crescent. The fact that both were today accused of the murder of Belle Elmore, the actress, wife of the doctor, leads to the supposition that the mutilated body has been identified to the satisfaction of the authorities. It also suggests that the police believe they have more evidence concerning Miss Leneve's connection with the tragedy than they have made known heretofore. Today's proceedings consisted of the introduction of evidence against the accused at the conclusion of which they were remanded until Sept. 5 without having pleaded or made any commitment in reply to the charge against them.

Few persons, except those connected with the case, were admitted to the police court although a crowd assembled in the neighborhood in the hope of catching sight of the prisoners. Crippen and Miss Leneve stood together in the dock. He wore a gray frock suit while his companion was dressed in a tailor-made suit of blue.

Explaining his position that his prisoner had threatened suicide the doctor presented to the court a business card on one side of which were the words: "P. Robinson & Co., Michigan. Presented by John E. Robinson. This card was found among Crippen's effects and on the back of it apparently in the doctor's handwriting was the following:

"I cannot stand the horror I go through every night any longer and as I see nothing bright ahead and my journey is coming to an end, I have tonight I know I have spoiled our lives but some day you may learn to forgive me. My last words are of love."

Dew also introduced a torn piece of a card on which Crippen had written this question:

"Shall we wait until tonight about 10 or 11? If not what time?"

Asking after Miss Leneve, Crippen said to the inspector:

"I will do all I can for her. It is only fair to say that she knows nothing about it. I never told her anything."

The witness said that in conversing with Captain Kendall of the Montrose, Miss Leneve remarked that she had not seen a newspaper since she left London and referring to the murder mystery added:

"I know nothing about it."

The inspector said the woman said: "I assure you I know nothing about it. I intended to write my sister when I got to Quebec."

When the warrant was read on shipboard Miss Leneve wept and, becoming greatly agitated, fainted. Dew concluded his testimony by repeating a conversation which he had with Crippen while the latter was exercising on the deck of the steamer. He said during the return to Liverpool on Aug. 24.

Crippen said:

"I want to ask a favor of you, but I will leave it until Friday."

Friday was the day preceding the arrival of the vessel at Liverpool.

The inspector replied:

"As well now as Friday."

Crippen then said:

"When you took me off the ship (at Quebec) I did not see Miss Leneve. I do not know how things will go. They may go all right; they may go all wrong. I may never see her again and I want to ask you to let me see her. I won't speak to her. She has been my only comfort for the last three years."

Crippen was allowed to see his companion.

At this point Solicitor Newton questioned the witness and drew out the statement that his client had thought out been perfectly calm and collected and had given no trouble to those who had him in custody.

The lawyers for the defense have reserved further cross examination until Sept. 8 until such date they consented that the prisoners be remanded without having pleaded. Neither Newton or Welfare made any comment on the charge or evidence.

On leaving the dock Crippen stood back to allow Miss Leneve to pass out before him.

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 29.—H. P. Converse & Co., contractors for the Union Street Railway Co.'s new car barn at Weld street and the master builders, who have felt the strike of the building laborers and the sympathetic idleness of the bricklayers must seriously during the past two weeks, imported 41 non-union workmen this morning. The majority were associated bricklayers and the rest non-union laborers. Mr. Converse's foreman of the bricklayers refused to boss the non-union men and left his job. Part of the imported laborers, learning that a strike will be in progress, refused to go to work. At the Bowditch schoolhouse and at the storage company's warehouse on Sawyer street a few bricklayers went back to work this morning. Otherwise the situation is practically unchanged, most of the jobs have anywhere from a quarter of their full force to the full number of workmen. The strikers have decided to ask the intervention of the state board of arbitration.

WAKEFIELD, R. I., Aug. 29.—The warrant on which William Arnold, vice president of the Narragansett club, was arrested by Constable John G. Cross charging him with maintaining a gambling place was found sufficient by Judge Lewis in the district court here today. The demurrer which Arnold's entered was declared insufficient and the case was assigned for trial on September 12. The proceedings were the result of the raid which Cross made on the club at Narragansett Pier in which he says he found about 60 prominent people gambling.

Phillip S. Randolph, Robert E. Strawbridge and Robert M. Boplin, the three Philadelphia men whom Cross had summoned at the polo field last Thursday were called as witnesses.

THREE KILLED IN RIOT

BROOKS, Ga., Aug. 29.—A ball game between negro clubs for the championship of Fayette county yesterday afternoon broke up in a riot in the ninth inning.

Three ball players are dead, three are probably fatally injured and several are less seriously hurt.

The dead are Kid Iverson, Jim Barrett and Harvey Mayes, members of the Brooks team, which was opposing the Hartford team.

Pistols, knives and ball bats were used in the riot, scores of spectators taking sides with the rival teams.

The riot was caused by a close decision of Umpire Smith in the ninth which allowed the Brooks team to score the winning run. Members of the Hartford team and their friends at once moved on the umpire, who was protected by the Brooks team.

Although all the fighting raged about the umpire he escaped without injury.

ST. MARY'S PARTY

Big Lawn Fete at Collinsville a Grand Success

Everybody in St. Mary's parish who was able to be out, together with a host of friends from Dracont and from Lowell, was present Saturday at the lawn party given by the parishioners of St. Mary's in aid of the new but growing parish of Collinsville. From the size of the crowd, the elaborateness of the appointments and the multiplicity of attractions offered at the lawn party, one would think that some big city instead of a small country community. But St. Mary's parish makes up in enthusiasm for what it lacks in numbers and with such hustlers at the helm as Rev. Thomas Walsh, pastor, School Committee member Bernard J. Maguire, Town Clerk John W. Brennan and others it was not to be wondered at ed by Miss Annis Harrington. Fish pond; Miss Nellie Fogarty and Miss Nellie Mahoney. Dancing: Patrick Silk in charge, assisted by Patrick Meade and Edward Brennan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Henry Farrell, 17 years old, of 436 West Forty-second street and Arthur Hirschberg, 16 years old, of 455 West Forty-second street, were arraigned in the Yorkville police court yesterday on a charge of stealing $400 worth of United Cigar stores coupons. They were arrested at Third avenue and Twenty-ninth street, on Saturday night by Policemen Healey who saw them trying to dispose of $400 of these coupons in a pawnshop.

Information obtained from the prisoners the policemen recovered 17,000 more of the coupons. The young men had in a room at Tenth avenue. It was charged that they took 20,000 from a wagon in Brooklyn.

Magistrate O'Connor said he had no jurisdiction, as the offense was committed in Brooklyn. Two Brooklyn detectives were sent for and on their arrival the magistrate discharged the prisoners, greatly to the satisfaction of their lawyer.

When they reached the sidewalk the Brooklyn police rearrested the young men and much to the surprise and indignation of their lawyer took them to Brooklyn. They were arraigned in that borough this morning.

JOHN W. BRENNAN, General Manager.

that the affair was a complete social and financial success.

The lawn party was held on the large grounds, which a suburbanite might call a meadow adjoining church property, and the afternoon program included a ball game between the O. M. I. Cadets and the Brookside of the Lowell & Suburban League. Although this game was a "picnic" game, it was nevertheless a regularly scheduled league game with the regular team and it was of such absorbing interest that a program of general sports planned by the committee in charge was passed up in order that all might enjoy the pleasures of the game.

The game made the eighth success for the O. M. I. Cadets, and makes them the winners of the league. The score by innings:

Brookside's 1 0 0 0 3 0 1 0 1-5

Batteries—Cadets: Condon and Clark; Brookside: Campbell and Burke. Umpire—Meade.

The game lasted well into the evening and at its conclusion supper was served to a large and merry party. Around the grounds were many gaily decorated booths which did a land office business all afternoon and evening.

A fortune teller's camp, presided over by Misses Catherine Caldwell and Bridget Sullivan, was most liberally patronized and, according to the seerss, Mr. Walsh will be kept busy for the next year, barring Lent and Advent, administering one of the sacraments which brings joy not only to all who receive it but to their friends.

They told Barney Maguire that he was to be selected next year, and it is also understood that they told the same thing to Martin Banks, Frank Cullinan and some 10 others, although the law calls for only three.

In the evening the grounds and the booths presented a most attractive appearance under the glow of several arc lights and a large number of fantastic Japanese lanterns, most artistically arranged. On a raised platform dancing was enjoyed until midnight to the music of Hodgman's orchestra, when the pleasant affair was brought to a close.

A most profitable feature of the affair consisted of the auto rides from the grounds to Lakeview and return, which were most liberally patronized throughout the day and evening. There were four big autos in the run, all contributed, and the contributions were Messrs. B. J. Rollins and Frank Dickson of Collinsville and Dan Sullivan and B. J. Callahan of Lowell.

Mr. Sullivan is one of the originators of this popular feature of such events having made his first appearance at the Y. M. C. I. lawn party and later at the Immaculate Conception lawn party. The idea was first put into practice at the Fete Champetre of the French-American Orphanage and has proved to be a grand success on all occasions.

Three names that stand out prominently in the success of the affair are those of Father Walsh, Town Clerk Brennan and School Committee member Maguire. They had able assistance and these in charge were as follows:

General Manager John J. Brennan; Chairman of the committee of parishioners Edward J. Maguire.

Refreshment table: Mrs. J. C. Mahoney, matron; Mrs. Patrick Silk, assistant; Mrs. Henry Burke, Mrs. John Brennan, Mrs. William Wheaton, Mrs. Hugh McAnispe, Mrs. George Ireland, Mrs. Thomas Spellman, Mrs. J. J. Brennan, Mrs. John Madden, Mrs. P. J. McNamara, Mrs. Lawrence Brennan, Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. Frank Cullinan, Mrs. Patrick Coleman, Mrs. Thomas McNamara.

Tonic table: Frank Cullinan, assisted by John McDonald.

Post office: Miss Mary Burke assisted.

BEVERLY, Aug. 29.—At the Myopia Hunt club, where he grooms every morning, President Taft pressed a button opening the Ohio valley exposition, at Cincinnati. He also sent over the wire the following message:

"I congratulate you on the opening of your exposition and I sincerely hope that it will be successful in all its purposes. Everyone who is familiar with the facts rejoices in the emphasis that it gives to the Ohio river improvement. That improvement is more than any other road is known exactly and the time in which it can be completed is not far off. Congress is pledged to the work and nine feet from Pittsburgh to Cairo on the Ohio is assured."

(Signed) "William H. Taft."

Among the president's callers this afternoon will be Juan Sumulong, a member of the Philippine commission and John F. O'Rourke, a construction engineer of New York. Mr. O'Rourke has a new plan for raising the battlement Maine which he will submit to the president. Mr. Sumulong has been on a trip around the world and is returning to his duties in the Philippines.

SKULL CRUSHED

Man Mangled by Runaway Horse

BROCKTON, Aug. 29.—W. Scott Flinders of Campbell was terribly mangled by a runaway horse on Main street this morning when the animal threw him from a lumber team and as he lay with a fractured skull on the curbing nearly kicked off his foot at the ankle. As soon as assistance could get to him, Flinders was removed from under the feet of the animal and rushed to the hospital, where he hovers between life and death.

CABLE REPAIRED

It Was Out of Commission Two Days

VINEYARD HAVEN, Aug. 29.—After having been out of telephone communication for two days, the telephone cable across Vineyard sound which was broken Saturday probably by the large in tow of the tug Mary P. Scully has been repaired and the long distance service was resumed today. The break was not located until noon yesterday and since then the company's men have been at work splicing the wires. The work was not completed until nearly dawn today.

THE KINGDOM WRECKED

YARMOUTH, N. S., Aug. 28.—There had been no communication received at noon today from Mud Island where the "Kingdom of the Holy Ghost and Its Society" is wrecked. Several tours left today for the scene of the wreck.

LOWELL BOYS

Members of Corn and Potato Club

To create a desire for agriculture among school children there has been organized what is known as the Corn and Potato club and the result is that 5000 boys and girls are raising potatoes and 4000 are raising corn.

Arthur K. Whitcomb, superintendent of schools in Lowell, received a letter some time ago, from William R. Hart, A. M., of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, advising him of the club and his mission and he asked the co-operation of the superintendent in having the matter brought before the school children in this city.

Mr. Whitcomb complied with the request and two boys, John H. Rordan, of 10 Charles street, and Albert F. Carlson, of 92 Carlisle street, expressed a desire to join the club. Mr. Whitcomb wrote again to Mr. Hart and gave him the names of the two Lowell boys who were desirous of doing a little planting.

Mr. Hart said he would send seed potatoes to the boys, but what luck the boys had Mr. Whitcomb does not know as they have not reported any further in the matter.

The affair took on the form of a juvenile contest and results will be made known at the Annual Fair to be held Sept. 20. Mr. Hart stated in his letter to Mr. Whitcomb that about 100 towns are represented in the Corn and Potato club.

SHOT HERSELF

After Her Husband Had Left Her

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Just after her husband left her in a room in a boarding house in Brooklyn today Mrs. Halide Troy, 29 years old, wife of Willis Troy, shot herself in the breast with a revolver and died almost instantly. She had been suffering from moroseness, according to her husband, who said she was an author and known in England as Hilde Lee Laurens. She was born in Lancashire. They had a misunderstanding over the children in the morning.

THE LID IS ON

All is Quiet at Coney Island

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The lid has been clamped down hard on Coney Island and the police today are being instructed to close up all the undesirable resorts at the island. Today Police Commissioner Baker reduced Police Inspector O'Brien and sent Inspector Jussell of the detective bureau to clean up the place.

LATEST PRESIDENT TAFT

Was Held Up by Police Officer Charlie Hamilton

President William Howard Taft was "held up" near the Pawtucket bridge in this city about 3:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but the affair did not prove to be a serious one for the "hold up" man was Patrolman Charles A. Hamilton, who keeps tabs on autoists who attempt to exceed the speed limit while passing through his territory.

Charlie did not know that the president was going to pass through this city and when he saw a big car coming down School street and cross the bridge he held up his hand and the car, containing the president and his party came to a stop. The patrolman informed the driver that he was traveling a trifle too fast and after enlightening him with the speed laws cautioned the chauffeur to go at a slower speed through the congested districts. The president said that the machine

The Crew Prepared to Abandon the Craft

CHATHAM, Aug. 28.—A lime-laden schooner, Ada Ames bound from Rockland, Me., for New York, opened her seams when she struck on Shoefield shoal this afternoon and although she worked free within a few moments the water which leaked in, slackened the line and the vessel caught fire. No signals of distress were displayed but observers on shore could see the crew apparently preparing to abandon the craft. Captain Kelley and his crew of life-savers from the Monomoy Point station put out in their lifeboat to render assistance.

The Ada Ames sailed from Rockland on Aug. 26 for New York. When the vessel was passing Monomoy Point about 1 p.m. today she ran on to the Shoefield shoal. She worked clear within a few moments but almost immediately shore observers could see dense volumes of smoke pouring out of the after companionway while the members of the crew were hard at work placing their belongings in the schooner's small boats preparatory to abandoning the craft.

The Ada Ames was built at Rockland, Me., the first of a series of boats in 1860. She registers 163 tons net, 120 feet long, 27½ feet beam, and carries five men in her crew.

THE GRAND JURY BANK SHORTAGE

To Take up Hartridge Case Is Estimated at About $250,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—In compliance with the remarks made by Judge Holt last April when a jury in the United States circuit court returned a verdict for Mrs. Copley Thaw, the defendant in the suit instituted by Lawyer Clifford W. Hartridge, to recover $93,000 for counsel fees and disbursements in connection with the first trial of Harry K. Thaw for the murder of Stanford White, the grand jury will tomorrow take up the matter of Hartridge disbursements.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 28.—The estimated shortage of Richmond H. Ingersoll, former treasurer of the closed York County Savings bank, is a quarter of a million dollars. It had been predicted that the loss would not exceed $100,000.

HOLD WITHOUT BAIL
BOSTON, Aug. 28.—William Chamberlain was held without bail in the municipal court today to await a grand jury investigation of the death yesterday of Donald McKenzie, employed in a stable in Brighton with Chamberlain. The police believe that the two men quarreled and that McKenzie was killed by a pitch fork.

DEATHS

HALL.—Mrs. Almira A. Hall died on Saturday at her home in Concord, N. H., aged 61 years. Besides her husband, she leaves three brothers and three sisters, A. J. Gustin of Stowe, A. P. Gustin of South Lancaster, A. P. Gustin of this city, Mrs. G. W. Rand of Dracut, and Mrs. M. A. Fox and Mrs. John S. Dennett of this city.

GEORGE.—The many friends of Miss Alice M. George will be pained to learn of her death at the Lowell General hospital Saturday night after a short illness. Miss George was well known in Lowell, having conducted a boarding house in Kirk street until last spring. She leaves her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Michael George of Bennington, N. H., two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Smith of Andover, N. H., and Mrs. Emma Holt of Framingham, N. H., and three brothers, Edward A. George of Bennington, N. H., Edward E. of Andover, N. H., and Alonzo C. of Granville, N. Y.

LITTLE.—Florence R. Little, daughter of James and Annie Little, died yesterday morning at the Lowell General hospital, aged 10 months and 16 days. The body was removed to the home of her parents, 22 Waugh street.

DAY.—Samuel Day, one of Dracut's oldest residents, died Sunday afternoon at his home, 413 Mammoth road, Dracut, aged 71 years, 5 months and 25 days. He leaves a son, Charles S. Day, and a daughter, Mrs. George Head. The body was taken to the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & sons.

DOYLE.—Cornelius F. Doyle, aged 32 years, a well known young resident of St. Patrick's parish, died early this morning at his home, 33 Claiborne street. He is survived by his parents, John and Ann Doyle, four sisters, Misses Catherine A., Margaret E., Mary D., Doyle, and Mrs. William Kiernan, and two brothers, James L. and John J. Doyle. He was a native of Lowell and was educated in St. Patrick's parochial school. After graduating from this institution he entered the employ of Edward J. Cryan, who conducts a store in Dutton street, and remained there quite a few years. He then engaged in the wholesale confectionery business for himself and was most successful from the start. He was a young man who made friends of everyone with whom he came in contact, being possessed of a disposition that attracted people to him. His family has the sympathy of their many acquaintances and friends in their sad bereavement.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE
NEWBURY, N. Y., Aug. 28.—W. R. Perkins, a wealthy feed dealer and a former member of the board of education; his wife and daughter Grace and James Knapp, all of this city, were injured when an automobile in which they were riding turned turtle. The accident occurred at Dead Horse curve, on the road leading from Walden to Watikill, yesterday afternoon. In the car also was Miss Helen Perkins, another daughter of Mr. Perkins, who was the only one who escaped injury. Mr. Perkins was driving the car, just as the machine was rounding the dangerous bend in the road known as Dead Horse curve the auto became unmanageable. Screeching to the left side of the road the car tumbled down an embankment, throwing the occupants into a ditch. Luckily they all fell clear of the overturned car. Mr. Perkins' right arm was fractured in three places. Mrs. Washburn and Bartrum received the fractures. A splinter was driven into Mrs. Perkins' arm and an operation was necessary to remove the piece of wood. She was also bruised and badly shaken up. Miss Grace Perkins sustained a bad cut on the chin and James Knapp was cut and bruised about the body and head. The auto was damaged,

TENEMENT WRECKED

Some Occupants Had to Jump to Save Their Lives

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—A fire supposed to have been the result of the explosion of leaking gas started in a shoe shop on the ground floor of a five-story tenement at 354 East Fifty-fifth street a few minutes before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and jumped up the shaft of the stairway with such rapidity that the few occupants of the building who were not away for a Sunday outing escaped with their lives only by the quickest work. Two men and a woman were so seriously burned before they could get out that they had to be removed to Flower hospital.

An Italian named Manistera, who runs the shoe shop on the ground floor in the west half of the building, left his place about fifteen minutes to 2 for an afternoon's excursion with his wife. On the other side of the building Mrs. Josephine Smith keeps a stationery shop and she and her son were sitting in the doorway. Five minutes later there came an explosion from within the boot shop. They rushed to the street and then there was another loud noise and the plate windows of the boot shop fell outward toward the street, followed by a rush of smoke and flame.

Mrs. Timothy O'Brien and her husband were sitting by the window of their apartment on the third floor watching for their son, who is a policeman, when they heard the explosion. They ran to the stairway. The flames jumped up the shaft and drove them into the kitchen. Mr. O'Brien went out on the fire escape and started to go down first so as to be able to

DROWNED BY HIS FISHLINE

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Antonio Spasia, an Italian clerk, living at 294 Elizabeth street, was drowned off the Steeplechase pier at Coney Island, late yesterday afternoon while fishing. His line became tangled with that of his friend, Edward Coyne of 217 Pearl street, Brooklyn, and drifting under the pier got caught.

Spasia climbed over the railing to free the lines and lost his balance. It is believed that he must have hit something beneath the surface of the water, for he did not reappear.

CAUGHT WITH A STOLEN AUTO

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Adam Schaeffer of 759 Courtlandt avenue, a twenty-one-year-old watchman employed in the Sultan Motor company's garage at 538 West Forty-ninth street, after his night's work was over yesterday morning took a car out of the garage and gave several friends an outing. The car belonged to the Otis Elevator company. Harry M. Billings, superintendent of the garage, missed the car and had an alarm sent out for it by the police.

At about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Schaeffer on his way down Lexington avenue at 114th street collided with a Lexington avenue car. The trolley car wasn't damaged, but the automobile was banged up quite a bit. Policeman Riegelman of the East 104th street station recognized the number of the car as that of the missing machine for which an alarm was out, and Schaeffer admitted that he had taken it out without getting anybody's consent. He was locked up on a charge of grand larceny under the new law.

Employees Held Outing at Nabnasset Grove

The annual outing of the employees of the L. H. Spaulding Shoe company of this city was held at Nabnasset grove Saturday and was one of the most enjoyable employees' outings on record. The employees assembled at the factory in Rock street at 3:30 o'clock in the morning and at 9 took special electric to Nabnasset from the corner of Rock and Fletcher streets.

Upon arrival at the grounds all repaired to the ball grounds, where a ball game between two teams consisting of the married and single men took place, the prize being a box of 7-20-4s. The game proved to be most interesting, the married men winning by a score of 6 to 4. Mr. Austin was the umpire, and there wasn't a single kick throughout the game. The teams lined up as follows:

Married Men—Ducharme, C. Barry, P. Atkinson, 1b, Chase, 2b, Emery, 3b, Germain, ss, Dunn, lf, Morrisette, cf, Fred Duchesne, rf.

Single Men—Sabre, C. Dyer, p, Gillespie, 1b, Quinn, 2b, Phil, 3b, Tremblay, ss, Merry, ss, Tremblay, lf, Mooney, cf, McCarthy, cf, Lachature, rf.

After the game the program of sports was run off. There were so many entries in the 100 yard dash that trial heats were necessary. The race was won as follows: First prize, A. Ducharme 10½ seconds; second, F. E. Atkinson. Mr. Dunn refereed.

After the 100 yard dash, an intermission was taken and dinner was served from 12:30 until 2. Then followed a long list of races which resulted as follows:

Three legged race—Referee Mr. Emery—First prize, Ducharme and Atkinson; second, McCarthy and Pelletier.

Pat girls' race, referee, Mr. Dunn; won by Miss C. Crawford. Boys' race 100 yards dash, referee, Mr. Emery won by A. Dyer. Girls' lemon race, Mr. Dunn, referee, won by May Silva. Running high jump, referee, Mr. Chase, won by Atkinson with Lawson, second. Running broad jump, referee, Mr. Chase, Atkinson, 1st; Ducharme, 2nd. Girls' 100 yard dash, referee, Mr. Dunn, May Silva, 1st; Alice Clemens, 2d, hop, step and jump, referee, Mr. Chase, Mirk, Cont, 1st; Phil Desrosiers, 2nd. Boys' shoe race, referee, Mr. Chase, C. Atkinson, 1st; Atkinson, 2nd. Boys' swimming race, referee, Mr. Emery, H. Boisvert, 1st; P. Gillespie, 2d.

After the sports an intermission was taken for supper and in the evening dancing was enjoyed in the pavilion until 10 o'clock when special cars were taken for home. During the day J. A. Austin had occasion to demonstrate his ability as a fisherman getting 65 perch and three fine bass during the afternoon. The starter of all races was Mr. Austin who worked like a trojan all day. The committee in charge of the outing consisted of Messrs. Daniel Dunn, Austin Emery and Atkinson and Misses Renoit, Clemens and Dufresne.

Spoke at Frontier Celebration At Cheyenne

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 27.—Theodore Roosevelt delivered the following address here today:

"When, at the close of my hunting trip in Africa, I reached the borders of civilization, the first invitation I accepted was this, to visit the capital of Wyoming on the day when the people of the frontier came together to commemorate their achievements; I was glad it was so, because I have a peculiar feeling for the men and women of what used to be called the 'Far West,' and especially for those of the cattle country. For a number of years I lived on a ranch on the Little Missouri, sharing, for hard play, good fortune and bad fortune, with my neighbors; working on the round-up, serving as delegate from the Little Missouri round-up district to the Montana Stock-growers' association, and even at times acting as deputy sheriff at my end of the country. I count those years as among the most valuable of my life, because nothing breeds such community of feeling as to work with one's fellowmen at their life tasks, and to learn to know their feelings by actually sharing them. The man of the west, throughout the successive stages of western growth, has always been one of the two or three most typical figures—indeed, I am tempted to say, the most typical figure—in American life, and no man can really understand our country and appreciate what it really is and what it promises unless he has the fullest and closest sympathy with the ideals and aspirations of the west. The prime reason for this is to be found in the fact that the westerner is so good an American. He is an American first and foremost; for this is the great lesson, friends, that all of us need to learn and to keep, the lesson that it is unimportant whether a man lives north or south, east or west, provided he is genuinely and in good faith an American, that he feels every part of the United States as his own, and that he is honestly desirous to uphold the interests of all other Americans in whatever sections of the country they may dwell.

"A hundred years ago, when men spoke of the west they meant the country between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi. Fifty years ago the white man's west took in Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas, and then skipped across to California and Oregon. The country of the great plains and the Rockies, the country in which you, whom I am now addressing, lead your lives and do your work, has grown up within my own lifetime. I myself saw and took part in the closing years of the pioneer period, and it was my great privilege to work side by side with the pioneers—the ranchmen, the miners, the cow-punchers, the mulchmen, the bull-whackers, who actually opened up the country. I have seen the herds and flocks of the cattlemen and sheepmen supplant the game; I have seen the fortunate movement by which the small farm has tended gradually to take the place of the great unfenced ranch. I now travel in every comfort on railways across lands which when I first rode across them, were still the home of the Indian and the buffalo; and I find cities where one can obtain not merely comfort, but luxury, in the places where thirty years ago there was not a building beyond a log hut or a double house. The men who did this work were engaged in the final stages of conquering the continent; and it was their privilege to do one of the great works of all time, to do their part in the performance of an epic feat in the history of the progress of mankind.

"I have used the word progress. The west stands for growth, for progress. So must the whole American people stand. A great democracy must be progressive or it will soon cease to be either great or democratic; no nation, no state, no party, can stand still. It must either go forward or go backward, and it becomes useless if it goes backward. Therefore I greet you, men of the west, and I stand for progress as all men must stand who are progressive.

"The pioneers and their immediate successors won victory only by proving that they possessed the great, masterful qualities which lie at the foundation of national greatness. There are certain well-meaning men of intellectual cultivation, but lacking mental and moral robustness, who complain continually that they find American life, and especially the life of these American communities emerging from the pioneer stage, crude and without genius or beauty. Genius is a fine thing for a nation, but character is a still finer thing, and though beauty is good, strength is an even greater good.

"The men who have made this great republic of the west what it is, and especially the men who have turned it into a continental commonwealth, have possessed in the highest degree the great virtues of strength, courage, energy and undaunted and unwavering resolution. Their typical leaders—of whom Abraham Lincoln, though the most exceptional, was the most typical—have possessed keen intelligence, and a character not merely strong but lofty, a character exalted by the fact that great power was accompanied by a high and fine determination to use this great power for the common good, for the advancement of mankind. The pioneer days are over, save in a few places; and the more complex life today calls for a greater variety of good qualities than were needed on the frontier. There is need at present to encourage the development of new abilities which can be brought to high perfection only by a kind of training useless in pioneer times; but these new qualities can only supplement, and never supplant, the old, homely virtues: the need for the special and distinctive pioneer virtues is as great as ever. In other words, as our civilization grows older and more complex, while it is true that we need to develop men whose lives are devoted wholly to the pursuit of special objects, it is yet also true that we need a greater and not a less development of the fundamental frontier virtues. These virtues include the power of self-help, together with the power of joining with others for mutual help, and, what is especially important, the feeling of comradeship, of social good-fellowship. Any man who had the good fortune to live among the old frontier conditions must, in looking back, realize how vital was this feeling of general comradeship and social fellowship. There were good men and bad men in the new communities just as in the old communities, and the conditions on the frontier were such that the qualities of the good and bad alike were rather more strikingly manifest than in older communities; but among the men who tried to lead hardworking, decent lives, there was a feeling of genuine democracy, which represented an approach to the American ideal which we certainly should do everything in our power to preserve. We did not try to say that men were equal when they were not equal, but we did our best to secure something like an equality of opportunity and an equality of reward for good service; and, moreover, each man expected to be received, and, on the whole, was received, wherever he went, on the footing that his merits warranted.

"Now, so far as possible these qualities and the conditions that bring about these qualities should be kept in the great states which are growing out of the old frontier communities. We need to strive for the general social betterment of the people, as a whole, and yet to encourage individual liberty and set high reward on individual initiative up to the point where they become detrimental to the general welfare. In continually and earnestly striving for the betterment of social and economic conditions in our complex industrial civilization, we should work in the old frontier spirit of rugged strength and courage, and yet with the old frontier spirit of brotherly comradeship and goodwill. I do not mean that we should refrain from hating wrong; on the contrary, I would preach fiery wrath against wrong. But I would preach such wrath against the wrong-doer; save in those cases where his wrong-doing really is due to evil moral attributes on his part, and not to a wrong or false system, of which he is almost as much the victim as the beneficiary. Sometimes a wrong represents the deliberate wickedness of the wrong-doer, in which case the remedy is to punish him; but sometimes it represents the effects of a false social system, in which case the right course is to alter what is false in the system. Both principles need to be kept in view as guides to our conduct, and it is necessary sometimes to work in accordance with one and sometimes in accordance with the other.

"Before ending I wish to say a word on something which I believe should especially interest all men who live in the open country, and especially all men who during the past thirty years have lived and worked on ranches, or have done their lifework in the wilder parts of our land, on the great plains or among the mountains. The phase of our national life in which the stockman, the mining prospector, the frontier farmer and their associates were the chief characters, was not only a very important, but also a very picturesque phase. Often such a phase passes without any great artist arising to commemorate it. The old-time backwoodsman, for instance, the man of the back country, who lived in the eastern forests through which the waters ran eastward to the Atlantic and westward to the Mississippi, passed away without any painter or sculptor arising who possessed at once both the keenness of vision to see what a vital and picturesque figure the backwoodsman was, and the genius adequately to present that figure. The artists who saw the picturesque of the backwoodsman lacked the genius adequately to commemorate it; while the artists of real ability unfortunately had their eyes turned towards Europe, and lacked the robust originality—which the novelist Cooper showed—of men where their chance lay to do a great work. But in our generation, for our good fortune, a great artist arose who was capable of seeing and of recording the infinite picturesqueness of the life of the plains and the Rockies. Of course I speak of Frederick Remington. He was one of those Americans who by his achievements distinctly deserved well of America. He worked with pencil, with brush, with chisel; he was both a painter and a sculptor. His pictures and his few bronzes are equally good. When my own regiment, a typically western regiment recruited mainly from the men of the great plains and the mountains, was disbanded at Montauk Point, the officers and enlisted men joined in giving me Remington's bronze Bronco Buster; a gift which I thought peculiarly appropriate coming from such a body of men. In Remington's pictures all the most vivid and characteristic features of the western pioneer life which is just closing were set forth, and he has commemorated forever the men of the plains and the mountains as they actually were. The cowboy is his favorite type, but the mining prospector, the frontier farmer, the man who guides ox-wagon or mule team, the soldier, the Indian—all appear. Now I wish very much that these men themselves would in turn provide a monument for the great artist, the sum of whose activities represents such a feature of American achievement, and, above all, represents the commemoration of some of the most interesting figures that have ever appeared on the stage of American life. A statue should be raised to Remington by some really first-class artist. Here at Cheyenne in this gathering many hundreds of the men have come together who were themselves typical leaders in, and representatives of, the very life which Remington so portrayed that it will always live. I hope that these men will join together, arrange the appointment of a committee, and start to raise funds for the erection of such a statue.

TO ADDRESS THE NATIONAL CONSERVATION CONGRESS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 29.—One of the addresses to be delivered at the second national conservation congress in St. Paul, September 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, which will come closer to the home life of every American, is that of Dr. F. F. Westbrook, dean of the Medical school of the University of Minnesota. "Life and Health as National Assets" is the subject to be discussed by Dr. Westbrook. No other phase of conservation furnishes a broader field for discussion according to the officers of the congress and much that will benefit mankind is expected to come from paper to be read by Dr. Westbrook, an authority on national vitality.

To give an idea of the scope of the question to be discussed by Dr. Westbrook it is pointed out that the report on "National Vitality, Its Wastes and Conservation," made to the national conservation commission by Irving Fisher, professor of political economy, Yale university showed:

Every day and every hour in the year about 3,000,000 persons lie dangerously ill in the United States. Fully half of this illness is preventable.

Three-fourths of tuberculosis, from which 150,000 Americans die annually, could be avoided.

If each life lost is appraised at only $1,700, and each year's average earnings for adults at only $700, the economic gain from preventing preventable disease, measured in dollars exceeds one and a half billions.

Professor Fisher's report said: "Eighteen experts in various diseases, as well as vital statisticians, have contributed data on the ratio of preventability of thirty different causes of death into which mortality may be classified. From these data it is found that 15 years at least could be added to the average human lifetime by applying the science of preventing disease. More than half of this additional life would come from the prevention of tuberculosis, typhoid and other diseases, the prevention of which could be accomplished by pure air, water and milk. In Lawrence, Mass., after the installation of a pure water supply, the death rate from typhoid was reduced by 80 per cent. For every death thus saved from typhoid, two or three deaths are saved from other diseases."

Professor Fisher reported that the length of life is increasing wherever sanitary science and preventive medicine are applied. Statistics show that the average duration of life in India is less than 25 years; in Sweden, more than 50 years, and in Massachusetts 45 years and that in Europe it has doubled in three and one half centuries. In Massachusetts life is lengthening at the rate of 14 years per century, or about one half the rate of Germany.

SEARCH FOR CAPSALIS

Great Posse on Trail of the Suspected Murderer

SACO, Me., Aug. 29.—All day long yesterday Sheriff Frank I. Smith of Stafford county, N. H., assisted by Deputy Sheriff Castler of Somersworth, N. H., a Greek detective, Louis Stratigakos, and a posse of local officers, farmers and special policemen have been scouring the woods in the northern part of the city for Nicholas Capsalis, accused of a murder in Somersworth.

Last night the country roads round about the Great Heath were patrolled by farmers armed with shotguns. They have orders to hold up every man that passes that way during the night and find out who he is.

The lumber camps are being watched. Sheriff Smith left for Somersworth last night, leaving Deputy Sheriff Castler in charge here. Sheriff Smith thinks the clew is a good one and he will spare no effort in learning the identity of the man secreted in the woods. If Smith does not return today he will send another deputy to assist in the search.

Great Heath, where the fugitive may be hiding, covers more than two square miles and in character is similar to the great Dismal swamp of Virginia. The authorities have thus a tough proposition to locate the Greek. The track of swamp land is bounded on the north by the Mud road, on the east by the McKenney road, on the south by the Jenkins road, and on the west by the Euxton.

It is a short distance from the scene of the murder of Ivory Boothby, the North Saco farmhand, who was called out of his house and murdered, Sept. 14, 1898. A Greek, believed to be Capsalis, was seen near the bridge, only a short distance from the murder, a few days ago.

FORMER GOVERNOR FRANCIS WANTS TO BE U. S. SENATOR

DAVID R. FRANCIS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 29.—David R. Francis of St. Louis, former president of the Louisiana Purchase exposition and former governor of Missouri, has filed with the secretary of state his declaration as a candidate for the United States senate as a democrat. It was only after Governor farmer in the North Saco neighborhood that a man thought to be the one for whom a reward of $250 was offered by the Somersworth authorities was hiding in the woods. They all agreed to be on the watch for him, and to notify the police as soon as they saw any stranger pass the house.

Hadley had announced that he would not be a candidate for the senate that the former governor filed his petition, and this is taken to mean that Mr. Francis disliked the idea of opposing the present republican governor at the polls.

Many people in that territory have telephones and are as much interested as the police in rounding the fellow up.

Traces of the Fugitive Reported
There has not been so much excitement in North Saco since 1898 when the officers were searching for the murderer of Ivory Booth. It was learned today that the cows of Richard Grant were milked by someone Friday night. Garden truck has been stolen from several gardens and apples have been stolen from the trees.

Someone tried to force open the door of the farm house next to Bert Boothby's Friday night. All these things lead the police to believe that someone is hiding in the woods, as this is the first time this summer anything of this kind has occurred. Garden thieves have not bothered the agriculturalists and the farmers' cows have not been milked.

Policeman A. J. Myers was in Pepperell park late one night recently and when he flashed his light a man started for the railroad track of the B. & M. R. R. nearby on the run. A photographer saw a strange man on the railroad track while coming from Old Orchard. He said the fellow, who looked like a Greek, ran into the woods when he came along. Police were sent to the scene but they could find no one.

It is believed that Capsalis, wherever he is, will return to Greece if he can get away on a steamer that sails shortly. It is believed that he had planned to return to his native country and will do so if it is possible to get on the steamship before he is captured.

Special Officer Joseph Malcolm, who is acquainted with Capsalis, was one of the searching party yesterday. He found tracks where a team and a bicycle had passed along during the night. They were fresh tracks, and it was thought perhaps someone had gone from Biddeford to give the Greek the tip to lay low for a few days.

A LONG TRAMP

Made by Company K.
Scouting Party

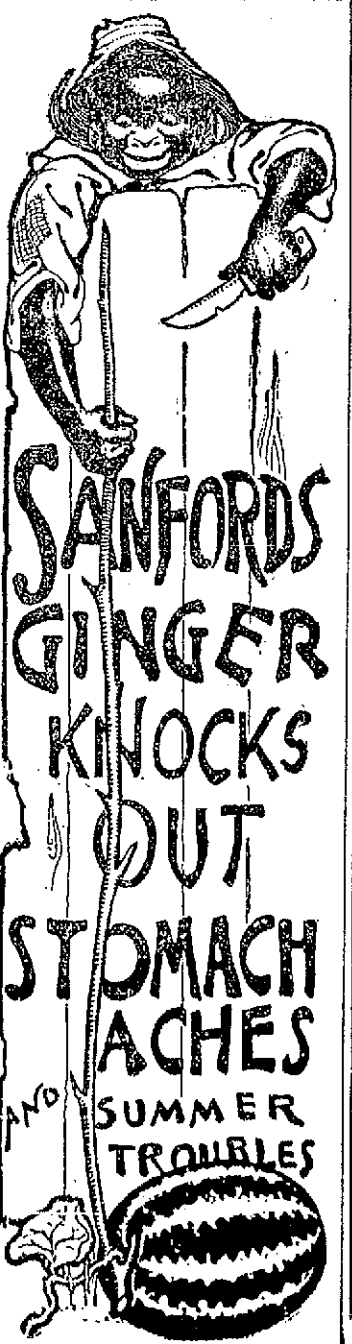

A Company A scouting party, in command of Sergt. W. C. MacBrayne, returned Saturday night from a ten days' camp in the New Hampshire mountains. The party was composed of Corporal Eugene O. Page and Orderlies Gilbert H. Page and Harvey J. Page. Mr. Constantine C. Moustakis of Salem, formerly of this city, the organizer of military companies of Greek-Americans, accompanied the outfit. His purpose was to make a study of camp life and scout duty, and he reports many pleasant experiences. In several speeches which he is to make before the Greek companies in several cities in New England he will detail his camp life to them. The soldier had averaged $5 a day in their marches which included the climb of Kearsarge mountain and others of the Presidential group. Skirmish drills were held daily and on the march the men proceeded in patrol order. Guards were mounted each night at camp. Mr. Moustakis, who will proceed to Greece in case of war with Turkey, which is threatened by the Crotan question, learned many valuable lessons on the march and reports himself conditioned for active service.

FATALLY SCALDED

Child Fell Into Pail of Boiling Water

Antoinette Desrosiers, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Desrosiers of 86 Beaulieu street, was fatally scalded at her home, Saturday night by falling into a pail of boiling water.

The pail of water was left on the kitchen floor by her mother, who had been called into another room by the cries of a younger child. Upon her return she was horrified to find little Antoinette writhing in agony on the floor. Dr. G. O. Lavallée was hastily summoned and everything was done to relieve the sufferings of the little one, but she was beyond human aid.

FLED FROM FLAMES THE AUTO BOLTED

Guests at Summer Hotel Had Narrow Escape

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., Aug. 29.—Summer boarders at the Goose Rock house at Cape Porpoise were obliged to flee for their lives, leaving most of their personal effects behind them, when the house took fire early last evening.

The blaze started in a blind attic and had got under such good headway before it was discovered that the guests, many of whom were in the dining room or on the piazzas, had no opportunity to go to their rooms for their valuables and clothing.

Lack of fire fighting apparatus of sufficient power to cope with the situation resulted in the spread of the flames, with the result that not only the hotel building itself but also a large barn, a cottage on the estate, ice houses, bowling alleys and other buildings were destroyed, with a total loss that probably will exceed $30,000.

The property was owned by Ivory Emmons and was insured to about two-thirds of its value. In addition to the loss on the buildings and furnishings, the guests' loss will also reach a considerable figure.

There had been a fire in the fireplace all day yesterday, and it is supposed that the fire caught around the chimney as a result.

Mrs. Cynthia Emmons, the aged mother of the proprietor, was overcome by the excitement incident to the fire and had to be treated by a physician.

Burglar Arrested in Boston Had Made Many Breaks

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—A man, to whom the police believe may be traced a number of the robberies reported by lodging house keepers in the South End lately and who kept about him what are asserted to be memoranda of the thefts he committed, was arrested by officers of Station 3 last night after an encounter with the keeper of a lodging house at 51 Waltham street, and a pursuit through the streets.

At the East Dedham street station the prisoner gave his name as Samuel Small, 22, but the name Robert A. Ruston, 41 Somerset street, was found on a memorandum book in his pocket.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Small called at 51 Waltham street and engaged a room of Miss Marie Barber, the landlady. Not long after Miss Barber surprised him in an attempt to force the trunk of another of her lodgers. Although she seized the man, he broke away and ran to the street.

Attributed by Miss Barber's outcries, Edmund Smith of 30 Union street, who was passing, gave chase. He was joined by Special Officer Clifford and Patrolman Nealey of Station 5, and the three cornered Small in a doorway some distance from the starting point of his flight.

AUTO DAMAGED

Man Injured in Accident at Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 29.—Through the breaking of the steering gear, a large automobile driven by C. E. Fitzpatrick of Boston left the highway at Greely park late yesterday afternoon, crashed into a tree and landed on the sidewalk in front of the park. Carl Larson, a motorcyclist from Saugus, who was traveling the same way, rode his cycle at the same time into the rear wheel of the automobile.

Larson was hurled from his cycle and seriously injured. He was taken to the Emergency hospital and attended by Dr. B. G. Boran. Walter Fitzpatrick, brother of the man operating the automobile, was thrown from his seat but sustained only few bruises.

The Fitzpatrick brothers were returning from Brockton, Mass., where they had passed their vacation and expected to reach Boston last night in time to dine with a sister who had just returned to this country after a year's trip abroad. They had had trouble with their steering gear, and according to their story had driven carefully all the 129 miles.

Reaching the end of the car line on Concord street they saw a car approaching and turned to the right to avoid it. The wheels caught in the car track and the forward part of the car swerved in the gravel dressing in such a manner that they headed for the tree.

The automobile struck the tree, so that the mudguards, fenders and lamps were torn off. When the wheels struck the slight elevation of the sidewalk, both front ends collapsed. It was at this time that Larson's motorcycle struck the automobile.

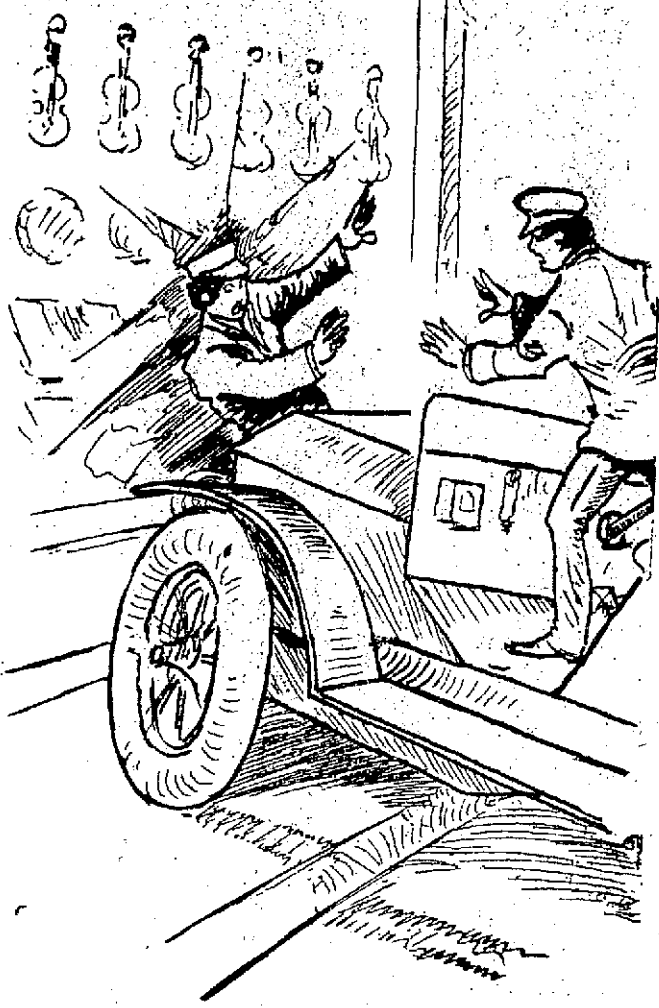

Work on bridge will be completed in the fall.

The people of Billerica street having become a bit tired of waiting for the new bridge made known their feelings of unrest in the matter to City Engineer Bowers, and Mr. Bowers took the matter up with the railroad. He addressed a communication to the company's engineer and received the following reply:

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26, 1910. Mr. George Bowers, Civil Engineer, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Replying to yours of the 25th inst. regarding progress on Billerica street bridge plans, I beg to state that the plans for the superstructure are in the hands of the bridge engineers and are nearly completed and the specification is now being manifested. We shall start for bids in a few days. There is no doubt but what the work will be completed early this fall.

Yours truly,
J. P. Snow, Chief Engineer.

And Smashed Plate Glass Window on Central Street

A big automobile of the touring type crashed through one of the large plate glass windows in the musical instrument store of Samuel Kershaw at 119 Central street early this morning. The smashing of the glass could be heard for several hundred yards away and those who were in the vicinity, thinking that a burglar had made a break into one of the jewelry stores in the street, rushed to the scene.

The accident was due either to the lack of knowledge of the operation of the machine or the carelessness of Willis DeMay of Lawrence, who was in charge of the auto.

DeMay and a male friend and two women left a garage in Lawrence about 11 o'clock last night and motored to this city. They stopped the car in Central street opposite Mr. Kershaw's store, the operator failing to throw his lever into "neutral" or set his emergency brakes, with the result that when he started to crank the machine the engine started and so did the car.

The man who was sitting on the front seat evidently knew little or nothing about the operating of the car and when the machine started to move forward he did not know what to do.

DeMay, who was standing in front of the car finding the car moving towards the plate glass window got excited, and instead of rushing around to the side of the machine and applying the brake braced himself against the radiator in an attempt to stop the machine, but he might as well have tried to stop a locomotive for the automobile with DeMay hanging onto the radiator, crashed through the window, where it came to an abrupt stop.

DeMay was cut about the head and face by the falling glass. Both head lamp on the machine were smashed and the motor was badly dented.

The women were frightened and screamed, and that, with the crash of the glass, brought a large crowd to the spot.

All four of the party were taken into Percy's lunch, where DeMay found an opportunity to have his wounds dressed. They were not of a serious nature.

Later, the party went on its way.

POSTAL BANKS To Be Installed by Nov. 1

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The trustees of the postal savings bank system—the secretary of the treasury, the postmaster-general and the attorney-general—are arranging to install between 25 and 50 banks in as many sections of the country by Nov. 1.

The service at first will necessarily be limited, as congress appropriated only $100,000 to inaugurate the whole system. Out of this sum the preliminary expenses, such as providing forms, stamps and instructions, must be paid. There will be little left for any other purpose.

The trustees believe, however, that a few banks can be financed out of the sum and these will be installed purely as experiments. As soon as it is determined how much additional help will be needed in the various post-offices and how great will be the cost of operating, congress will be asked for more money.

In the course of time the system will be self-sustaining. Only 2 per cent interest will be paid on deposits and the banks and trust companies, acting as depositories for the funds collected by the government, will be required under the law to pay 2 1/2 per cent interest. The quarter of 1 per cent will represent the only profit the government will make and this will go entirely toward maintenance and repairs.

Instead of establishing the first 25 or 50 banks in the 25 or 50 largest cities of the country, the trustees will probably pick out 25 or 50 sections of the country where industrial conditions are varied. This will be done for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the new banking system and of determining the response which may be expected on the part of the different classes served.

An improvement in the continental system of issuing pass books to depositors will be made by the government. Instead of the book, as provided by the private banks, a card will be issued to the depositor showing by perforation the amount of money deposited.

This card will be a duplicate of a similar one kept in the postoffice, the latter to furnish an absolute record of the funds deposited. Should a card be lost by the depositor, a duplicate may be obtained upon application to the office issuing the original.

These cards will be non-transferable and non-negotiable. They cannot be traded in or passed along as legal tender. They must be held by the person making the deposit and presented by that person when it is desired to withdraw any or all of the funds deposited.

A machine will be used to punch the deposit cards. This means that the record will be mechanically accurate, and that held by the government are punched simultaneously, no discrepancy can exist.

The committee of postal experts meets daily to perfect the new system. They expect to be able to lay most of the details before Postmaster-General Hitchcock upon his return to Washington next month. He will, in turn, call an early meeting of the trustees to approve the preliminary work.

CHOLERA CASES

Husband and Wife Are Dead

SPANDAU, Prussia, Aug. 29.—The death of a woman and the illness of her husband and a male attendant at the hospital, all suspected cholera cases, has caused the health administration of Prussia to take stringent precautions against the spread of the infection. Although the disease has not been established bacteriologically as cholera, all of the hospital attendants where the woman died have been placed in quarantine, as have 16 families in a tenement building where the family lived. The powder factory where the husband was employed has been disinfectant and his fellow workmen placed under observation.

A strong police line thrown about the neighborhood prevents the approach to the tenement.

Alleged That She Had Pearls in Her Hat

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—According to customs officials, Mrs. L. Reynolds, Adriance of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., prominent and wealthy, will be summoned to appear at the customs house today to show cause why she should not be arrested on a charge of smuggling a $6000 pearl necklace.

Mrs. Adriance, who arrived yesterday on the liner Baltic, failed, according to customs inspectors, to mention in her declaration of dutiable goods the necklace, which was found after a search of her person, hidden in her hat.

Mrs. Adriance first submitted a carefully prepared declaration with unusual attention to details, and paid $150 in duty, but the customs men were not satisfied.

While Mr. Adriance, who had come here to meet her, protested indignantly, Mrs. Adriance and her 18 year old daughter Helen were taken to their cabin and searched by women inspectors, who found only a gold mesh purse, which Mrs. Adriance finally admitted, the officials say, was purchased in Switzerland.

This ended the ordeal temporarily, but while pacing on the pier, waiting for her trunk, Mrs. Adriance, it is said, took a slip of paper from the purse, tore it into bits and threw them away.

They were collected by government agents, however, and when patched together gave evidence warranting another search. Mrs. Adriance then admitted, they say, that she had a pearl necklace, which was found concealed in her hat.

The lining had been ripped out and beneath the silk was a curved tubing in which were more than 50 pearls. Government agents said last night that Mrs. Adriance was not detained on a charge of smuggling, because yesterday was Sunday, when bail cannot be accepted. The well known standing of the Adriances is relied upon to insure Mrs. Adriance's appearance when desired.

The pearls, it is said, were bought in Florence, Italy, and the treasury department had private advices from representatives in Europe to the effect that Mrs. Adriance had bought jewelry abroad.

Should a case be made out against her she is liable to a fine of $5000.

Ex-Senator Davis' Condition is Critical

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A despatch from Wheeling, W. Va., to the Post says:

Henry G. Davis, former United States senator and candidate for vice president on the democratic ticket with Parker in 1904, is lying at Elkins, W. Va., seriously ill and the gravest fears are expressed at his condition. Henry G. Davis is father-in-law to United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins, senior senator from West Virginia.

At his home at Elkins several days ago Mr. Davis fell down a flight of steps. At the time of the accident it was thought that he had only been bruised, but because he had been ailing for a considerable length of time the accident is more serious than at first thought. Members of the immediate family are in attendance at the bedside.

MAN USED KNIFE ALL MUST WALK

In Dispute Over Change in Restaurant

Peter F. Cote, while trying to defend Arthur Champagne, proprietor of a restaurant at the corner of Moody and Cabot streets, from the attack of an infuriated customer early yesterday morning, received a knife wound in the right arm. The wound was a deep one and the injured man was taken to the Lowell hospital, where it was found necessary to take several stitches in order to close the incision.

Costas Pantenos was later arrested, charged with doing the stabbing, and was hooked at the police station for drunkenness and assault with a knife. The man under arrest is 35 years of age, a mill operative and resides in Hall street.

About 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning a man alleged to be Pantenos entered the restaurant and ordered food, paying for it with what is said to have been a $2 bill. He was given change for $1 and that started the trouble. Pantenos claimed that he had tendered the man behind the counter a $2 bill, while on the other hand the restaurant man said that it was a $1 bill which had been handed him.

Pantenos showed fight and started to "wipe" out the place, but Champagne and one of his employees succeeded in ejecting the man from the place.

About an hour later Pantenos entered the place and found Champagne in conversation with Cote. Drawing a knife, Pantenos made a rush at Champagne and attempted to stab him. Cote interfered and got the knife instead, the blade entering his right arm.

Pantenos then ran out of the place, but was later arrested by Patrolman Lamoureux and sent to the police station.

The ambulance was summoned and Cote was removed to the Lowell hospital, where several stitches were taken in the arm. He was later able to go to his home.

Pantenos was arraigned in court this morning on complaints charging him with drunkenness and assault with a knife. Through his counsel, J. Stuart Murphy, a plea of not guilty was entered, and the hearing of the case was continued till Thursday.

MANCHESTER UNITY

WILL OBSERVE CENTENNIAL OF THE ORDER

The members of Manchester Unity Odd Fellows throughout the world are preparing for the observance of the centennial of the order. On Sunday, Oct. 2, there will be divine services in the British Isles, Africa, Australia, New Zealand, India and the United States and Canada, in commemoration of the anniversary of the organization. In Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Michigan and California there will be elaborate celebrations. In Boston there will be a monster church parade. In Lowell, there will be a banquet on Saturday evening, Oct. 1st.

This was decided at a meeting of representatives of all the lodges held last week and a committee of arrangements was appointed as follows: Executive, George Camp and D. W. Ingalls; Secretary, William J. Roullet; Treasurer, William Hutton; Warrant, John H. Mills and J. Penney; Merrimack Valley, William Howard and C. T. Neid; Asa Pollard lodge of North Billerica, J. Sanson and W. Hayward.

WANTS A WIFE

MAN SAYS HE HAS MANY WOMEN IN VIEW

WORCESTER, Aug. 29.—D. C. Babcock of 77 Chandler street says that he wants a wife. Mr. Babcock says that he is 62 years old and that he is a chef. He is fond of good clothes, he says, and when the weather is fair wears a white vest.

He says: "I am always on the job. Yours truly, and ever faithful, D. C. Babcock."

When Mr. Babcock reached the age of 50 years his head became so destitute of hair that he purchased a flowing wig of chestnut locks. "I can catch a woman quicker than any man in Worcester," says Mr. Babcock. "It is natural to me. I look at them and I conquer quicker than sent."

"There isn't a week goes by but what I have a dozen or more proposals, but they are not the kind I want. It is hard for me to select any one of them, for although I am a ladies' man I am not obtrusive in that line."

"My methods are quite refined. It comes natural to me to love a woman, but I must do it in a refined way. Why, I guess that I must have at least 400 hearts under my bosom."

REV. FR. TIGHE

Assumes Charge of Immaculate Conception

Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. I., the new pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, took up his new duties yesterday and at all the masses formally announced his appointment. In the course of his remarks he stated that almost six years ago he was called by his ecclesiastical superiors to sever his connection, much to his regret, with this church and assume the pastorate of St. Andrew's church in North Billerica. Now, in obedience to the same ecclesiastical authority, he assumed the pastorate of the Immaculate Conception. While he was entirely sensible of the great honor conferred on him by this act, none realized better than he the very serious responsibility of the position. But with the loyal co-operation for which the people of this parish are noted, not only in the city, but throughout the archdiocese, he felt and hoped that he would be enabled to carry on the work of his predecessors. The appointment was to him of peculiarly personal interest. He was born within the shadow of the church, was baptized by the reverend Fr. James McGrath, made his first communion at this very altar rail, under the direction of the saintly Fr. Van Laar, and served as an altar boy and was on terms of intimate friendship as a priest with the ever to be revered Fr. Joyce. He was delighted with having as his associates in the church work three Lowell boys, two of them, like himself, products of the parish, and all determined to work with zeal for the upbuilding of God's kingdom. Let whatever is done be done for the greater glory and honor of God. Much has been done in the past and much remains to be done now. He asked that during the mass all would pray for the divine assistance in the work, without which nothing could be done, but with which it was possible to accomplish all things.

REV. LAWRENCE F. TIGHE, O. M. I. Pastor Immaculate Conception Church

BOTH DROWNED

Father Sank With His Son

KATAHDIN IRON WORKS, Me., Aug. 29.—Sydney Jones, a real estate broker of New York, and his 14-year-old son, Sydney, Jr., were drowned Saturday at Yoke pond.

Yoke pond is a wilderness lake 15 miles north of this village, reached only by rough toad roads through the woods. The bodies were immediately recovered and will be forwarded to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and their son have been at the Yoke pond camps, conducted by Charles Berry, for about three weeks. About noon Saturday the father and son paddled out not far from the camps, and in plain sight, to fish. No one saw the accident, but the two were seen in the water by Carl Burton of Framingham, Mass., who yelled to them to hold on, and struck out to the rescue.

When about half way out he heard the boy cry "Let go, dad; let go." It appeared that the elder Jones had slipped and was in the water with the boy and was taken with cramps or heart failure and father and son went down together.

The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Jones and the people in the camps, who were not greatly alarmed at first as the overturned canoe was not far from the shore.

A PERILOUS TRIP

Made by the Ship Wm. P. Frye

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—After a run of 124 days and despite unusual perils at sea, the ship William P. Frye, from the Hawaiian Islands with 30,000 bags of sugar, arrived at the Sprucehead sugar refinery last night from Kahluli. Off Cape Horn the ship was surrounded by Antarctic icebergs and field ice, covering an area of 18 miles. Many of the bergs ranged from 50 to 200 feet high. In the latter part of June the vessel battled with snow storms and strong easterly winds, a most unusual experience of the Horn where westerly winds prevailed.

Captain Nicholson, master of the Frye, stated that the ship Kahluli on April 27 and five days afterward crossed the equator. On the fifty-third day out she was off Cape Horn. From June 1 to June 21 icebergs were in sight in all directions.

FIREBUG CRAZED COMPANY HOME

Is Said to Have Confessed to Setting Fires

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Brighton residents felt greatly relieved yesterday when it was learned that the man responsible for the numerous mysterious fires that have occurred in the district since last March was in the custody of the police.

Patrolman Joseph Quinn of the Brighton division spent Saturday evening working on clues that finally led to the arrest of Maurice O'Keefe, 29 years old, married and living at 15 Shepard street, Brighton.

Following the fire which again broke out on the property of A. J. Furbush, the Brighton horseman, at 208 Washington street, Saturday night, the state police were notified and yesterday morning State Officer Smith obtained a full confession from O'Keefe, in which he takes the blame for setting six fires in the district.

O'Keefe said he set the big fire in Mr. Furbush's barn last Thursday evening, which caused a damage of $25,000, necessitated three alarms and for a time threatened the tenement house section of the district.

O'Keefe said he set the fire in the Brighton Shading company's building on Mr. Furbush's estate about three weeks ago and that he set the fire in the same building Saturday evening about 8:30. He said he went straight from the Furbush estate to the stable of his grandfather, Michael O'Keefe, on Bentley street, about half a mile away, and there set another fire. Box 817 was sounded for this blaze. The stable was filled with horses, but the firemen had

FELL FROM CAR

FRANCIS PAUL INJURED AND TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Francis Paul received a severe shaking up early this morning as a result of a fall from a Middlesex street electric car. The young man was about to jump from the car when he lost his balance and was precipitated into the street.

A carriage was summoned and Paul was taken to St. John's hospital, where upon examination it was found that he had sustained severe bruising in addition to a general shaking up.

FIREMEN'S DAY

Great Time at Graniteville Saturday

The annual firemen's field day held at Graniteville, Saturday, under the auspices of the A. R. Choate hose company, No. 2 of the Westford fire department was a grand success and attracted a great crowd to the village. A midway with several attractions kept the crowd busy until the races started. The races were pulled off on Broadway which was roped off and gave the contestants a ample opportunity.

The following members of the Lowell fire department officiated at the hose races: Starter, C. D. Foley; timekeeper, Assistant Chief Charles Stackpole and Capt. D. J. Hurley; referee, Capt. J. F. McKissick. The rules of the try-out were, that each team should consist of five men, who were to run 100 yards, carrying 100 feet of hose, make connection at hydrant, couple the two lengths of hose and start water. The company making the best time to take the silver trophy. Each company to have three trials and the time to be announced after the last trial.

The following companies competed: E. M. Abbot hose, No. 1, of Westford; A. R. Choate hose, No. 2, of Graniteville, and John Edwards hose, No. 3, of Forge Village.

After a spirited contest in which many were in doubt as to the final result, Capt. J. F. McKissick, acting for the judges, gave the following announcement of the different trials: John Edwards hose, No. 3, of Forge Village, first trial, 29 2-5 seconds, second, 29 4-5 seconds, third, 29 1-5 seconds; A. R. Choate hose, No. 2, of Graniteville, first trial, 32 2-5 seconds, second trial, 30 seconds, third, 30 2-5 seconds; E. M. Abbot hose, No. 1, of Westford, first trial, 32 2-5, second 32, third, 33 seconds.

The Forge Village company therefore won the silver trophy, the official time being 29 1-5 seconds. Immediately after the hose contests, the matched one mile race between Elliott of Forge Village and York of Graniteville was announced to take place.

Through a misunderstanding as to the number of laps the race was declared "no contest" and the bets were declared off.

After the mile race, the following list of sports was run off in the following order: 100 yards dash, won by G. Gower; Ledwith, second; Hughes, third. Boys' race under 16 years, won by P. Gower, Boyd, second. Boys under 12 years, won by Prim; Perkins, second. One mile open, won by York; Hanson, second; Bushey, third. Girls' race under 16, won by Emma Woods; Leda Dion, second; hop, step and jump won by J. Perkins, 36 feet, 3 1/2 inches; tinney, second, 34 feet, 10 1/2 inches. Standing broad jump, won by J. Perkins, 8 feet, 9 1/2 inches; Page, second, 8 feet, 8 1/2 inches. One-half mile open, won by York; Sullivan, second; McCarthy, third. High jump, won by Gordon, height, 4 feet, 1 1/2 inches; Riney, second, 4 feet, 10 inches. Three-legged race, won by Hughes and Hanson; second, Wright and Clement. Lifting barrel of flour to shoulder, won by Lee Grant, time, 21 seconds. Putting 16 lb. shot, won by Gordon, 40 feet; Hargrove, second, 35 feet.

This completed the sports for the day, after which all the firemen and the invited guests sat down to an excellent supper that was served in Healy hall by the A. R. Choate hose company, the friends of the fire laddies being the waitresses.

Trophy Presented
During the supper hour, Chief S. H. Fletcher of the Westford fire department, acting for the engineers, presented to Capt. Richard D. Prescott of the John Edwards hose, No. 3, of Forge Village, the beautiful silver loving cup that was won by his company in the hose contest during the afternoon. Speeches were made by Chief Fletcher, Capt. Richard of the winning company and Capt. J. F. McKissick of Lowell.

NEW STEAMSHIP SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—A new steamship service between New York and Frisco by way of Panama will be inaugurated on Oct. 1, competing with the Pacific Mail Co., according to an announcement today. On that date the Tates and Chesapeake company plans to despatch its first boat from this city. The secretary of war has agreed, according to a statement in the federal service running to Colon will exchange cargoes with the Bates and Chesapeake boats trading on the Pacific coast.

PLENTY OF RAIN

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 29.—Rain which began late yesterday came to the aid of the tired fire fighters and if the showers continue through the night danger from the forest fires that have been raging in western Washington is spared. Reports received in Seattle last night indicate that the rain is general throughout the fire-swept district of the Cascade mountains.
